Experts urge students to seize opportunities in 21st century

Bangladesh can seize the enormous opportunities expected to be generated by sharing the much-awaited global techno-economic boom in the coming millennium if the university students are groomed as world rated professionals, said leading scholars yesterday, reports BSS.

They called to equip the university students with proper cognitive and information skills and free the campuses from all types of vices including terrorism, academic corruption, moral decay and unfair intrusion of mainstream politics in the life of the teachers and the learners.

Addressing a discussion titled "Role of the universities in higher education and research in the 21st century's Bangladesh" the academics urged the authorities to assess the impact of globalised trade regime on developing countries like Bangladesh.

Federation of Bangladesh University Teachers Association (DUTA) organised the discussion in the seminar hall of the civil engineering department of Bangladesh University of Engineering and Technology (BUET).

Vice-Chancellor of BUET Professor Noor Uddin Ahmed, Vice-Chancellor of Jahangirnagar University (JU) Professor

Alaaddin Ahmed, key-note speaker and former Vice-Chancellor of BUET Professor Iqbal Mahmud, Professor Sirajul Islam Chowdhury, Professor Dr Hasib Mohammad Ahsan, Professor Jashim Uddin Ahmed, Professor Dr A M Farook, Professor Mustafizur Rahman and Professor Hamida Banu, among others, participated in the discussion.

Professor Iqbal Mahmud said that according to the World Paper's June, 1999 issue, Bangladesh stands 21st in the list of modernisation of national education system in which Sweden topped the list and the United States, Singapore, United Kingdom, Canada, Germany, France, Japan, Russia, South Korea, China and Sri Lanka have occupied other top orders.

He suggested that a new curriculum and textbooks would be needed to help the university students facing uncommon challenges in the coming years. University level students should be taught how to formulate clear logic about fundamentals of science and technology and basic cognitive skills.

They should be infused with the team spirit, necessary motivation and technical expertise in Networking when resolving common problems. The students of every discipline should also learn the basic texts on advanced management, economics and environmental science, he said.

Professor Noor Uddin Ahmed said the standard of classroom education has deteriorated to an alarming level and even the kindergarten level students take help of the private tutors to solve easy problems which gradually hinder the growth of their thinking abilities.

Professor Alaaddin Ahmed said exponential increase in the field of knowledge and information technology has posed a different type of problem, as older mode of education is becoming non-functional. The JU vice-chancellor said the visions of the youth have disappeared and moral, ethical and technological education should be mixed to produce patriotic citizens who would boost the image of our nation.

Professor Sirajul Islam Chowdhury said the case of private universities in the United States and Bangladesh is different.

The owners of the private universities in Bangladesh are more interested in profit and fame making than conducting advanced research in the campus that is integral part of higher forms of education, he said.
