

One of many unauthorised welding factories of Tangail town stretches its activities on the public thoroughfare. Oblivion to sufferings of the pedestrians and other road users, the municipal authorities also ignore that exposure to welding sparks could cause permanent damage to eyes and other human organs. These young men keep working on the road without any protection whatsoever. Is there any one to warn them?

These upazilas are far away from the district headquarters and the fire service vehicles have to take much time to reach destination.

UP chairman manhandled in Barguna

BARGUNA, Sept 26: A UP chairman was manhandled by miscreants at the land office in Amtali upazila on Sunday, reports UNB.

Witnesses said a gang of 5-7 rowdy youths swooped on Siddique Rahman, Gulishakhali Union Parishad chairman in Amtali upazila, when he reached the office at about 11 am.

The reason behind the attack could not be known.

Besides, the fire service station in Sadar upazila has also been facing shortage of vehicles and equipment.

There is only one water carrying vehicle and another generator carrying vehicle at the station. Moreover, the fire fighting vehicles at Shariatpur Fire Brigade station are also old, which cannot reach the fire spots in time.

There was a plan to set up two fire stations in two upazilas, but the plan has not yet been implemented, official sources added.

There is urgent need to set up fire stations in all these upazilas, local people said.

UNB from Rangamati says: A fire broke out at Kachalang Bazar in Baghatkhari thana recently gutting 13 houses.

Fire Brigade sources said the fire, originated from an oven, damaged properties worth about Tk 10 lakh.

Firefighters with the help of local people and BDR extinguished the blaze after two hours of hectic efforts.

Another report from Sylhet says: Ten shops were gutted in a fire at Bairagi Bazar in Baniabazar upazila recently.

Fresh malaria outbreak in Rangamati

RANGAMATI, Sept 26: In a new sign of trouble for the health administration, a fresh outbreak of malaria has affected hundreds of people in frontier areas of the district, reports UNB.

Hospital source said some 50 people died of malaria in the hill district during the last six months.

Although the outbreak of the disease is still limited in the frontier areas, health workers apprehend that it can spread all over the district in an epidemic form if the health administration fails to come up with timely measures to check it.

The worst affected areas are Bara Harina in Barkol upazila, Sajek in Baghatkhari, Shilkhari in Jurachhari, Jibtal and Magban in Sadar and Chitramam union in Kapit upazilas.

Sources at Health Department said 25 health workers were posted in each upazila of the district to send blood samples of malaria-affected patients to sadar hospital and create awareness among the hill people about the disease.

But the health workers are allegedly drawing their salaries without doing the jobs they have been entrusted with.

Allegations are also there against the authorities that they are not spraying insecticides in the areas for the last three years for reasons unknown.

Hilsha in peril

From Aroop Talukdar

BARISAL, Sept 26: Despite government ban, fishing of hilsha fries, popularly known as jatka, is going on almost unabated in the vast southern region of the country, taking toll on the production of the national fish.

At present, reportedly, not only the marginal fishermen but also people equipped with modern fishing trawlers are engaged in illegal business with the full backing of wholesale fish traders and brokers.

Now, fish markets in the divisional headquarters have been flooded with jatka. It seems there is none to check or stop the fishing of fries, although fishing laws exist in the country.

Of the total catch, about fifty per cent of the jatka netted in Barisal district are sent to different markets in southern and northern districts. Along the Kirtankhola river there are about 125 wholesale shops or arat in Port Road, the hub of hilsha trade. However, exporters of hilsha, perhaps the most popular fish in the country, also crowd the wholesale market.

A source with a local branch of a private commercial bank said during last four months hilsha worth about Tk eight crore were exported from here.

Experts have expressed grave concern over the fishing of jatka and said the malpractice has cast an adverse impact hilsha output. In markets, adult and matured hilsha can hardly be found abundantly, local residents said.

According to wholesale fish market sources here, about 40 lakh pieces jatka were sent to different places in the country from here during last three weeks.

AM Ishaq Bhunya, an official of local Fisheries Department said nowadays hilsha fish is more or less available throughout the year. Indiscriminate catching of jatka will definitely decrease the production of full-size hilsha in near future.

Ishaq also said the Fisheries Department has no adequate logistics support and necessary manpower to conduct operation against illegal catching of jatka.

Jute now bane of farmers

From Our Correspondent

NATORE, Sept 26: Jute, once popularly known as golden fibre, has now become a bane of farmers here like other places in the country. The growers are forced to sell their product below production cost due to absence of buyers in markets.

At different markets in the district, jute is selling between Tk 250 and Tk 300 per maund. Growers say that at least Tk 350 is required to produce a maund of jute.

Jute mills are not buying jute and as a result middlemen are taking the full advantage of hoarding jute by purchasing it from the growers at through-way prices.

Shahidul Islam of Nichintapur village under Boraigam upazila, said real buyers are absent in markets, causing decline in prices.

Some farmers said if the price of jute continues to fall jute cultivation will decrease. Jute production here has been declining over last few years. The reasons are identified as low price, dearth of buyers and lack of quality seeds and fertiliser.

According to official sources, some 50,000 bales of jute were projected to be produced from more than 6,000 hectares of land in the district this season.

But the target is unlikely to be achieved as growers largely refrained from cultivating jute. Last year the growers too experienced huge loss. Unofficial sources said only some 3,000 hectares of land were brought under jute cultivation.

During previous year, about 18,000 bales jute were produced by cultivating 6,225 hectares of land in the district which was far below the official target.

During 1996-97 and 1995-96 seasons, 4,650 hectares and 3,500 hectares of land respectively were brought under jute cultivation here.

Some jute traders told this correspondent that if the trend of low price continues jute will be smuggled out of the country. Many of traders said smuggling of raw jute has already been started. Smuggling of jute will cast an adverse effect on jute-based handloom industry, traders said.

They say paper and partex manufacturing mills which need raw jute could also be set up to inspire the jute growers. President of Natore Chamber of Commerce and Industries M Aminul Haque said local entrepreneurs should have access to 'easy loans' from the banks to set up jute oriented factories.

He said, 'It's the declining price that discourages the growers to refrain from farming jute and it may hit the country's economy if appropriate steps are not taken soon.'

BSS from Barisal says: Poor farmers are reportedly being deprived of fair prices of jute this year due to absence of required number of government purchasing centres in this region. They lamented that they are to sell their produce at a price below the production cost due to shortage of buyers and proper marketing facilities.

Taking the advantages, some unscrupulous traders are buying jute from the poor farmers at throwaway prices and trying to smuggle out jute into India to earn more profit.

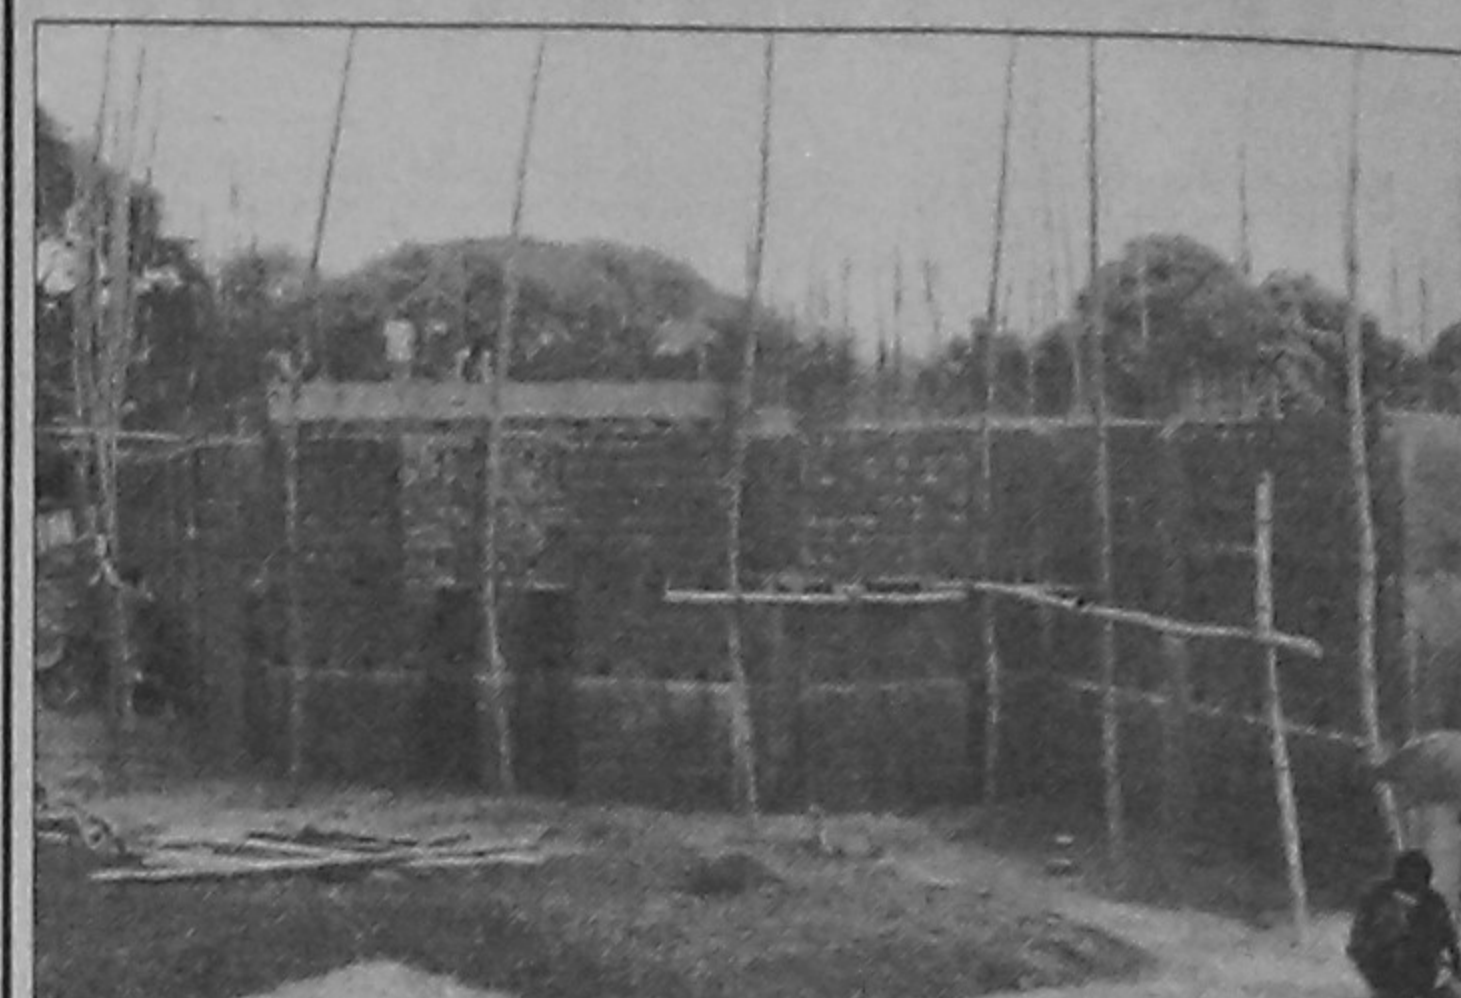

Local variety of jute is being sold between Taka 220 and Taka 245 per maund while Tasha variety between Taka 280 and Taka 300 per maund nowadays in this region.

A total of 12,05,985 bales of jute were produced in the districts of Barisal, Jhalakathi, Pirojpur, Patuakhali, Faridpur, Madaripur, Gopalganj, Rajbari and Shariatpur under Barisal Agriculture Extension Zone in this season, an official source said.

Jute cultivation is being decreased in the region day by day due to low prices in the market, the jute inspectors of the zone said.

Besides, many local traders are not financially sound. So they cannot purchase requisite quantity of jute from the growers for want of working capital, they said.

Tk 5 cr pisciculture scheme in Meherpur

MEHERPUR, Sept 26: International Fund for Agriculture Development (IFAD) has taken up a Taka five crore pisciculture programme in Meherpur district to boost protein supply position in the area, reports BSS.

Official source said Germany, Britain and France will support the scheme with technical knowhow and Asian Development Bank (ADB) will provide the fund.

This international organisation has, by the time, conducted a survey on about the water bodies to be available for pisciculture in the district.

Initially the IFAD surveyed Terroghoria Beel, Bhairab River, Horri Rampur Beel, Patapuka Beel, Molmura Beel, Moranadi, Topla Beel and Battala Beel.

Besides, 1200 derelict ponds in the district will be reclaimed and brought under the scheme.

UNB from Kushtia says: Unplanned construction of embankment, lack of patronisation and capital and non-utilization of rivers and haors are reducing fish production.

The Padma and Gorai and their tributaries, flowing through the district, are the main sources of fish. But the rivers are drying rapidly, changing the breeding place of the fishes.

Besides, there are 3,000 water bodies, 132 canals and beels, covering 1,050 hectares of land, and 1,700 private ponds in the district. Of the ponds, fish is being cultivated in 1,000 ponds while the rests became derelict.

According to a survey conducted by the district Fisheries Department, only 5,694 tons of fishes are produced in the district yearly against the demand of 16,268 tons.

The survey report added that pisciculture is not possible on large scale in the district as the silted ponds, canals, haors and other water bodies are not excavated regularly.

Fishermen of the district, in this circumstance, have been facing acute problem and they are passing their days with extreme financial hardship.

As a result, many fishermen of the district have given up their age-old profession for want of capital and price hike of fishing equipment.
