US envoy visits Liberation War Museum

US Ambassador to Bangladesh Mary Ann Peters visited the Liberation War Museum in the city yesterday, reports UNB. She expressed her feeling in the visitor's book saying that "I am honoured to visit this museum, which so movingly chronicles the liberation struggle of the Bangladeshi people."

Political Officers of US Embassy Elaine Jones was with the US envoy.

Donation for Gandhi Ashram

The State Bank of India has donated Taka 200,000 to Gandhi Ashram at Joyga village in Noakhali district in appreciation of its social services for the poor, reports BSS. A cheque for the amount was handed over to the Ashram's secretary by the Chief Executive Officer of the Bank A Gosh at Joyga yesterday.

Politicians lack mentality to apologise for their mistakes

President inaugurates Gandhi Ashram Trust Museum at Jayga

NOAKHALI, Oct 12: President Justice Shahabuddin Ahmed today observed that political leaders in this subcontinent didn't have the mentality to seek apology for their mistakes, reports UNB.

Citing Mahatma Gandhi's example of seeking apology for the consequences of his non-violence movement, Justice Shahabuddin noted that the political leaders do not follow the instance.

The President was addressing the inaugural function of Gandhi Ashram Trust Museum at Jayga here today on the occasion of Gandhi's first birth anniversary in the new millennium.

Gandhi came to this village in 1946 and started social welfare activities through a trust formed with the property donated by Barrister Hemanta Kumar Ghosh of Noakhali.

In 1975, it was converted into Gandhi Ashram Trust through a special ordinance. The newly established museum of the Trust contains various belongings and books used by the great leader and his photographs.

President Shahabuddin referred to several incidents in the life of Gandhi, which reflect his ideology of non-violence movement against the British colonial rule.

He said when Gandhi's non-violence, non-cooperation movement of 1921-22 turned violent, he apologised for it saying "I made a Himalayan blunder. It was my gigantic miscalculation."

Terming Gandhi a pioneer of religious harmony, the President said Gandhi always believed that India's independence could not be achieved unless harmony is established among Hindus and Muslims.

"His motto was to ensure Hindu-Muslim harmony and unity of the Congress and Muslim League for achieving an independent India. He dreamt that people of all religions and communities would establish an independent country."

Justice Debesh Chandra Bhattacharya, Chairman of Gandhi Ashram Trust, presided over the function which was addressed by Indian High Commissioner Monil Tripathi, State Minister for Youth, Sports and Cultural Affairs Obaidul Quader, Trust member Jharanadhara Chowdhury and Deputy Commissioner of Noakhali M Abu Halif.
