A Photographic Down The Memory Lane

An exhibition of photographs by Anwar Hossain is being held at the Designer's Den art gallery

By Saima Islam

We can awake from this dream of life only by making it a reflection of truth. We cannot dismiss it by merely calling it unreal. Though dreaming this appearance of reality, we have to eat, sleep, earn our living, and struggle in the face of karmic challenges. So why not dream victory?"

----- Omar Khayyam

YES life is always a challenge and its challenges create the most striking theme for a photographer to catch through his camera. Anwar Hossain, the internationally acclaimed photographer, has always tried to capture the dignity that prevails in the struggle to live.

A photography exhibition by Anwar Hossain has started on March 3 at the Designer's Den art gallery. The show titled 'Bangladesh 2000' is an accumulation of his 30 years of work on Bangladesh. A photographic down the memory lane, so to speak.

"Human beings have always attracted me," says the photographer and his images are the evidence of his statement. Even when he is capturing an image of a landscape he tries to focus its relation with human being.

Anwar particularly takes pleasure in portraying people at work, be it women, young or old men or children. 'Labourer's Love' Dhaka and Chittagong 1974-77 is a picture where the focus is on the beads of sweat of three rickshaw-pullers and in the bottom the strong calf muscle that is driving the wheels and the shadow of the leaning body of the rickshaw puller. The title of the photograph suggests Anwar's view about these hard working people.

In 'Fishing time 1973' a young boy is standing rigidly with his fishing net determined to catch something. 'Fun and fun, Meghar Ghat 1990' shows a gleaming face of a young boy selling pun. 'Shoeshine- Life shine, Motijheel Dhaka 1983' shows two young boys sitting with their shoe shining equipment casually, they don't have any complaints, it seems.

In 'Cane Life, Ruitpur 1971' an old man is seen carrying cane baskets to the market, or in 'And miles to go, Jaipara 1970' another old man walking with the heavy load of coconut on his shoulder, the determination of this strong willed man has been beautifully captured through Anwar's camera.

"I love vibrant spirit of the children and I deeply respect and admire the elderly people and perhaps that's why they come again and again in my pictures," said Anwar.

Anwar also loves to bring in the life's diversity into focus. 'Great Expectation, Hotel Intercontinental 1977' shows two young boys standing in front of the grand hotel dreaming of what would it be like inside. In 'Steel vs. Fibre' the focus is on the lush jute field beside the railway line showing the sharp contrast between the natural and manmade standard of progress.

Relaxation- Portrait of a Community, Old Dhaka' portrays a hand of Anwar's grandmother with her arrangements of pun; 'Security-Portrait of A Community, Old Dhaka' shows the hand of Anwar's sister with the locks and keys that they have used for generations. This collection is Anwar's personal tribute to his own childhood surroundings. "When I started to lose my loved ones, I realized the people are not only fading away but also some local customs are getting lost somehow and then I wanted to capture those little details through my camera," says Anwar.

ing bricks while keeping her baby in her lap; in 'Madonna of War' a mother is seen holding close her baby with all her might to save the child from the atrocities of 1971. Thus the photographer has displayed his own personal memories through this exhibition.

Asked about his preference for black and white photographs, Anwar said that he also works with colour but he prefers black and white for its simplicity. All in all, the black and white collection complements the nostalgic aura that the photographer wanted to project.

Anwar Hossain was born in 1948. He has won about 60 international awards in photography. He received Association of RPS, UK '89, FIAP, Belgium and IIPC, Delhi '91. Served as the sole judge in the second Commonwealth Photography Exhibition, Cyprus '80. He has received 9 Bangladesh National and cine-journalists' award for cinematography since '78. He has had numerous solo photography exhibition all around the world.

The exhibition will remain open from 11am to 8pm till March 8.
