Indian daily lauds Hasina's statement at UN Summit

NEW DELHI, Sept 17: It is Bangladesh which in the UN Millennium Summit showed that the fault lines in South Asia run deep and across the entire region distracting attention from the pivotal task, reports UNB.

With this toast, a leading Indian daily today came up with an observation that as a current non-permanent member of the Security Council, Bangladesh perfectly grabbed the opportunity to make its presence felt.

Mentioning Sheikh Hasina's speech in the summit where she called for UN action against usurpation of power anywhere in its member states, the daily Hindu said this, in her view, was a "must" to promote democracy, human rights and economic advance across the world.

"It was quite obvious that Gen Musharraf would accept none of the aspersions, even if unintended, in the sensitive new context of a pan-South Asia debate on the damning findings of the Hamood-ur-Rahman panel on the role of the Pakistan Army, or at least some of its elements, in Bangladesh prior to its emergence as a sovereign state in 1971."

The article with two pictures - Prime Minister Atal Behari Vajpayee and his counterpart Sheikh Hasina talking and a portrait of General Musharraf - commented: If, however, Sheikh Hasina asserted reaching home that Bangladesh's ties with Pakistan would not suffer on account of the rumpus over her agenda of democracy, she was banking on the fact that she had actually sounded somewhat neutral in her separate comments on India-Pakistan imbroglio.

On the eve of the UN summit, Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina had called for a peaceful ambience for India-Pakistan interactions so that South Asia's primary challenge of poverty could be addressed with deserving attention.

About Hasina's new venture of campaigning for democracy, the special weekend article on world page said: Seen in this contemporary historical context is the evolving new argument about the faith in democracy as a possible defining characteristic for friendly cooperation among the SAARC-member countries in the future.

It, however, observed with or without this new lodestar of democracy, the India-Pakistan equations will continue to determine SAARC's future.
