TELEVISION JOURNALISM

The Thomson Foundation of UK, in co-operation with the Bangladesh Centre for Development, Journalism and Communication (BCDJC) and the Family Planning Association of Bangladesh, will be running a training course for television journalists and camera-operators in February 2000. There are only 12 openings in this 3-week course that will be conducted in English.

The course is linked to a national campaign to heighten health awareness among Bangladeshi adolescents. Those who gain a place may be offered to work on a television series following the training course.

Requirements

Journalist places: Applicants are expected to have some journalism or communication experience in electronic or print media. Apart from journalists, those working with Non-Governmental Organisations concerned with health matters but who are interested in television journalism will also be considered.

Camera-operator places: Applicants are expected to be proficient in the use of a video camera (VHS, S-VHS, BETA, DVCAM) but need not have worked as a professional TV camera-operator. This is a course for those who already have the basic skills but wish to develop them for work in broadcast television.

Selection

Only short listed candidates will be invited to sit for a compulsory viva test on 15 December 1999 at BCDJC office. Final selection for admission will be made on the basis of applicants' relevant experience and their performance in the viva test.

Application Procedure

If you consider yourself to be fit for one of the places, please apply within 2 December 1999 along with your CV that should include - 1. Full Name, 2. Mailing Address, 3. Other Contact Details: Phone/Fax/E-mail, 4. Date of Birth, 5. Sex, 6. Whether you wish to be considered for a place as a camera-operator or a TV journalist, 7. Previous Experience (with dates), 8. English Language Proficiency, 9. Reasons for Applying - (all in English) and 2 copies of recent PP size photographs to 187 Green Road (1st floor), Dhaka-1205.
