Yusuf Raj. The speakers explained the utility of joint care of obstetricians and paediatricians to reduce mortality rate and maintain healthy condition of both mothers and babies 15 days before and after the delivery.

The minister said the present birth rate in Bangladesh is 1.6 per cent, the lowest in the SAARC region. But, he said, our maternal and natal mortality rate is higher which retard our birth control efforts.

He said the mothers, especially living in villages, have lack of knowledge in taking care at wombs and natal stage. They are also deprived of the service of specialist physicians due to non-availability of doctors and insufficient healthcare

He said the government of Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina is very concerned at the high mortality rate. So, he said, the government has taken up a pilot project to improve the situation by providing emergency obstetric care, anti-tetanus and nursing of neo-natal babies. He urged the specialists to extend their support to the rural women.
