International Day of Families today

BSS, Dhaka

The International Day of Families will be observed in Bangladesh as elsewhere in the world today to renew the pledge to uphold the traditional values of a family life through mutual cooperation and understanding.

This year's theme of the day is "Families and Volunteers: Building Social Cohesion" that highlights the indispensable role of families and volunteers in enriching and safeguarding the life in the community.

President Shahabuddin Ahmed in a message on the eve of the day stressed the need for a positive role of families as well as volunteers to further consolidate the social cohesion in the greater interest of national progress.

Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina in a similar message described families and volunteers as the main pillars of progress and prosperity and expressed her firm belief that they would play a more glorious role for building the society on a more solid footing in future.

The UN Secretary General Kofi Annan in his message referred to the challenging social environments being confronted by families and volunteers whose good works were imbued with a sense of trust, responsibility and duty to others. "Both families and volunteers seek to overcome these challenges through cooperation and mutual aid," he said.

Bangladesh Betar, Bangladesh Television and private television channels will put up special programmes marking the occasion while newspapers will publish special articles on the significance of the day.

A number of socio-cultural as well as non-government organisations are expected to hold seminars and discussion on the role of families and volunteers in strengthening social cohesion.
