Erosion turns serious in Gaibandha dist

From K M Rezaul Haque

GAIBANDHA, Sept 10: Nearly one hundred mouzas under Fulchhari and Shaghata thanas are about to disappear from the map of the district due to widespread erosion of the Rivers Brahmaputra and Bangali.

Fulchhari thana headquarters is threatened due to the Brahmaputra's erosion. The thana may go into the river at any time.

Fulchhari market has already been devoured by the river. The two-story building of Fulchhari Thana Parishad is being threatened seriously which is situated on the western bank of the river. It may wash away at any moment.

Water Development Board (WDB) is trying to halt the erosion by replacing concrete blocks. But the precautionary measures are not enough to protect the headquarters from the onslaught of erosion.

Panic has gripped the people of Fulchhari thana. Many of them have already fled away for safer places and shifting their belongings hurriedly.

Sonaidanga embankment has already been washed away by the erosion a few days back. Now seepage and cracks have been developed along the 200-metre area of Nilkuthi embankment. If breaches are developed along the aforesaid embankment, Fulchhari thana headquarters will be detached from the main land. Ultimately it will be turned into an island.

Erosion has already affected the Fulchhari market and the river has devoured a large portion of the surrounding area. WDB personnel, however, are working round the clock to stop the erosion. They are piling bamboo and throwing of sand bags, though the attempt proved to be ineffective.

Nearly 75 mouzas under seven unions of Fulchhari thana are seriously affected by erosion. Half of the area has already been devoured by the surging water of the river. Dwelling houses of Erendabari union have already been washed away. Besides 13 mouzas of Kanchipara, Udakhali, Uriya unions are now under water and seven others unions have been partially affected by erosion.

The river has already devoured two kilometres of Gaibandha-Balashi road and the devastation is still on.

A total of 35 mouzas under five unions of Shaghata thana are on the verge of extinction by the erosion of the River Jamuna. The erosion has affected Kumarpura, Haldia char, Bera, Patilbari, Wabari, Kamarpura, Garamara mouzas. Wabari Government Primary School has already been washed away by the erosion within a span of three days. Erosion has affected further Chithulia, Gobindi, Hashilkandi, Bhagirachi mouzas.

Recently erosion by the River Bangali has taken a serious turn at Ramnagar, Guja, Chandapat, Kachus, Satitola, under Kachua union and Kingkorpur, Bat-tola, Bangabari, Jungalia under Kamarpura union. Nearly 300 families of the affected areas have been rendered shelterless. They have already left for safer places.

Outlaws regrouping in S-W region

From A Correspondent

MAGURA, Sept 10: Terrorists and members of outlawed parties in the southern-west region have started regrouping themselves.

Local people said at least 33 terrorists, including 'gang leader' Anwar Hossain Debu who surrendered to police following amnesty declared by the government recently and were granted bails from courts, are now active again and trying to regroup themselves in frontier villages under Magura and Jhenidah districts.

Local people also alleged that most of the terrorists were produced before courts under Section 54 without making any reference to their previous criminal records.

Iqbal Hossain Shaikat, principal accused of a case filed with Khanjahan Ali thana in connection with looting 10 firearms from Shirononi Cable Factory, was released on bail recently. Shaikat wanting in more than 10 criminal cases was arrested under Section 54 at the time of his surrender.

Talking to this correspondent Hassan Seraj Suja, a lawyer of Magura district bar, said, "Most of the terrorists surrendered in Khulan and Jessore were produced before courts under Section 54 concealing their previous criminal records". They are now regrouping themselves, he added.

When contacted Superintendent of Police, Magura M Akbar Ali denied the allegation and said the terrorists are not regrouping themselves at least in Magura district.

If any information regarding the regrouping of outlaws is received, police will take stern

Homna- Gouripur road in bad shape

By Staff Correspondent

A total of 14 lakh people of Daudkandi, Homna, Banchhampur have been suffering a lot due to bad shape of Homna-Gouripur road in Comilla district.

The road was damaged very badly during the last year's devastating floods. But the Roads and Highways Department did not take any initiative to repair it till filing of this report.

Maj Gen (ret'd) M S A Bhuiyan, a veteran freedom fighter of our Liberation War in a press statement on Wednesday demanded of the government to repair immediately the flood damaged one kilometre road from Daudkandi Press Club to Gouripur bazaar.

action, the superintendent of police added.

During the amnesty, most of the outlaws in 10 southern-west districts did not hand over their sophisticated firearms, sources said.

Besides, only two or three firearms out of 78 ones looted and stolen from Akij Jute Mill, Shirononi Cable Factory, Rupsha Fish Processing Plant, malkhana of Khulna Collector and other places during the last 10 years were found on lists of recovery, official sources said.

Moreover it is alleged that some modern firearms were taken away by those who were engaged in coordinating the surrender ceremonies. The superintendent of police denied the allegation.

It is learnt that notorious terrorist Bidhan, the chief of "Bidha Bahini" was 'compelled' to hand over his rusty weapons.

Before the amnesty, a total of 8,344 persons, including 366 listed terrorists, were arrested and 467 firearms recovered in anti-terrorists combating operation in the region, police sources said.

From June 7 to 30 this year, 2,159 outlaws and terrorists with 2,684 firearms surrendered to police under the amnesty, the sources added.
