

Pierce leads the way

MANHATTAN BEACH, California, Aug 12: France's Mary Pierce, enjoying her highest ranking in a year but still without a title in 1999, beat Japan's Ai Sugiyama 6-5, 7-5 in the second round of the Acura Classic, reports AP.

Pierce, ranked sixth in the world, won four titles last year. She has reached three finals this year, but twice ran into Venus Williams and lost in straight sets.

"I'm trying to get a lot of matches on hard courts just to really give myself the best chance at the US Open," she said after Wednesday's match.

No. 2 Martina Hingis of Switzerland played qualifier Lisa Raymond of the United States in the night match.

A week ago, Sugiyama got into the TIG Classic in Carlsbad as a lucky loser and proceeded to upset Pierce in three sets in the first round.

"You don't want to think about it too much, but you don't ever forget it," Pierce said. "Coming out today, I was trying to think about matches when I had beaten her and what I did last week, why I lost and try to not do that again."

Pierce, the third seed, twice broke Sugiyama's serve in the first set, occasionally venturing to the net for volleys or drop-shotting her Japanese opponent.

She broke Sugiyama's serve to open the second set, then served a love game punctuated by an ace for a 4-2 lead.

Sugiyama broke back and then held to go up 5-4. Pierce held serve, then Sugiyama committed two consecutive errors to trail 6-5. Pierce wrapped up the match when Sugiyama's forehead went wide.

"To beat her you have to really be on your game and playing well and not making unforced errors," Pierce said.

In other matches, fourth-seeded Arantxa Sanchez-Vicario of Spain defeated Ruxandra Dragomir of Romania 6-3, 6-1; No. 6 Serena Williams of the United States beat Patty Schnyder of Switzerland 6-3, 6-1; and Julie Halard-Decugis of France got by Amy Frazier of the United States 7-6 (7-5), 7-5.

Williams needed just 47 minutes to finish off Schnyder after struggling to beat Russia's Elena Likhovtseva in three sets Tuesday night. Her sister, Venus, is cheering her on this week.

"I guess I did have a much easier time," Williams said. "I don't think Patty played that good. I've played her before and she played a lot better than that. So did I."

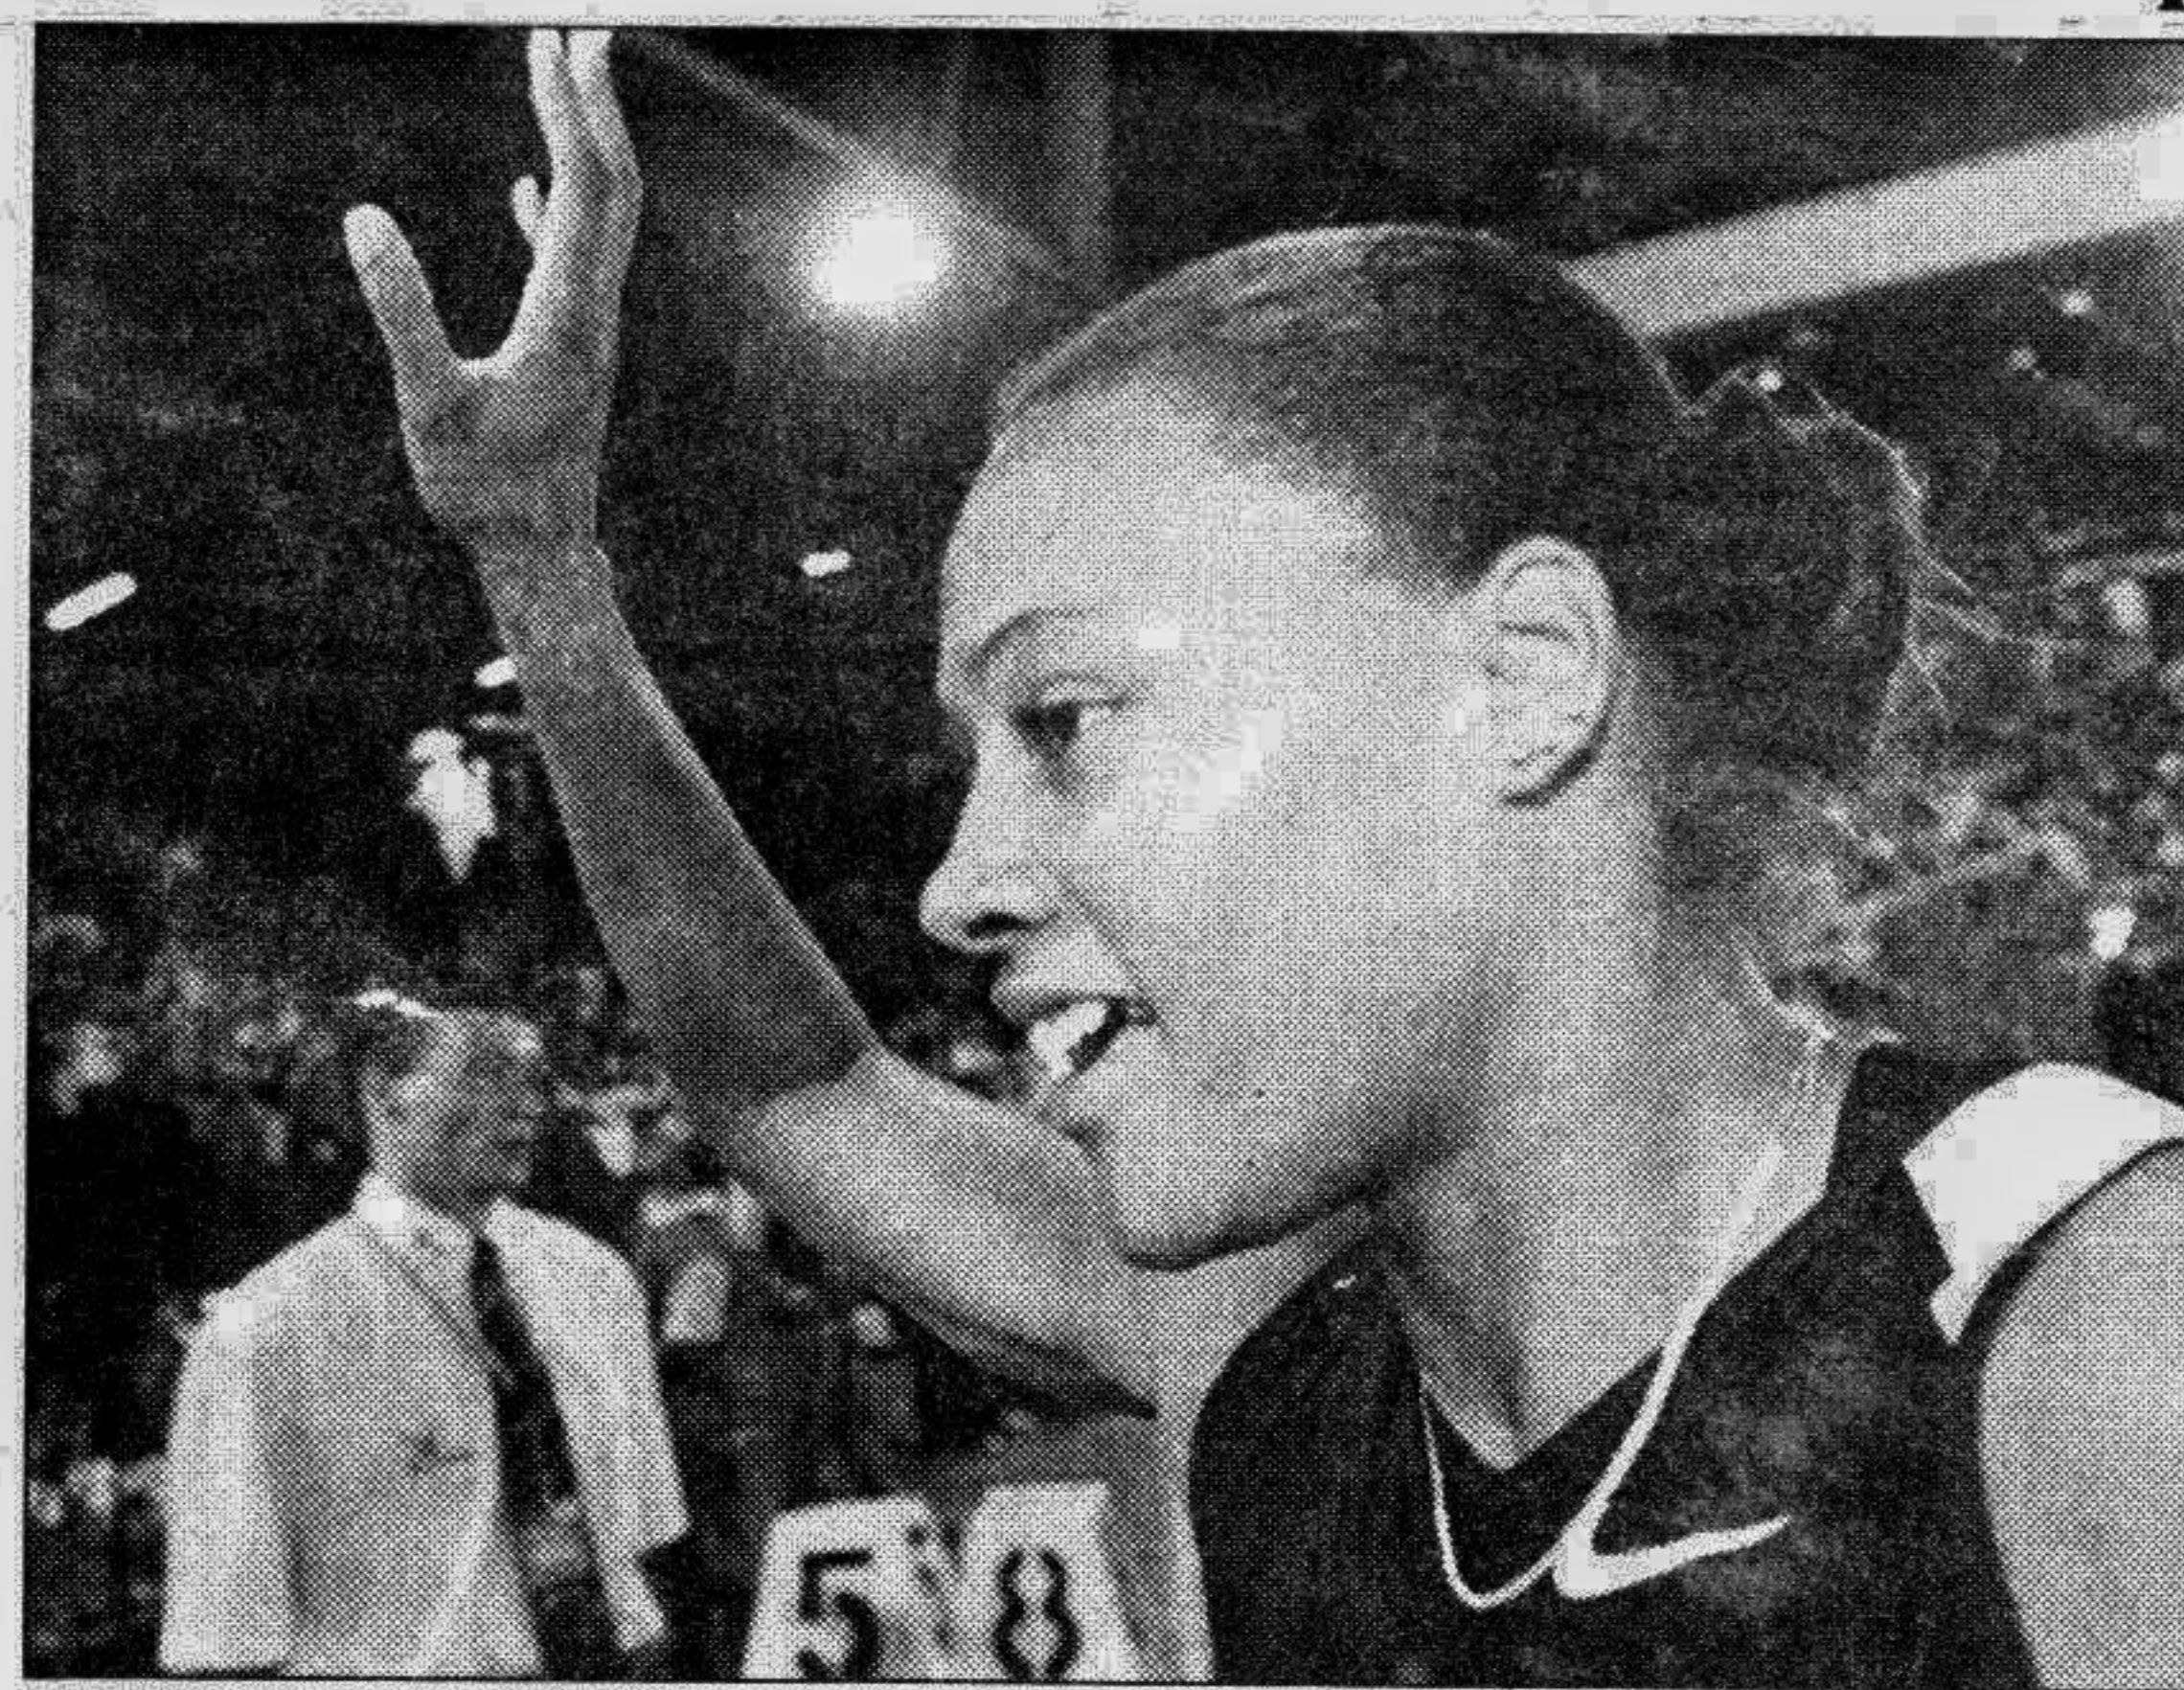

Williams led 3-2 when she won eight straight points to go up 5-2. Williams won the first three points of the next game but Schnyder came back to win it for 5-3.

Williams served out the set when Schnyder netted a forehand. Schnyder double-faulted to lose the first game of the second set and only had one break point on Williams' serve the entire match.

"I'm trying to cut down on my unforced errors and get a lot of balls in play and move it around and then attack," Williams said.

She converted 66 per cent of her first serves after getting in only 52 per cent against Likhovtseva.

"I served better, but I wasn't hitting them hard, just 100 (mph)," she said. "I can really get it up there. I've really been practicing. I can really get it up 119-120 mph. I'm just not hitting that hard."

'Golden Four' pass tests

ZURICH, Aug 12: Marion Jones, Bernard Barmasai and Wilson Kipketer all fought off late challenges to record wins at the Zurich Weltklasse meeting on Wednesday and stay in the hunt for the 1 million dollars Golden League jackpot, reports Reuters.

Unbeaten in track events since 1997, American world champion sprinter Jones arrived in Zurich looking for her 21st consecutive 200-metre win.

But Jones had to hold off compatriot Inger Miller at the finish to win in 22.10 seconds.

"I'm satisfied as winners usually are," said Jones, who will be looking to win four titles at the World Championships in Seville later this month.

In the 3,000 metres steeplechase, world record holder Barmasai had looked poised to register another easy victory as he bolted into an early lead.

But the Kenyan instead was forced to fend off a late charge from Christopher Koskei, crossing in 8:05.16 just a stride ahead of his compatriot.

Kipketer, the 800 metres world record holder, was also forced to dig deep.

Forced to world best times in Rome and Monaco by Japheth

Kimutai, Kipketer this time had to fight off a challenge from South Africa's Hezekiel Sepeng, crossing a half second clear of the South African in 1:43.01.

Romania's Gabriela Szabo, the only other athlete in the hunt for the jackpot, produced the most comfortable victory, crossing first in the women's 3,000 metres in a season best time of 8:25.03.

All four can collect a share of the jackpot if they can win in Brussels and Berlin and sweep their seven Golden League events.

The meeting provided the final warm-up before the World Championships in Seville later this month.

Some of the tight finishes showed some of the leading athletes that they have a fight on their hands to win gold in the Spanish city.

Romania's Violeta Szekely became the first woman to run under four minutes this season in the women's 1,500.

Pushed by Anita Weyermann, who was trying to become the first Swiss to win in Zurich since 1993, Szekely clocked 3:59.31.

American world record holder Maurice Greene was an easy winner of the men's 100 metres ahead of Obadele

Thompson, going under 10 seconds for the fifth time this season in 9.99.

One of the meeting's featured events, the race lost much of its spice when Trinidad's Ato Boldon and Canadian Olympic champion Donovan Bailey pulled out of the meeting.

Boldon, Greene's training partner and the only runner to threaten the American this season twice, also announced he would not compete at the world championships because of a hamstring injury.

Hicham El Guerrouj and Haile Gebrselassie failed in their bids to set world records ahead of the world championship and pick up gold bars in the process.

But El Guerrouj destroyed a top-class field which included former record holder and Olympic champion Norueddine Morceli and young Kenyan Noah Ngeny, clocking 3:28.57, the seventh fastest time in history.

Ethiopia's Gebrselassie, searching for his 16th world record, also appears a sure bet to be on the podium in Seville as he stormed home first in the 5,000 metres in 12:49.64, the eighth fastest time over the distance.

Comedy of errors mark German Cup draw

COLOGNE, Germany, Aug 12: The German Football Federation has left itself open to a storm of protests after an embarrassing incident happened Wednesday evening during the drawing of the teams to play in the third round of the German Cup, reports AFP.

One of the plastic balls in the large open pot broke apart and the half containing the name of third division club Eintracht Trier was accidentally put to one side while the empty half was unwittingly put back into the bowl.

Germany's champion shot putter Astrid Kumbernuss, called in at the last minute to replace celebrity figure skater Katarina Witt to make the draw, was the unlucky protagonist of the controversy.

While swirling the balls around the one containing Trier's name broke open, unbeknown to those looking on, Kumbernuss drew it, thought it was broken and put it to one side.

That left an embarrassing scramble at the end of the selection process when one team was missing: Eintracht Trier, which was among the discarded lots.

The error was impossible to cover because the draw took place on live television during the half time break of Hertha Berlin's Champions League qualifying match Wednesday against Anorthosis Famagusta which Hertha won 2-0.

There were red faces among DFB officials present however a legal representative was on hand and decided after the match that the third round draw would stand as called.

He concluded that the broken ball was an accident and that no deliberate manipulation had taken place to rig the selection of teams.

The highlight of the third round of the German Cup will be the derby between arch-rivals Hertha Berlin and Tennis Borussia Berlin from the second division.

Boldon to miss World C'ships

ZURICH, Aug 12: Reigning 200 metres champion Ato Boldon has withdrawn from this month's World Championships in Seville because of injury, reports Reuters.

Boldon, who has not competed in an individual sprint since pulling a hamstring while warming up for a Golden League meeting in Paris on July 21, said today that the injury had not responded to treatment.

The 25-year-old Trinidad sprinter had looked poised to make a return to competition.

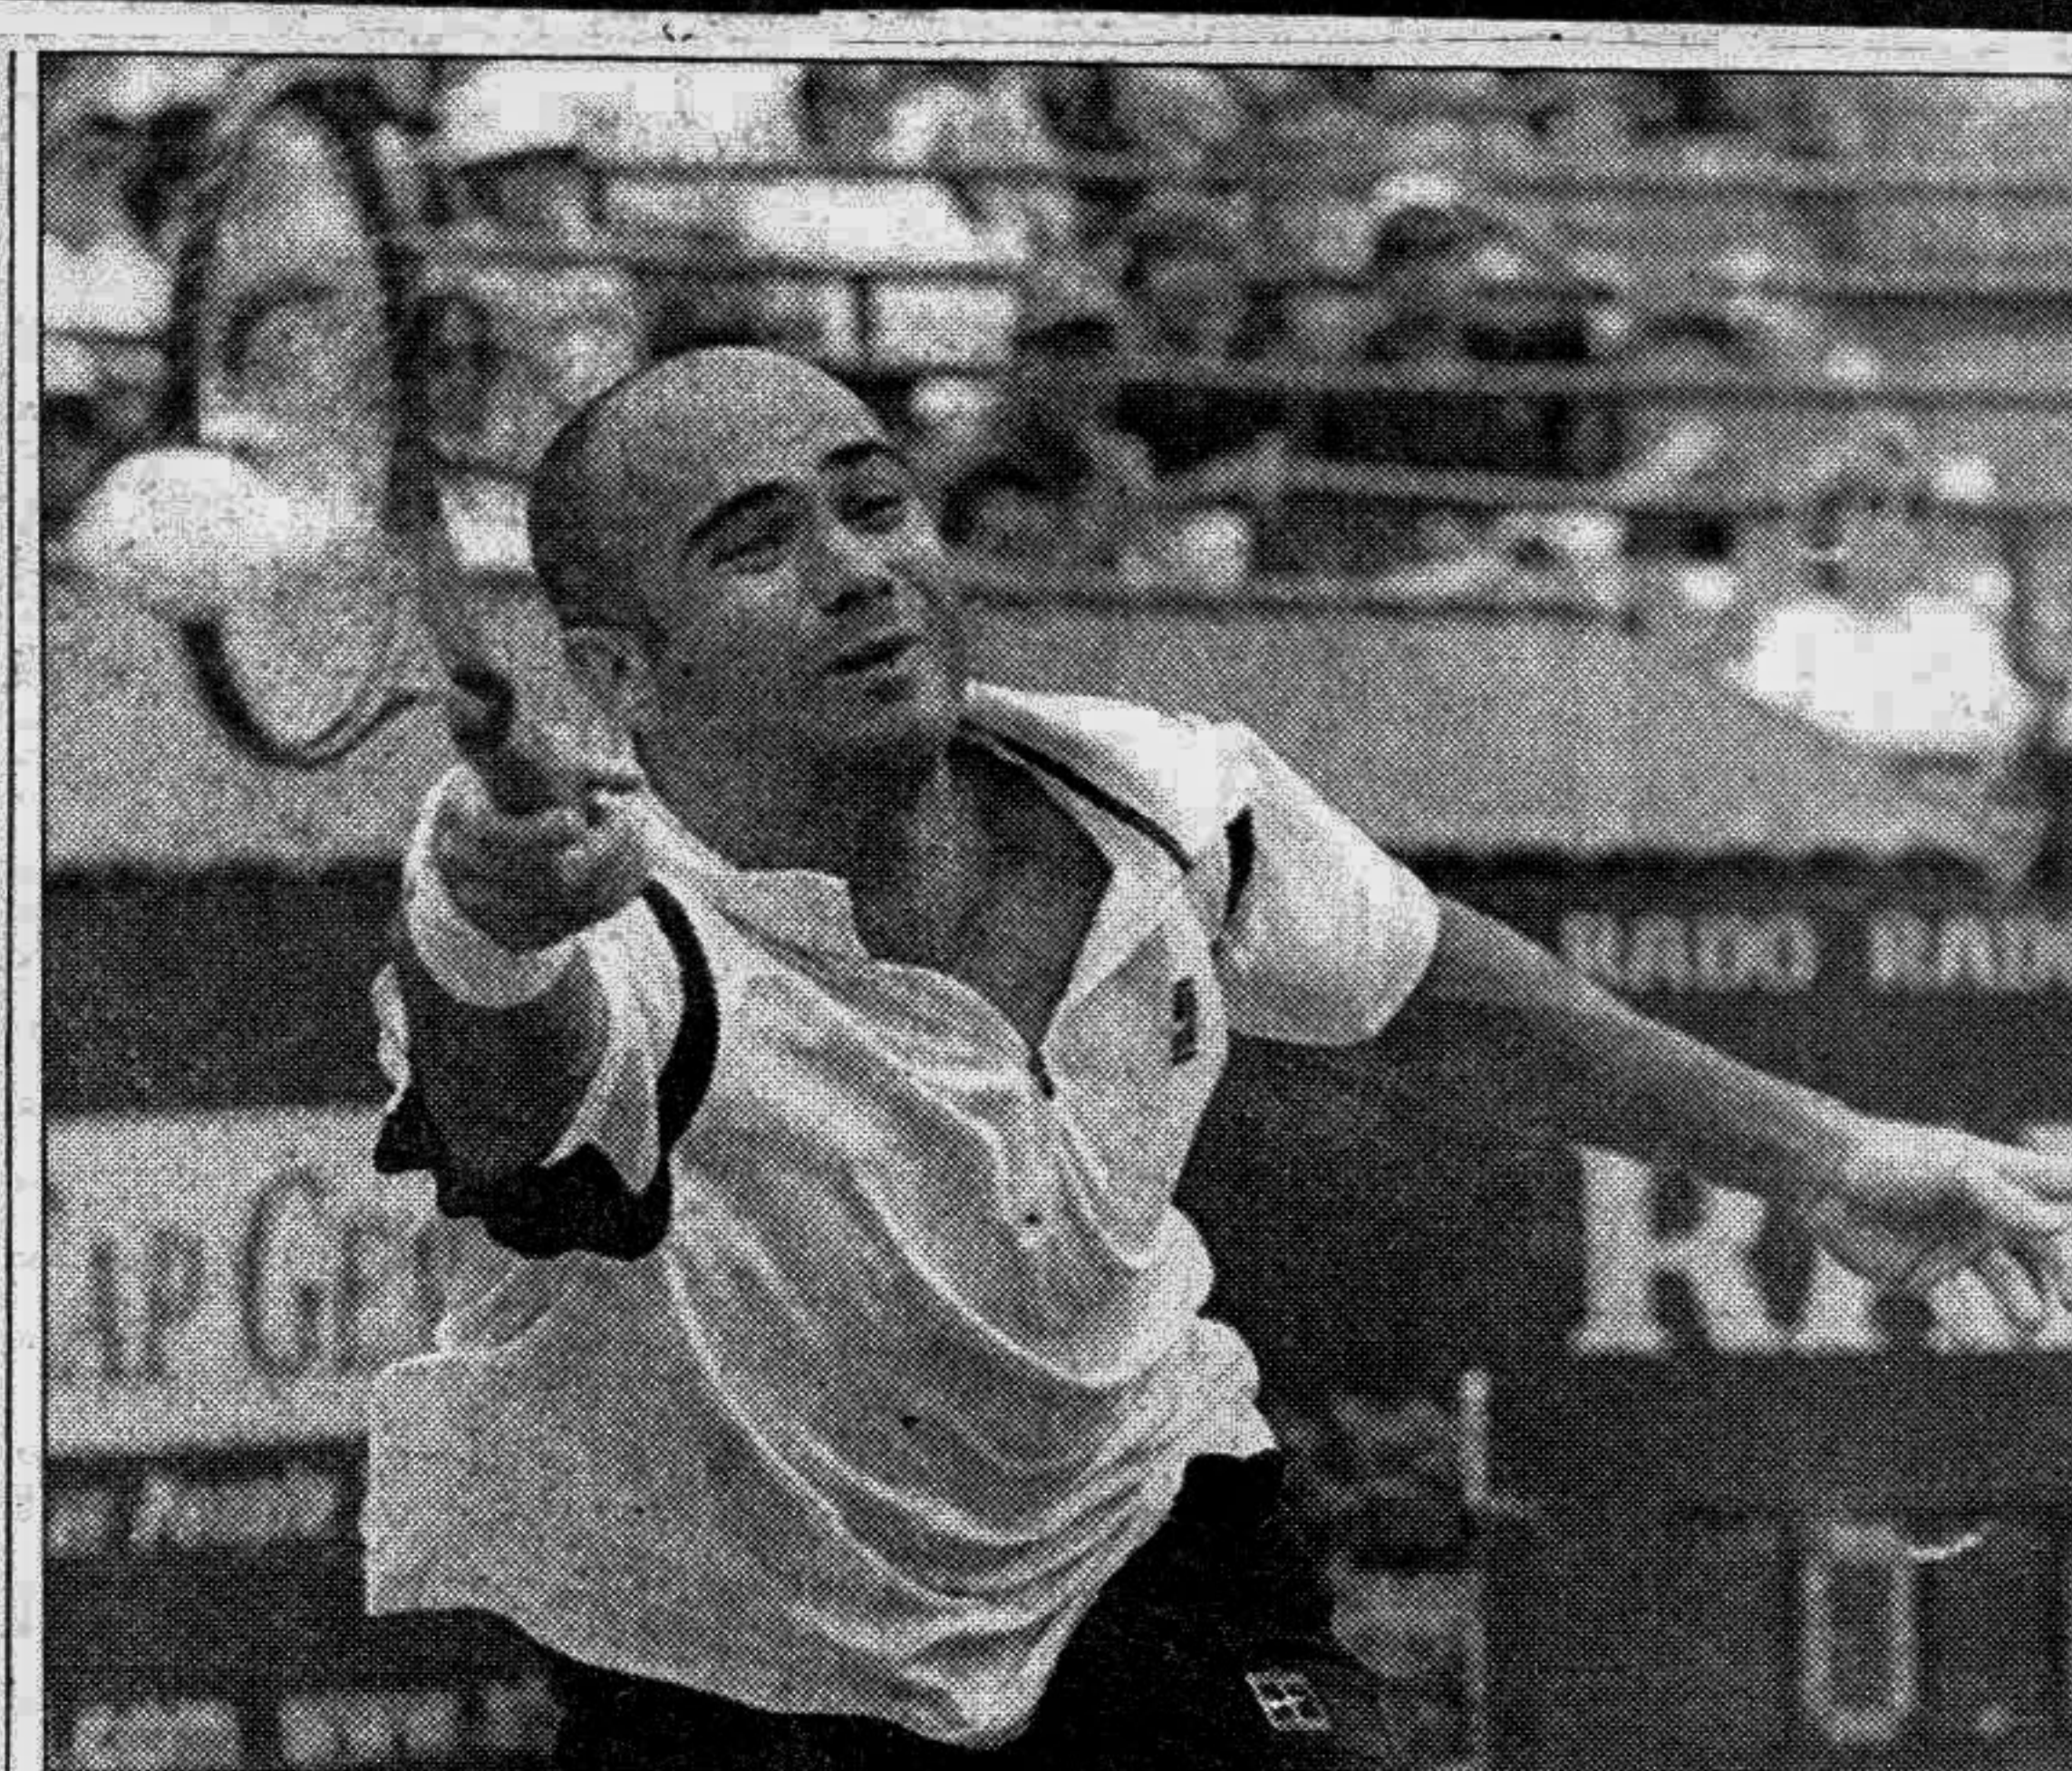

He ran a 4X100 relay leg at the Grand Prix meeting in London on Saturday and was scheduled to run in both the 100 and 200 metres at today's prestigious Zurich Golden League meeting.

But Boldon told reporters in Zurich: "The relay just made it worse. The season is over for me, there is no way I can get fit for Seville."

Until his injury problems Boldon was expected to have a superb chance of defending his 200 crown after clocking the fastest time this year when he ran 19.86 seconds in Athens in June.

The performance came on the same night that he pushed friend and training partner American Maurice Greene to a world record of 9.79 in the 100 metres.

Boldon was expected to provide Greene with one of his toughest tests in the Seville 100 metres, having twice run 9.86 this year.

Rafter, Agassi advance

MASON, Ohio, Aug 12: Defending champion Patrick Rafter of Australia and third-seeded American Andre Agassi scored second-round wins at the ATP Championship on Wednesday, reports Reuters.

Rafter's 7-6 (7-3), 6-3 victory over 60th-ranked Czech Daniel Vacek was interrupted at 4-4 in the first set when the concentration of both players was disrupted by two hot air balloons drifting low over the stadium court.

"I think it was a pretty scruffy match — I don't think Daniel played his best and I wasn't at my best," said Rafter, heading towards the US Open where he is the two-time defending champion. "I need to get on a roll again."

Rafter recently spent his one and only week — the week of July 26 — in the top ranking on the ATP computer before Pete Sampras wrested the spot away by winning in Los Angeles.

"I've been on medication for my shoulder, but it's been holding up really well at the moment," he said. "We have a long summer to go, so I'm trying to keep a check on it."

A two-time titlist at the ATP Championship, Agassi whipped 51st-ranked Frenchman Arnaud Di Pasquale 6-4, 6-1 in a brief 56 minutes.

The reigning French Open champion and one of just five men to win all four Grand Slam titles in their careers, Agassi has a 21-3 record since the beginning of Roland Garros and returned to the number one ranking for three weeks last month for the first time since February 1996.

"It (being number one) meant more this time than the first time," said Agassi, who has occupied the top ranking for a total of 35 weeks since his first outing in the position on April 10, 1995. "It was a symbol of a lot hard work."

"I felt like my game was capable of it (reaching number one again), but it requires a lot of things falling into place at the right time. So when it happened, I think I just was at a place where I could really appreciate it a lot more."

Agassi was joined in the third round by three unseeded Americans who beat seeded players Wednesday — Michael Chang, Justin Gimelstob and Chris Woodruff.

On the road to recovery after a year of battling injuries, the 56th-ranked Chang upset eighth-seeded Alex Corretja of Spain 6-3, 6-7 (5-7), 6-2 in the second round. It was Chang's first victory over a top ten opponent since he beat Sampras, who was ranked number one then as he is now, in the third round of the Italian Open in May 1998.

The 105th-ranked Gimelstob surprised ninth-seeded fellow American Todd Martin 6-4, 6-4, while the 86th-ranked Woodruff recuperating from knee surgery, beat 13th-seeded Thomas Enqvist of Sweden 6-1, 7-5.

Jim Courier retired from his second round match at 6-7 (5-7), 7-6 (7-4), 2-0 for Frenchman Cedric Pioline with heart-related cramps in his legs.
