Beijing keen to expand trade ties with Dhaka

China has expressed the desire to bolster bilateral relations and strengthen economic cooperation with Bangladesh, reports UNB.

"We want deep friendship and expansion of trade and business with Bangladesh," the newly appointed Chinese Ambassador Hu Qianwen said when he called on Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina at Ganobhaban yesterday.

The ambassador conveyed best wishes and regards from Chinese President Jiang Zemin to Sheikh Hasina and also extended an invitation from the Chinese President to her to visit Beijing.

Hu lauded the Prime Minister for Bangladesh's remarkable progress in different sectors, particularly in the field of economy.

He told Hasina that the Chinese people have high regards for Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman who laid the foundation of friendship between the two countries by paying visit to China twice.

"Your great father and you are very much known to the Chinese people," the envoy said. Recalling Hasina's visit to China in 1996, he said the visit has further strengthened the Dhaka-Beijing relation.

"I will try to bolster existing friendly relation as a development partner during my tenure in Dhaka," Hu said.

Welcoming the new ambassador, the Prime Minister said: "Our relationship is very excellent. China is engaged in the development of Bangladesh."

"She praised Chinese assistance to the construction of NAM Conference Centre and various infrastructure developments."

The Prime Minister extended invitation to the Chinese President to visit Bangladesh at the earliest.
