FOLK-TALES OF BENGAL

Rev. Lal Behari Day

Folk-Tales of Bengal

Author: Lal Behari Day

Publisher: Swapna Printing Works

Price: Tk 192/-

This marvelous work is the result of highly painstaking efforts of its author Rev. Lal Behari Day. He undertook the very, 'difficult task of salvaging the rich heritage of Bengali folktales and carried it out with the zeal and devotion of a pioneer and patriot. Single-handed, he explored all possible sources to glean these stories which lay scattered in utter neglect awaiting extinction.'

THE CONTINENT OF CIRCE

AN ESSAY ON THE PEOPLES OF INDIA

THE CONTINENT OF CIRCE

Author: Nirad C Chaudhuri

Publisher: Jaico

Price: Tk 152

This book, the result of a life-time's effort to understand the nature of things India, describes the human situation in India after independence. The human groups dealt with are the Aboriginal, Hindus with their Anglicized variety, Muslims, Eurasians, and Indian Christians. The main feature of the book is the imaginative interpretation of the Hindu personality based on original sources. The author puts forward the revolutionary thesis that the Hindus are really Europeans in India, corrupted the denatured by the tropical environment.
