Saturday Jan 20 at 12 midnight

Karen (Zuniga) is a wealthy socialite and lead suspect in the murder of her psychiatrist. The only problem is that she doesn't remember anything. On a recommendation from her friend, she seeks help from Dr. Peter Drexel (Wagner) who not only helps Karen avoid conviction by pleading insanity, but he becomes her lover as well. However, the real nightmare begins when Dr. Drexel places Karen in an insane asylum.

Starring: Jack Wagner, Daphne Zuniga

Hunt for the Unicorn

Sunday Jan 21 at 11:30 am

Based upon the true story of a couple's struggle to bring their daughter's killer to justice in a hunt that spans the globe for two decades. Set during the "flower power" era in the United States, Ireland, England, and France, the miniseries tells a fascinating tale of sex, obsession and murder that is all the more compelling because it actually happened.

Starring: Tom Skerritt, Kevin Anderson, and Naomi Watts.

Prince of Egypt

Sunday Jan 21 at 10 pm

Two men-brothers and princes of the greatest empire on Earth. One will someday rule Egypt. The other will become one of the greatest heroes of all time. In the first animated feature from the vaunted DreamWorks film studio, the famous Biblical tale about the transformation of Moses from slave to prince to deliverer of his people is told with transcendent passion and beauty. The well-known story revolves around two close brothers, Moses (voiced by Kilmer) and Rameses (Fiennes). While Rameses is groomed to take over the empire, his beloved brother Moses is a carefree prankster, until Moses learns the true secret of his past. In fact, he is really a Jew and as a child was floated down the river to escape mass genocide. Upon learning the truth of his past from a burning bush, Moses returns to Egypt with God on his side and demands that the Pharaoh (now his brother Rameses) must "Let my people go."

Starring: Val Kilmer, Ralph Fiennes, Sandra Bullock, Danny Glover, Jeff Goldblum, Steve Martin, Helen Mirren, Michelle
