Acute fish crisis in Mymensingh

From Our Correspondent

MYMENSINGH, Oct 6: Acute fish crisis has been prevailing in markets here following sharp decline in supply.

Indigenous species such as tangra, shol, magur, shing, gazar, boal, padma, puti and kot have virtually disappeared.

Local fish traders said these species are now getting dearer in local markets.

Fisheries Department officials said use of pesticides and chemical fertilisers on crop-lands is polluting waters of beel, haor, canals and rivers, the natural sources of fish, hampering production.

Moreover, fishing of fries is one of the main reasons for the decline, they said.

Elderly fish traders of Natun Bazaar and Machhua Bazaar in the district headquarters said a section of unscrupulous fishermen catch fries and eggs from natural water bodies like rivers, beel and haor by using current nets, causing harm to fish production.

With the onset of rainy season, hundreds of kilograms of fish eggs are caught every from the rivers of Old Brahmaputra, Khiru, Sutia, Netai, Kangsha and other natural water bodies across the district.

Fishermen fish more than 200 kg of fries from the old Brahmaputra every year. Fishermen usually catch fish eggs with current nets during full moon and new moon.

Local people have urged the authorities concerned to stop fishing fries and eggs from natural water bodies.
