Reflections from Childhood

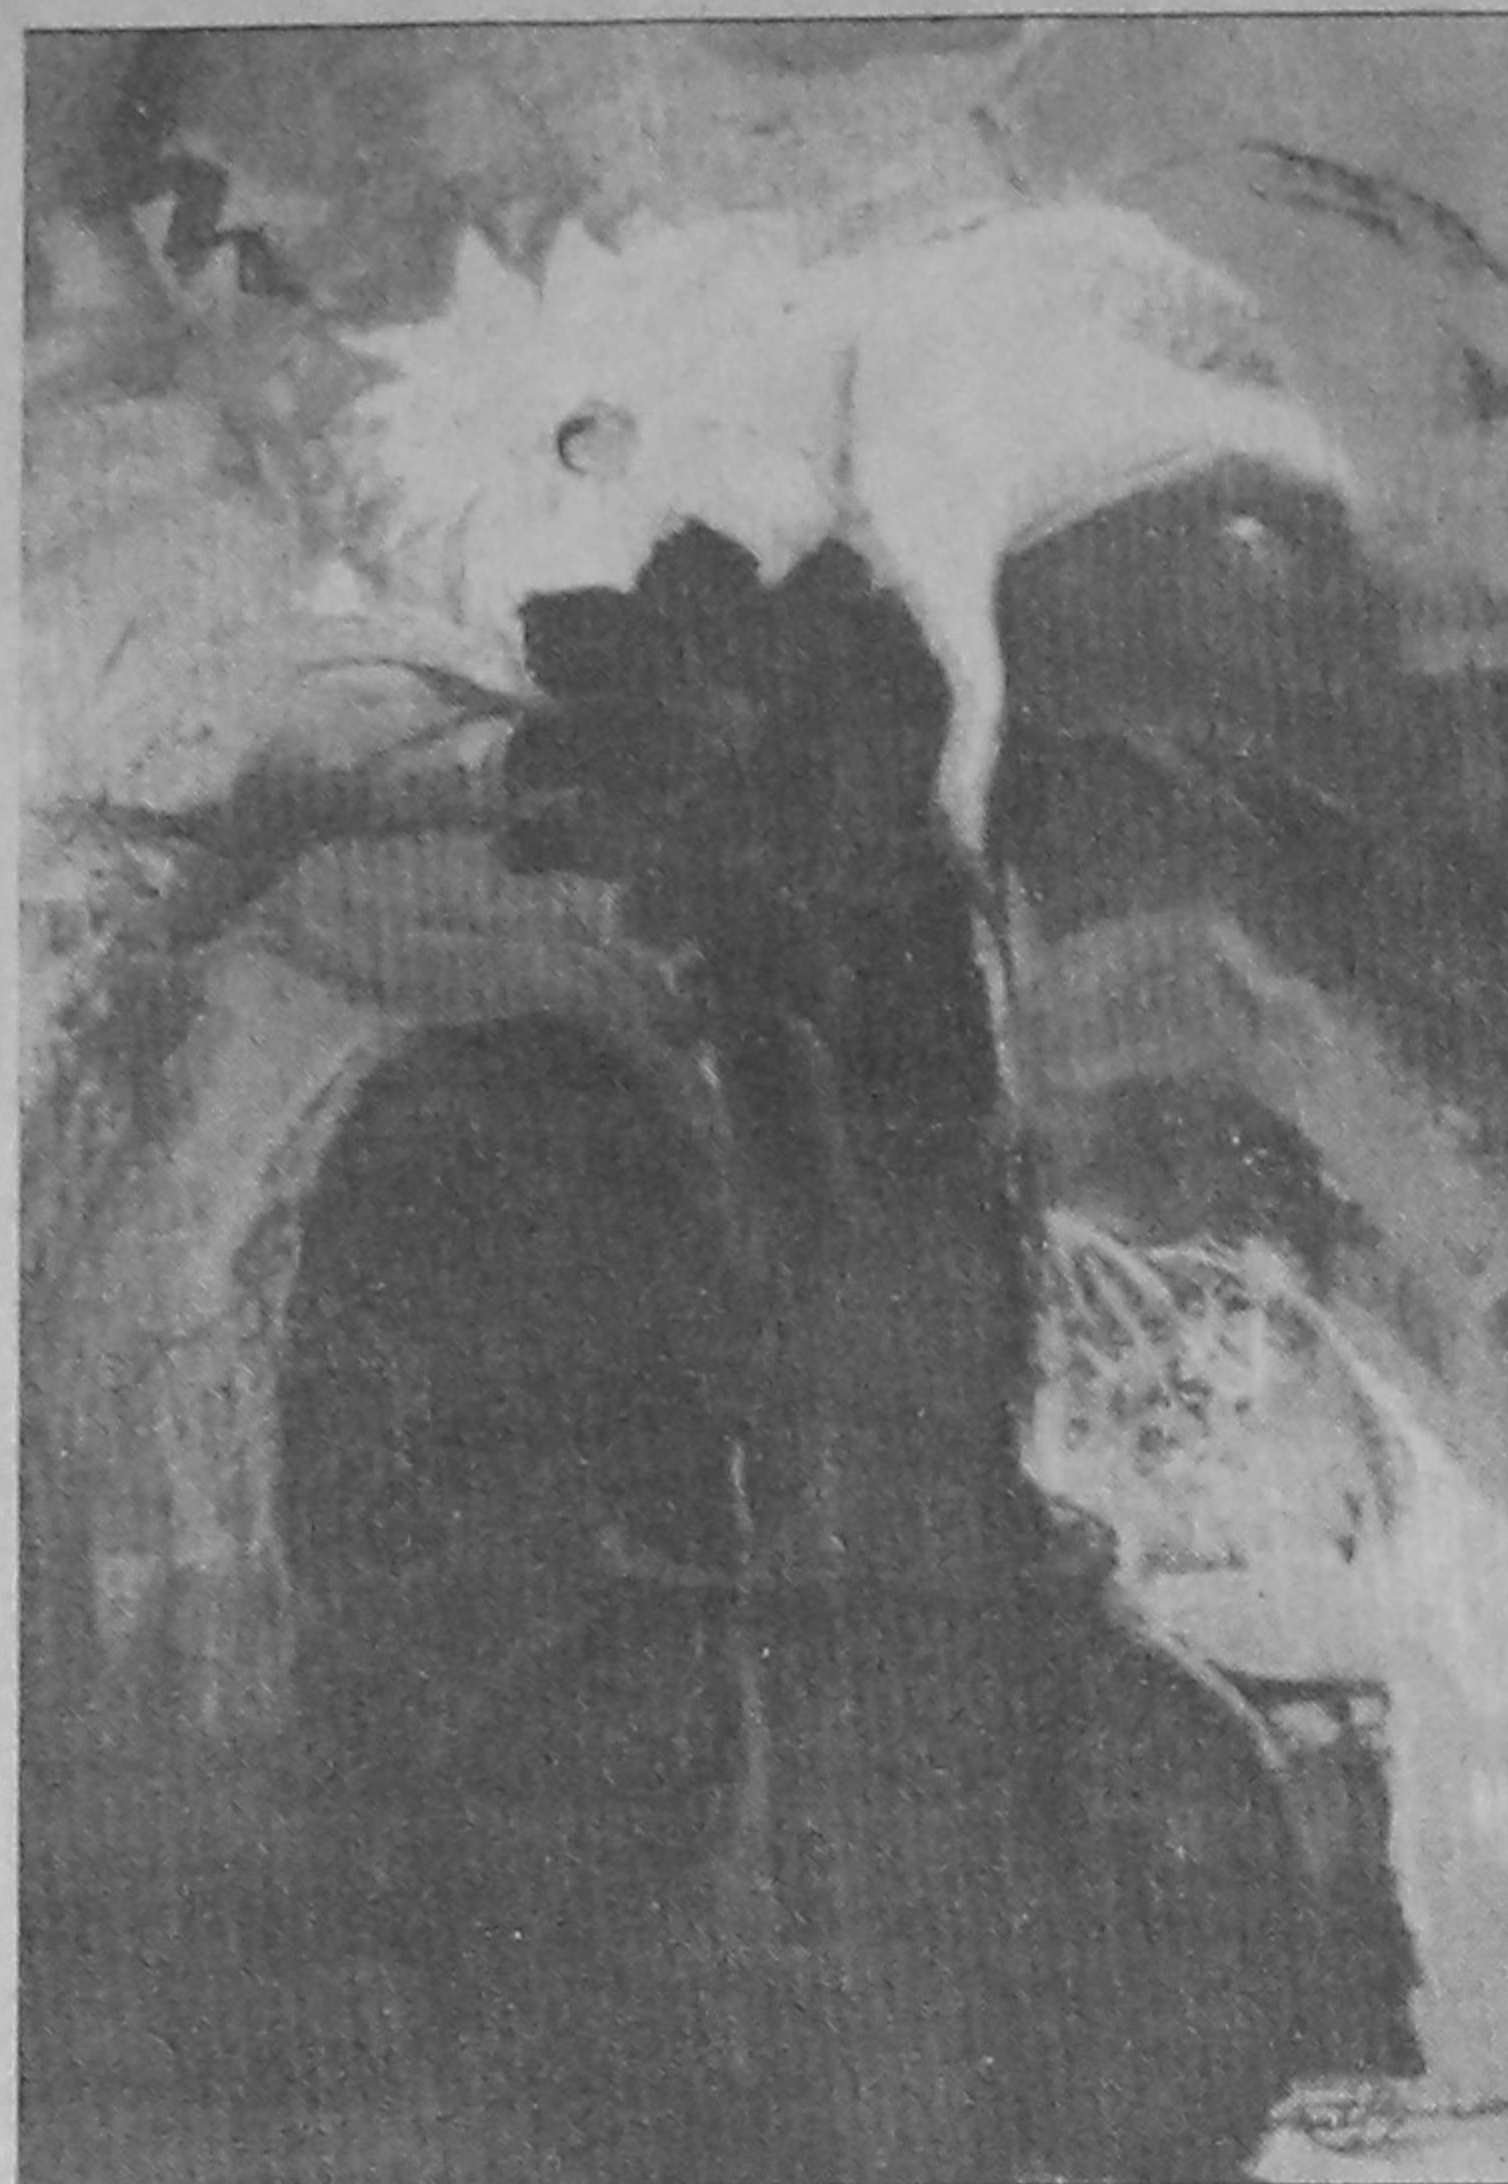

Sunil Ronjan Howlader's 4th solo painting exhibition opens in USA

By Nafid Imran Ahmed

SUNIL Ronjan Howlader is a familiar name in the art circle of the country. He has established himself as a promising artist through his previous three solo painting exhibitions. His month long fourth solo exhibition is now being held at the Alexeyon Schlippe Gallery of Art in Uconn's Ivory Point Campus, Connecticut USA. He is in USA now in connection with an international residency art programme.

Apart from the faculties of Uconn University, famous Bulgarian artist Stojan Stollarov, director Sheren and many other local artists were present at the inaugural ceremony of his exhibition.

Born in 1964, Sunil Ronjan Howlader finished his Master of Fine Arts from the department of Drawing and Painting, Institute of Fine Art, University of Dhaka in 1991. This talented painter has many awards to his name among which 2nd prize in mixed media in International Miniature Art Competition, Montana, USA and Honourable Mention Award in Nagano Winter Olympic Painting Exhibition, Japan are noticeable. He also participated in many group exhibitions and art work-something extraordinary. Among the basic colours he uses red, green and yellow frequently. He draws from the memories from his childhood, which is in the southern village of Barguna. Flashes from his youth are repeatedly represented in his works. Such an element is ornately bedecked elephants, which recalls the Hindu festivals he celebrated in his youth.

Temples and bells, with colourful banners are also visible in his work. Occasionally these temples provide the setting for Bangladeshi women praying or presenting flowers. These village wives are depicted with special beauty and affection in his work. Not only the wives, the fishermen, the travelling folksingers and their simple and folk instruments all comes up into his canvas.

At times Sunil uses colours as a form of temporal abstraction, with White symbolising the future and dark blues and greens as the past. Extending these colours across the paper from right to left, he symbolises dark to light. The word which most accurately describes Sunil's work is Semiabstract.

In his previous exhibitions in the country the art critics and lovers appreciated his works. Now he has widened his shoulders and presenting his work in front of the art community of the United States. We hope he gets the attention of the gallery-goers and critics of one of the cultural capitals of the world and make us proud.

His 4th solo painting exhibition has 25 recent works on display, among which 8 are in oil and the rest are done in Acrylic.
