Sheikh Selim tells JS

5 lakh suffering from cancer in country

Some five lakh people are suffering from cancer across the country, Health Minister Sheikh Fazlul Karim Selim told Parliament yesterday, reports UNB.

Admitting inadequate facilities for treatment of cancer in the country, he said the existing 50-bed Cancer Hospital at the city's Mahabkhal would be upgraded to 100 beds shortly with modern treatment facilities.

On the private members' day yesterday, Mohammad Wajuddin Khan (Awami League-Pabna) moving a resolution sought a full-fledged cancer hospital in Pabna.

The health minister said around 100 people are getting indoor or outdoor treatment at Mahabkhal Cancer Hospital. Besides, each of the district hospitals has a separate cancer unit.

The minister expressed the hope that with the expansion of treatment facilities the patients would not go abroad for treatment.

Supporting the resolution, ruling party members Abdul Latif Mirza, Shahjahan Khan, Begum Shahin Monowara Haq, Hajee Mohammad Selim, Shamsur Rahman Sharif and Meher Afroz expressed concern that thousands of people were suffering from the deadly disease of cancer.

They demanded modern treatment facilities in all the district hospitals to combat cancer.

The resolution was, however, withdrawn on assurance from the Health Minister.

Reception to DU Prof Nuruddin at TSC today

By DU Correspondent

Former students of Department of Mass Communication and Journalism of Dhaka University will accord a grand farewell reception to Professor QAIM Nuruddin, one of the senior most teachers of DU and a leading communications expert in the country.

The day-long programme will feature a seminar, meeting and cultural function and be held at the Teachers and Students Centre (TSC) of the university.

Pioneer of the country's journalism education, Prof Nuruddin joined the department as a teacher in 1963. Earlier, he completed his diploma degree from the department in 1962.

In his long and illustrious career, he worked for a number of institutions and agencies including Film Sensor Board and Asian Development Bank.

business community to solve some of their existing problem," he said in the statement issued yesterday, the last date of submission of the nomination papers.

"However, after a thorough analysis of the present situation and following an extensive exchange of views, I have come to the conclusion that though respectful of my independent stance, members of the business community are not in a position to express their views in a free and unfettered manner. Therefore I have decided not to submit my nomination paper for the Federation election," he stated.

"It is my ardent hope that in the future election the business community will be able to express their opinions free of all political viewpoints and encumbrances, and work unitedly for the economic development of the country," Latifur Rahman added.

rallies and bring out processions from all city, district and thana headquarters.

In the capital city, the main opposition will hold a public rally at Paltan Maidan at 4pm.

Meanwhile, BNP Secretary-general Abdul Mannan Bhuiyan, in a statement from his hospital bed, said that the Awami League government had begun hatching fresh conspiracy.

The government repressed, suppressed, harassed, filed false case and killed several hundred activists in a fascist style to foil the opposition during its four-year rule, he said.

However, he added, it failed to thwart the opposition movement.

Now at the end of its tenure, it started hatching new conspiracy and case against Khaleda is part of it, the BNP leader said.

Bhuiyan warned the government would have to face the consequence, if it didn't stop conspiring against the leader of the opposition in the parliament.

Meanwhile, the president of the city unit of BNP, Sadek Hossain Khoka MP and the general secretary, Abdus Salam have urged the party leaders, activists, supporters and people to make the public rally at Paltan Maidan a grand success.

Polymer notes

1988, has been hammering the idea of technology transfer to Bangladesh since the mid nineties.

Over a dozen countries are now using polymer notes instead of paper currency.

The polymer notes are very hard to tear and these feel like paper notes when touched. "It is because the basic note printing technology remains the same where the design works are extruded just like paper notes," said Bryan Musgrove, a graphic designer of NPA.

"If the Bangladesh Bank introduces this note, it will remove the hassles of repeatedly replacing torn notes," Hugh Brown said, "these notes last minimum five years."

The polymer notes are also hard to counterfeit. So far, according to Hugh Brown, there had been no known report of forging of the polymer notes.

NPA has so far produced circulating polymer bank notes for Brunei, Indonesia, Malaysia, Papua New Guinea, Western Samoa, Sri Lanka, Thailand and Romania and other countries.

Dengue: 19 more hospitalised in city

By Staff Correspondent

Nineteen more people with dengue fever were admitted to different hospitals and private clinics in the city yesterday.

The Central Control Room at the health directorate yesterday said Dhaka Medical College Hospital reported admitting seven, Mitford Hospital two, Bangladesh Medical College three, Dhaka Shishu Hospital two, BIRDEM and Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujib Medical University Hospital one each, Red Crescent Holy Family Hospital two and Ibne Sina Clinic reported admitting one patient.

This was followed by detention of 2,201 people during the tenure of Ershad government and 2,046 during the caretaker government headed by Justice Habibur Rahman.

A total of 1,849 people were detained by the government of Khaleda Zia, 1,739 by the government of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, 1,632 by the caretaker government of Justice Shahabuddin Ahmed, 1,449 by the government of President Abdur Sattar and 811 by the present government of Sheikh Hasina till December 1998.

Cases against detention:

Following 12,745 writs filed against detentions in 24 years, the High Court ordered release of 11,393, declaring their detention illegal. The HC issued orders for 3 days from tomorrow, protest rally and demonstration in the thana headquarters on September 11, protest rally and agitation in the district headquarters on September 12, mass procession in the thana and district headquarters on September 13 and day-long hartal throughout the division on September 14.

Meanwhile, moves are already on from the ruling party to dissuade Haroon's lone rival from running the race, said sources.

Amintul, however, said he was also present at the meeting. Although invited, Latifur Rahman did not attend the meeting.

Later, in the morning yesterday, the government succeeded in its effort as the business leaders decided not to contest the polls, sources said. They said that the ruling party was desperate to have its own man at the top of FBCCI as it was its last year in power.

MCPI President Latifur Rahman, in a statement, said that he did not submit his nomination as he thought the situation would not permit the business community to express their views in a free and fair way.

Salman F Rahman, however, saw nothing wrong in choosing a "consensus candidate".

"There are instances in other countries to have a consensus president for the business bodies. But I think there shouldn't be any political interference in trade bodies," Salman told The Daily Star last night.

At the same time, he said it would have been better to have a new face assuming the top position at the country's apex trade body.

When contacted, Mir Nasir refused to comment on the issue.
