One more airbus on Sylhet-London route soon

SYLHET, Mar 27: One more airbus will be introduced on Sylhet-London route within a few months, officials here said, reports UNB.

Two airbuses presently operate on the route twice a week, Thursday and Saturday which is too inadequate to meet the growing demand.

Direct flight on the Sylhet-London route was introduced in November 3 last year considering the convenience of residents of Sylhet living in London.

At present, these airbuses have to make halt at the Zia International Airport for refuelling during arrival or departure, as the Osmani Airport doesn't have that facility.
