Int'l Day of Peace tomorrow

The International Day of Peace, which coincides with the opening of the United Nations General Assembly, will be observed tomorrow this year. The day was proclaimed by the UN General Assembly in 1981 to commemorate and strengthen the ideals of peace both within and among all nations, says a press release.

Conventionally the day of peace was being observed on the third Tuesday of September until the year before 1997. Last year 1998, through a General Assembly Resolution the Day was observed on September 9.

This year the fifty-fourth regular session of the General Assembly will commence on September 14 with 166 provisional agenda items. Dr Theodor Ben Gurirab, Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Namibia will hold the post of the President of the fifty-fourth General Assembly.

6 inter-district dacoits arrested in Satkhira

SATKHIRA, Sept 12: Assasuni thana police arrested six inter-district dacoits with four fire arms and 13 rounds of bullets from their possession after an hour-long gunfight at Durgapur village under Assasuni thana on Monday night, reports BSS.

Police sources said patrol duty police on Monday night found 10 to 12 persons roaming the street suspiciously. They challenged the group and confirmed that they were taking preparation for committing dacoity at Sridhanpur village. The police party chased them and they opened fire on police. Police retaliated with several gunshots.

After about an hour-long gunfight police arrested six alleged inter-district dacoits and recovered four cut rifles and 13 rounds of bullets from their possession.

A case was filed with Assasuni thana in this connection.

Workshop concludes
Civil society bodies need to interact with parliamentarians

By Staff Correspondent

Leaders of different civil society organisations at a two-day workshop emphasised on the need for an opportunity to interact with the members of the parliament and to share their thoughts regarding the strategies of making the parliament more effective and accountable to citizens.

The theme of the workshop was "Advocacy for an Effective and Accountable Parliament: The Role of Civil Society". Organised by National Democratic Institute, it discussed on parliamentary procedures, information on ways of getting involved and using the parliament and a working knowledge on effective political advocacy techniques.

The workshop also discussed issues, such as how civil society groups could help strengthen the overseeing role of the parliament over the administration.

Members of parliament who attended the workshop included Suranjit Sengupta, Abul Kalam Azad from Awami League and Ziaur Rahman Khan from the Bangladesh Nationalist Party.

Greg Minjack, a US-based advocacy expert also participated in the workshop and shared experiences of conducting political advocacy programmes in the US and other countries.

The two-day workshop on September 11 and 12, were participated by civil society groups who are involved in activities related to education, media, women and children's rights, environment, development and civic education.
