Sat TV puts our rich culture, tradition to dangerous test

Survey reveals changing behavioural pattern of city dwellers

CHITTAGONG. Nov 8: The advent of satellite television in Bangladesh, which is changing the behavioural pattern of city dwellers, threatens the age old values: enriched culture and tradition of the country, a survey revealed here recently, re- wives, students of colleges and ports BSS.

The survey showed the changes occurred particularly in daily television watching behaviour, day-to-day lifestyle. dress-up, fashion, career plan. use of slang term, in showing respect to the seniors, trend to show off heroism and violence.

Youths, particularly teenagers who are exposed to the international satellite channels with a huge number of violence through household cable connections, are posing serious threats to our culture and tradition, the survey cautioned.
