

Edmundo scores again

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct 15: Vasco da Gama striker Edmundo, who has a four-and-a-half year prison sentence for manslaughter hanging over his head, appeared unruffled on Wednesday as he hit two more goals for his club, reports Reuters.

Edmundo's brace helped Vasco to a 5-2 win over Gama and lifted them to second place in the Brazilian championship. Edmundo spent a night in prison last week after losing an appeal against his sentence.

His first goal came courtesy of a bizarre mix-up in the Gama defence, as two players ran into each other, missed the ball and left Edmundo with an empty net.

Gama, the first team from the capital Brasilia to compete in the championship for over a decade, were left 12th in the table but still have a chance of finishing in the top eight and qualifying for the quarterfinals.

Their former coach Claudio Duarte, who left them to take over at Gremio, may have been regretting his decision as he saw his new side hammered 6-0 by Palmeiras. Gremio had lost their previous match 4-0.

Corinthians stayed top with a 4-1 win away to Santos while Guarani's 3-1 victory at Cruzeiro lifted them to fifth.

Holyfield's expectation

NEW YORK, Oct 15: Maybe it's so much wishful thinking, or more likely smart politics, but Lennox Lewis says the judges for his second fight with Evander Holyfield will be better than those who scored a controversial draw last March, reports Reuters.

Whether that will happen, of course, remains to be seen. But Nevada State Athletic Commissioner Marc Ratner has said he is paying particular attention to choosing the officials for Lewis-Holyfield II in Las Vegas on November 13.

Las Vegas "is known for good judges. When they pick the judges they are looked at with a fine tooth comb so to speak," Lewis said yesterday in a telephone conference call from his training camp in Pennsylvania.

Nevada, of course, certainly is not immune to bad decisions. After all judging a fight is subjective and there are a lot of influences that can be brought to bear on opinions.

Many ringers believe that Lewis, despite often being tentative against Holyfield in Madison Square Garden in March, still deserved a decision over a slow, lethargic Holyfield.

The fifth round in particular is cited as an example of ludicrous scoring after American judge Eugenia Williams gave it to Holyfield, even though the World Boxing Association and International Boxing Federation champion landed only 11 punches, with Lewis connecting nearly four times as many punches, according to CompuBox statistics.

FIFA world club championship draw held Vasco, Man United's main threat

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct 14: Brazil's Vasco da Gama, Mexico's Necaxa and South Melbourne of Australia await European champions Manchester United in Group B of January's inaugural FIFA world club championship following Thursday's draw, reports AFP.

Spain's reigning world champions Real Madrid, Saudi Arabia's Al Nassr, Corinthians of Brazil and as yet unselected African team will compete in Group A for the tournament in Rio and Sao Paulo from January 5 to 14.

United have withdrawn from the English FA Cup to compete in the eight-team tournament by FIFA which will run from January 5-14 and will be based in Rio de Janeiro - Vasco's home city - while Real's group is in Sao Paulo, where Corinthians are based.

United's most famous former player Sir Bobby Charlton, a member of England's 1966 World Cup winning team, said: "That draw sounds alright and Madrid are in the other group. But the Mexicans will be strong, as will the Brazilians Vasco da Gama, but I know we will not be taking anything for granted."

"We played in Melbourne during the summer but we did not play against South Melbourne so that will be a new challenge for the team."

"But this is a new competition and we will wait and see what happens when we get out there."

United are already scheduled to meet Brazilian opposition in November's Intercontinental Cup Final in Tokyo with Sao Paulo side Palmeiras. That match has always traditionally decided the title of world club champions until the creation of this new tournament.

Necaxa president Enrique Borja told AFP: "We are all looking forward to the match with Manchester United, the European Champions. That is the beauty of football because for the players it is a special motivation I am very happy. Anyone could win this tournament."

Real will play Al Nassr in the tournament's opening game in Sao Paulo's Maracana Stadium while Manchester United's opener is against Necaxa in Rio's legendary Maracana Arena.

Rio outfit Vasco da Gama, named after a Portuguese explorer, are the main threat in United's group and will be able to count on the support of their home fans.

Their star player is their talented but temperamental Brazilian international striker Edmundo, who is currently trying to avoid serving a prison sentence imposed after a fatal car crash, while 1994 World Cup winning squad member Viola, goalkeeper Carlos Germano and Osvaldo are other Brazilian internationals on Vasco's books.

World gymnastics roundup

TIANJIN, China, Oct 15: Russia's Nikolay Krukov won the men's individual all-around title at the gymnastics world championships on Thursday after two-time world champion Ivan Ivankov pulled out following a disastrous start on the horizontal bar, reports Reuters.

Krukov, 22, capitalised on the errors of other medal hopefuls with high scores on the parallel bars and vault, to take the gold with 57.485 points.

Japan's Naoya Tsukahara won the silver with 57.337, and Bulgaria's Jordan Jovtchev took bronze with 57.212.

"I was probably more surprised than anybody else," said Krukov, who only began training again in September after a serious wrist injury in August.

"I attribute it to hard work and a heavy amount of training."

Earlier, Romania's Maria Olaru won the women's all-around gold on her world championship debut as a host of new faces left defending world champion Svetlana Khorkina of Russia trailing in their wake.

Ivankov, 24, who made an uncharacteristic fall from the bar in Monday's qualifying round, dropped from the bar after failing to swing over it, and then fell over backwards on his dismount, finishing with a miserable score of 7.975.

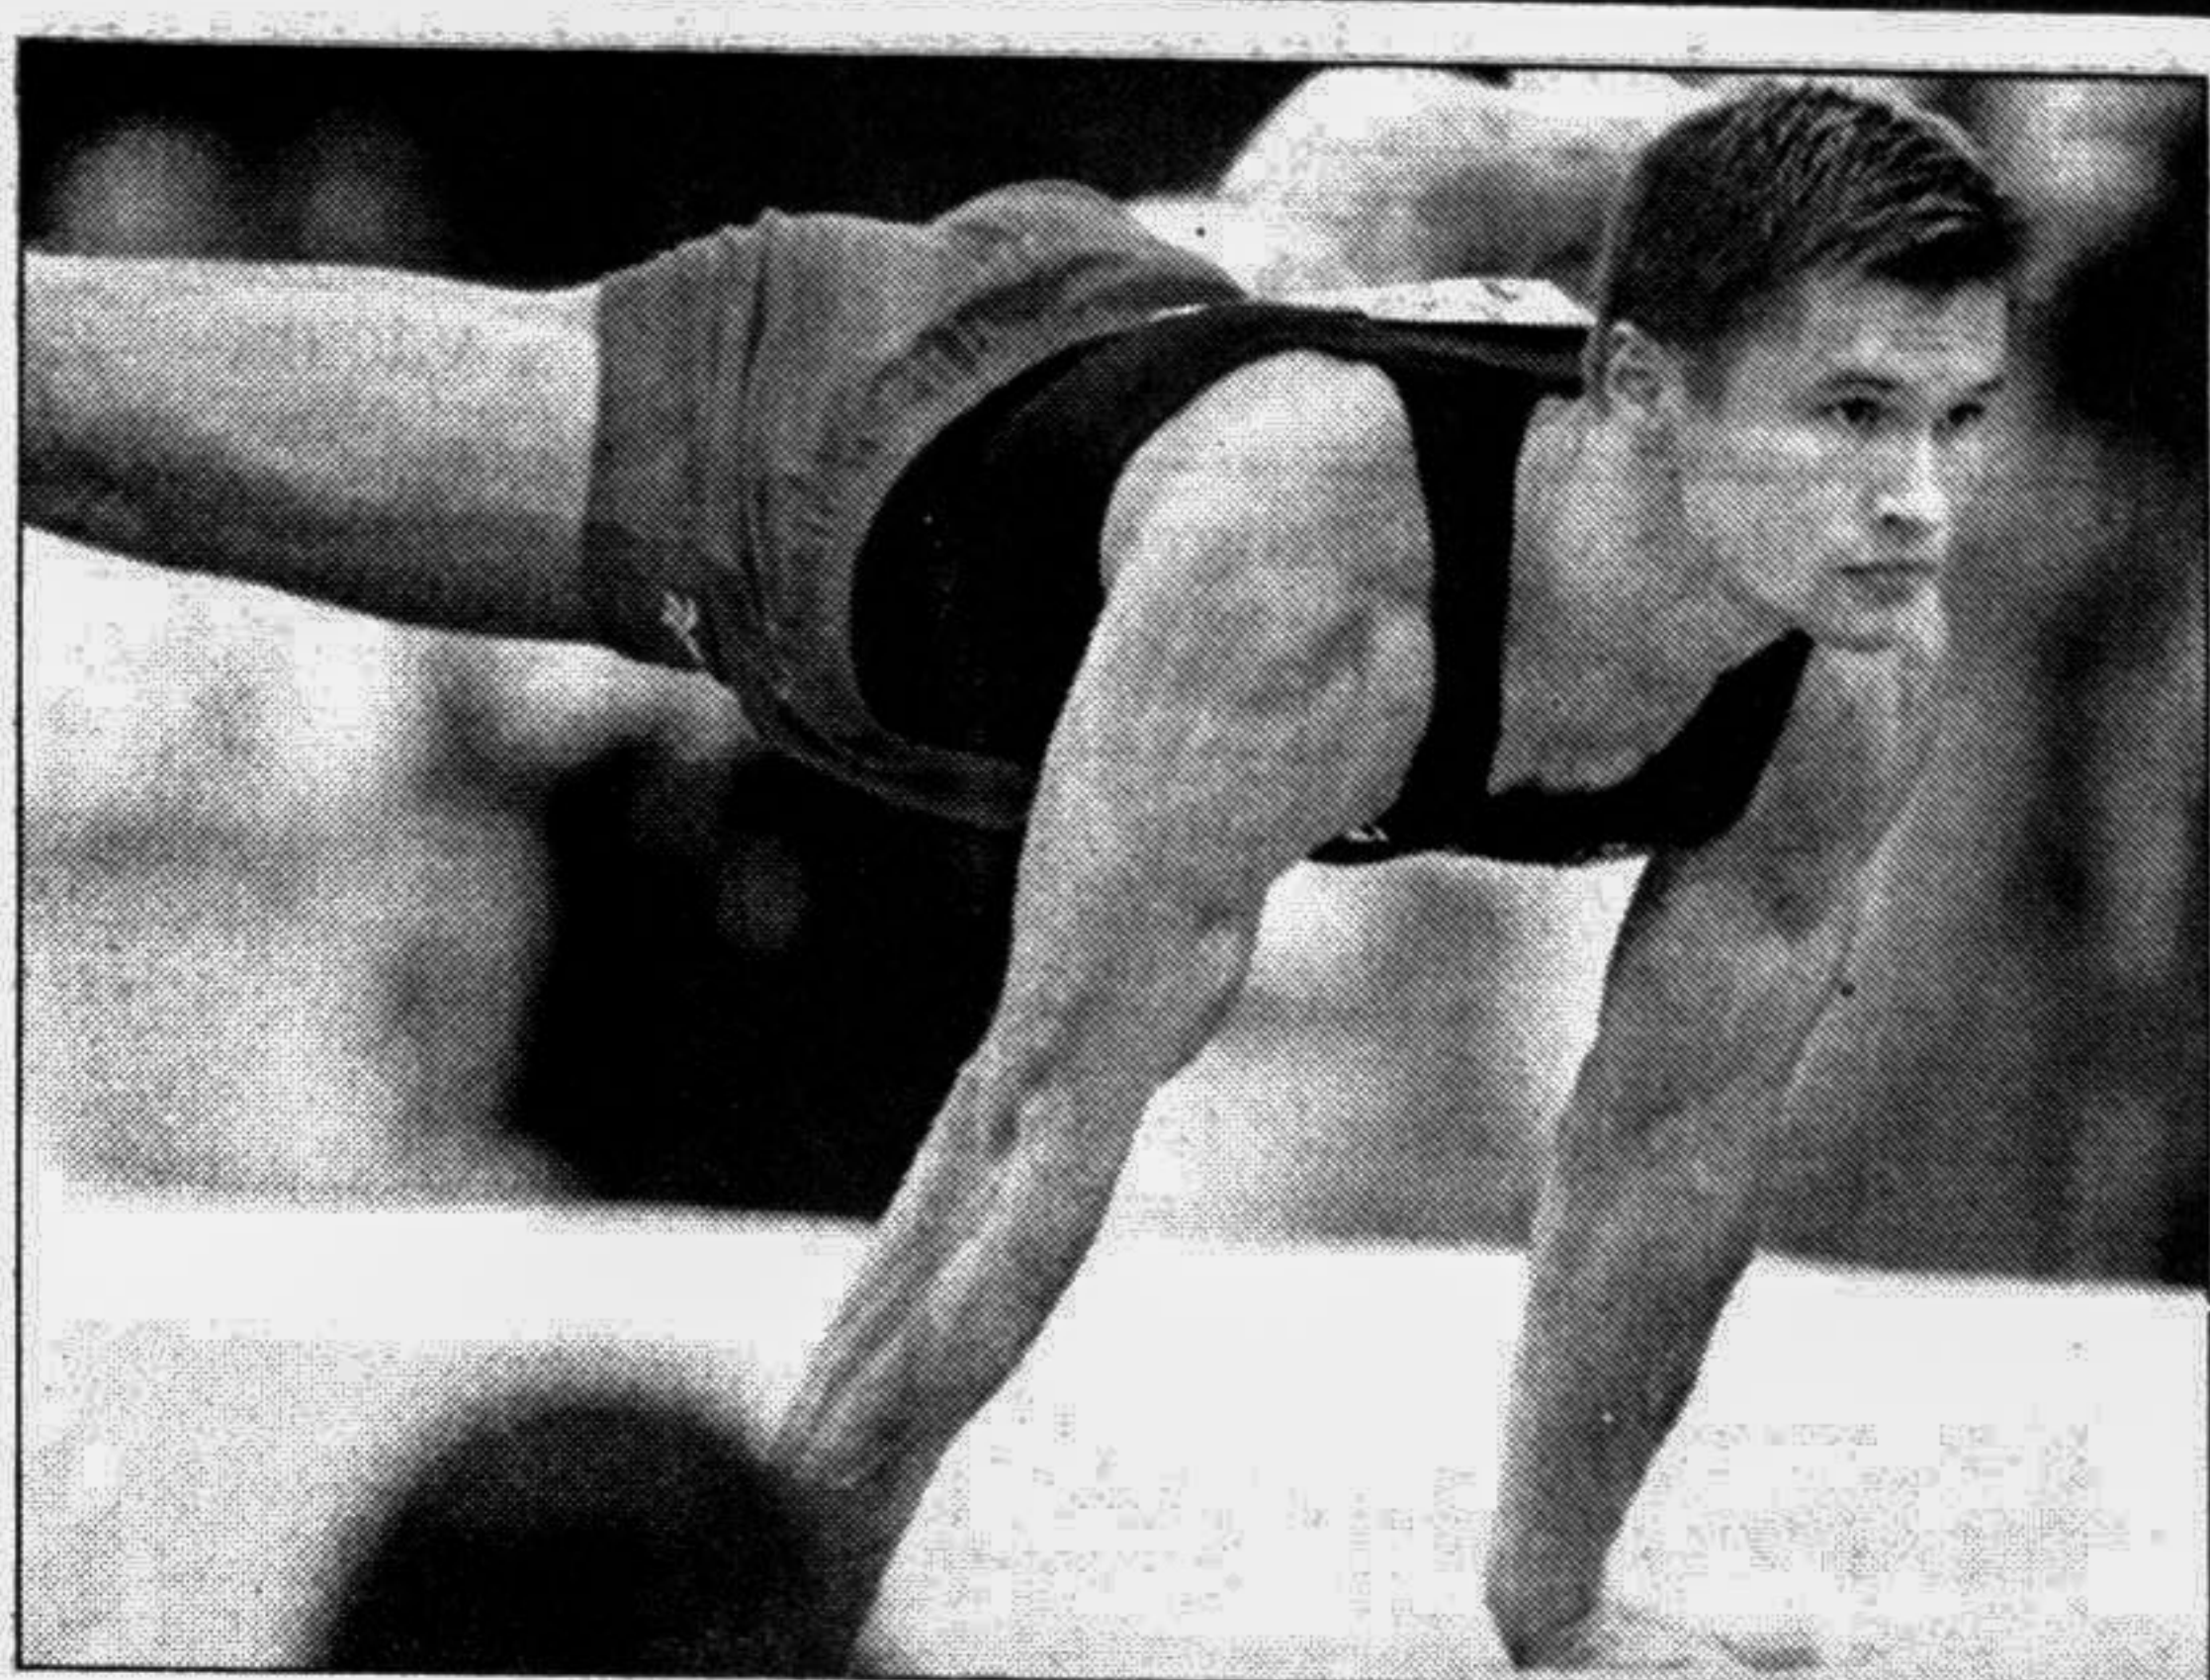

He did not turn up for the floor exercise in the next rotation.

"His leg is finished," said coach Victor Dolidov.

Ivankov was due to have a fourth operation at the end of October on the Achilles tendon he tore a few days before the Atlanta Olympic Games in 1996. Dolidov said earlier.

Tsukahara, son of famed multi-Olympic medallist Mitsuo Tsukahara, did not excel on any one apparatus, but won the silver through consistency, with a lowest score of 9.35, while other medal contenders floundered around him.

"My father didn't give me much help," he said. "But I'd like to thank my coach."

Russian Alexei Nemov performs in the men's individual apparatus at the World Gymnastics Championships in Tianjin, China yesterday.

Ex-Bayern duo ready to hit back

COLOGNE, Germany, Oct 15: Hertha Berlin duo Thomas Helmer and Ali Daei, sold by Bayern Munich in the close-season, will return to their old stomping ground Saturday eager to prove a point at a time when the two sides clash, reports AFP.

Daei left Bayern on good terms, preferring to seek a club where he could count on a game week in week out. For Helmer, though, his departure was ugly, primarily because of a bitter personal feud with coach Ottmar Hitzfeld.

"In the end all my problems focused on him, there is no doubt about it. But in spite of it all, being the way I am, I'm sure I'll give him my hand - as difficult as that will be."

Despite being captain and helping Bayern to two league titles (1997 and 1999) and the UEFA Cup (1996) Helmer was written off as being too slow for Bayern's defence and spent much of the latter half of the season on the bench.

He parted on less than amicable terms to Sunderland and then to Berlin - after being disciplined for making gestures towards Hitzfeld during Bayern's spectacular European Cup loss to Manchester United.

That sense of injustice has him fired up for Saturday, a vital game for both teams as they try to make an impression on the Bundesliga while saving energy for next week's Champions League matches when Hertha host AC Milan and Bayern go to Valencia in Spain.

Mario Basler, implicated in an early-morning bust-up with other guests in a pizzeria, wants to come back from a knee injury operation against Hertha - primarily to get the media spotlight off his private exploits, away from the rumours that Atletico Madrid want to buy him, and back on to his football.

Borussia Dortmund and Bayer Leverkusen both embarrassed themselves in the German Cup midweek, losing to second division clubs, but will be back to full strength for Friday evening's Bundesliga games.

Dortmund, who according to striker Fredi Bobic played their Cup game against Stuttgarter Kickers as if it were a friendly, go to Arminia Bielefeld.

Bielefeld won their Cup tie at Hannover 96 and are yet to lose

Wednesday but were punished for not exploiting their first half dominance.

A win over fourth placed Freiburg Saturday would go a small way to appeasing their disappointed fans.

It will also be Tony Yeboah's first home game since allegations emerged this week that he is in fresh trouble with the German tax authorities, dating from the years when he played for Eintracht Frankfurt.

Yeboah claims he is innocent.

Hamburg have lent Yeboah their support while the matter is investigated but the Ghanaian striker missed a sitter at Mainz.

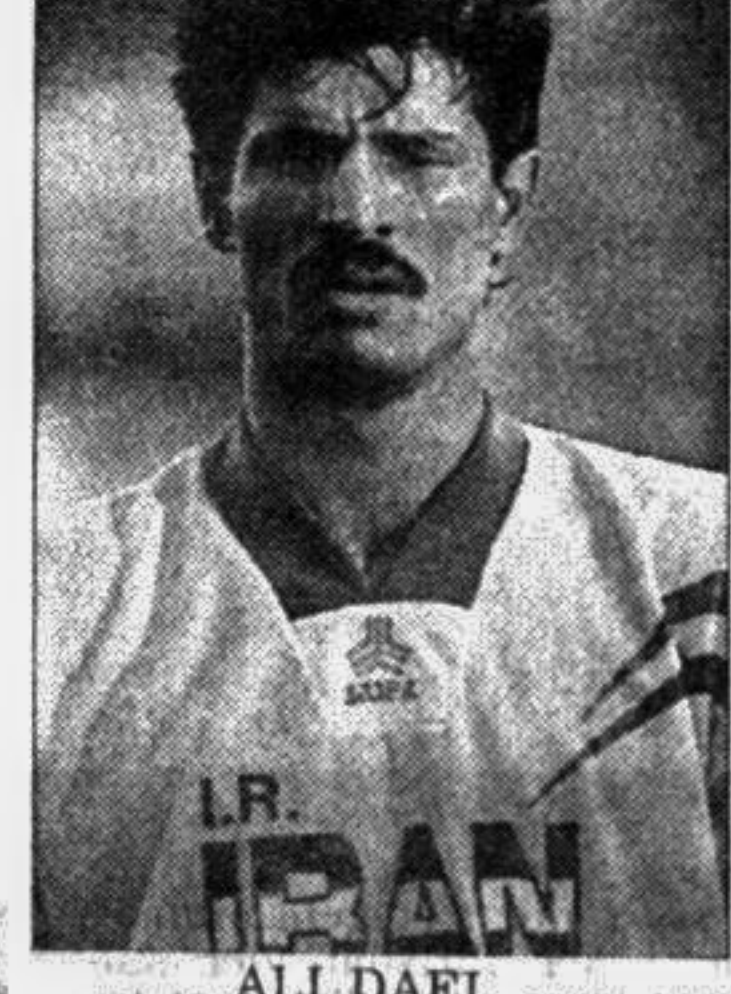

Werder Bremen's tails are up after eliminating Kaiserslautern from the German Cup in a penalty shoot out but their opponents on Saturday, 1860 Munich, are looking downcast.

The Lions can not string a number of good results together and even lost to third division amateurs Eintracht Trier this week, prompting fresh growth of discontent from coach Werner Lorant.

If you believe statistics then 1860 haven't a hope of beating Bremen. So far they have won one solitary point on the road, a draw 0-0 at Hansa Rostock, while their only save away was an own goal by Wolfsburg.

Schalke coach Huub Stevens got a dressing down from management when he refused to attend the post-match press conference after Schalke's bitter Cup defeat in a penalty shoot-out at second division Energie Cottbus.

He will take his injured pride to VfB Stuttgart Sunday, while in the remaining round eight fixtures: Eintracht Frankfurt travel to Hansa Rostock, Duisburg welcome Kaiserslautern (both Saturday) and Unterhaching host Wolfsburg (Sunday).

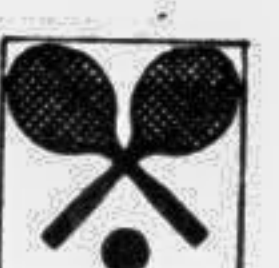

At home however keeper Georg Koch will miss his first game in two years because of a pulled leg muscle.

Leverkusen, who played shoddy football in their 3-2 defeat by Waldhof Mannheim, will host SSV Ulm.

Christoph Daum will bring back the half dozen players he rested on Tuesday but will still want to keep his side fresh for next week's demanding trip to Dynamo Kiev.

Top of the table Hamburg were at full strength against Mainz 05 in the German Cup

Hingis reaches semis

ZURICH, Oct 15: World number one Martina Hingis dismissed an obsessed fan and an American qualifier to move safely into the semifinals of the European indoor championships on Thursday, reports Reuters.

While Hingis breezed through her quarter final in relaxed fashion, brushing aside Corina Morariu 7-5, 6-2 in 62 minutes, the match was played under heightened security as officials monitored the movements of an obsessed fan, who may be stalking the tennis star.

The Women's Tennis Association (WTA) confirmed that Zurich police had questioned and photographed a 42-year-old Yugoslav man, who they believed had been sending disturbing faxes to Hingis and persistently calling the five-time Grand Slam winner.

The pictures were then distributed to security staff at the Kloten sports hall, who identified the man when he entered the arena for Thursday's match.

"After Seles every tournament has to take precautions," said tournament spokesman Andre Glauser, referring to Monica Seles, who was stabbed in the back by an obsessed Steffi Graf fan during a changeover at a match in Hamburg six years ago.

"He has never threatened her and he has a ticket so he was allowed in."

"But we know he's here, we know where he's sitting and we're watching him."

"We are taking it seriously even if he has never threatened her."

Alarm bells went off in the Hingis camp last week in Filderstadt when a member of Hingis's entourage confronted the man and asked him to stop sending messages.

But the man persisted and boldly turned up at the Zurich tournament VIP desk saying he had an interview with the 19-year-old Swiss.

Hingis's family also asked Zurich organisers to provide additional protection during the tournament and she was given a 24-hour personal bodyguard.

"I feel safe in Switzerland, it's definitely the last country I would not feel safe in," said Hingis, the winner of seven tournaments this season.

"Since I've been number one I always try to have someone with me - hopefully a tall and handsome guy."

"Your name doesn't have to be Martina Hingis to have these worries... as a girl in general it's not always safe to walk around alone."

Earlier, world number three Venus Williams renewed her rivalry with Irina Spirlea, romping to a 6-3, 6-2 second round win.

Playing her first match since losing to sister Serena in the semifinals of the Grand Slam Cup almost two weeks ago, Williams showed no signs of a layoff disposing of the player her father Richard once described as "that big, tall white turkey", in just 59 minutes.

The clash was only the second between Williams and Spirlea since they collided into each other during a changeover at the 1997 US Open, touching off a controversial bout of name calling and accusations of racism.

While much of the bitterness of that incident has disappeared from their rivalry, the two women engaged in some entertaining gamesmanship during their match, signaling all was not forgotten.
