The Gwalior gharana owes its establishment to Ustad Haddu Khan and Ustad Hassu Khan. From this source not only have several branches of the gharana emerged but almost all gharanas of vocal music today seem to trace a part of their origin to this great source. Maharashtra owes its musical wealth to this gharana thanks to Pandit Balakrishnabua Ichalkaranjikar. Stylistically the gaikae of this gharana is best described as wholistic and, in a sense, representative of the original form and principles of khayal.
