German-Bangla Mela begins in city

A two-day first-ever German-Bangla Mela (fair) '99 began in the capital last morning to expose various issues of Germany-Bangladesh cooperation both in the fields of culture and economy, reports BSS.

Ambassador of the Federal Republic of Germany Uwe Schramm and Advisor of the German Non-Government Organisation Anando Father Klaus Berle inaugurated the fair at the Anando campus at Banani. Speaking on the occasion, the German ambassador said that Bangladesh and Germany have strong relations in the field of development cooperation. He said the two-day fair would present the ongoing development projects and programmes in Bangladesh which are either funded by the German government or have been receiving support from German NGOs and German citizens.

The colourful fair, at Road no 23 of Banani, in which various aspects of Bangladesh and German cultures will be presented, includes indigenous cultural show, snake dance, people's theatre, fashion show, children's art exhibition, puppet show, Bangla folk songs etc. Jointly organised by the German Embassy and the German NGO, Anando, the fair has also offered an opportunity for exchanging views and experiences among people in view of extending the existing network between Germany and Bangladesh.

Father Klaus said the fair would offer an extraordinary opportunity to get a colourful picture of the Bangla-German relationship.
