An Acoustic Extravaganza

Sixth Nescafe Classics Unplugged at Dhaka Sheraton

NAFID IMRAN AHMED

WORLD famous coffee company Nescafe has always tried to fulfil people's thrust for music. But their approach was different from the very beginning. They have changed people's idea about concerts. Apart from the usual electric guitars, keyboards and different instruments, music lovers experienced pure acoustic music. Nescafe has organised a series of unplugged concerts by the famous band music icons of the country and presented the audience with the pure essence of Bengali and English classics. The 6th of the series was held at the Dhaka Sheraton Hotel Ballroom on May 19.

Minutes before 'Episode VI' of Nescafe Classics Unplugged started, the ballroom was almost overflowing with music lovers. The crowd were anticipating for the bands to start rolling. The performers of the evening were famous musical group Miles and Aurthohin, a new name in the musical industry. The evening started with the welcome speech by Quazi Shafayat Hossain, Brand Manager, Nestle Bangladesh Limited.

Aurthohin have started their musical career for quite a while now. They have already released an album and also have a number of their famous number 'Nijhum Ratey'. The audience greeted the band and encouraged them. The melody of the song sounded very touching in the acoustic version. Next, Aurthohin performed two English numbers, 'You're My Religion' and 'King of Pain'. The audience enjoyed this effective performance. Their own number 'Advut Shei Cheleti' was next. Aurthohin faced some difficulties with one of their guitar strings after this song so stunning bass solos were appreciated by all.

Aurthohin performed two more of their own numbers, 'Tomar Jonno Noy' and 'Protichhobi' next. The audience went wild as they started playing famous Guns N' Roses number 'Don't Cry'. They sang along with the band. The next number surprised them even more. Pink Floyd's 'Learning to Fly' was even more appreciated. Aurthohin fans jumped off their seats as they started to play their famous number 'Bedonar Chorabali'. The outstanding performance by Aurthohin came to an end with their super hit number 'Goody'.

The audience took a break as the main attraction of the evening Miles took their time to set up their instruments. They jammed for a while and then started off with Santana's 'Smooth'. The crowd loved their performance. One after another Miles played Brian Adam's 'Back To You' and Eagles's 'Best of My Love'.

The perfection of acoustic music was felt by the audience when they started playing the English and Bengali version of their famous number 'Jadu (It's Magic)'. Another old hit 'Prothom Premier Moto' was next. The audience enjoyed these two numbers. The whole ballroom sang along with the band. Again Miles went back to English numbers and flooded the concert with classical numbers such as Dire Strait's 'Walk of Life', Sting's 'Every Breath You Take' and Eagles's evergreen number 'Hotel California'.

The Sheraton ballroom was pulsating to the strains. Within moments, the audiences of five hundred was crooning, dancing and singing. After another number Miles started playing Brian Adam's 'Ever Loved a Woman'. The audience enjoyed this romantic number very much. Next, Miles played one of their own number, 'Nila'. Once again they started playing non-stop English classics, U2's 'With or Without You', The Doors' 'Break on Through' and Guns N' Roses's 'Knockin' on Heavens Door'. This unforgettable performance by Miles came to an end with their famous number 'Jala Jala'.

The unplugged came to an end with a raffle draw. Gerry Bes, Managing Director, Nestle Bangladesh Limited, distributed prizes among the lucky winners.

Overall, the show was incredibly enjoyable. So much so that even being swept away by the strains of unplugged music for over three hours did not deter the audience from asking for more. Unplugged concerts like this should be organised frequently so that the people of Bangladesh get the rare opportunity to experience the acoustic version of their favourite music.

Tribute to a cultural activist

A condolence and remembrance evening

AZIZ AMIRUL

DESK had arrived as guests arrived at a home in Dhanmondi to participate in a special ceremony, a tribute arranged by the cultural group "Chayanaut" for its founder vice-president, the late Shamsunnahar Ahmed.

As guests assembled in the large living room of cultural enthusiast Osman Kaiser Chowdhury, they felt the special atmosphere around them. It was a pleasant and evocative setting, with a large portrait of the late personage displayed in the room, adorned with jasmine garlands and three small lighted pradeep.

In the presence of close relatives, friends and well-wishers of the late Shamsunnahar Ahmed who expired in the capital on May 5, 2001 at the age of 80, the ceremony began with an opening speech by "Chayanaut" vice-president Saifuddinola (Tunu Bhai).

"I first met apa in the mid-fifties but for the founders of Chayanaut it was not before 1961", he said, referring to the versatile and committed Shamsunnahar Ahmed.

As a founder of the organisation, she was probably the most dynamic lady for me. Even during a series of recent illnesses she used to be lively and cheerful in bed when we spoke to her about our activities and programmes," he added.

The evening's programme got off to a befitting start with the renowned Rabindra Sangeet artist Iflat Ara

Shamsunnahar Ahmed

Dewan, also a member of "Chayanaut", presenting a song in honour of the late personality.

The song which was greatly appreciated by the guests, was followed by another one, this time by Khairul Anam Shakil, another well-reputed artist of the country, who rendered the Tagore number, "Bheshey ashey shudoor-o smritir shurovi Hai ei shondhaey". His excellent voice and presentation transformed the evening into a truly emotional and aesthetic one, appro-launched, along with other noted personalities, such as Begum Sufia Kamal, Shahid Janani Jahanara Imam, Tagore Artist Sanjida Khatun. At the same time, she used to work relentlessly along with her daughters, instilling a passion and devopriate for the occasion.

Wahidul Haq, arguably one of the most eminent authorities on Tagore songs and a vice-president of "Chayanaut", talked about his eventful association with the late figure.

His comments revealed how active Shamsunnahar Ahmed had been in the language movements of the 1950's and 1960's.

He shared his experience with her, and told the audience how, as the wife of a well-known engineer and a language movement leader, late Mosharrarafuddin Ahmed, Shamsunnahar Ahmed managed, through her continual cultural activities, to ignite a strong and unified sense of opposition against anti-liberation quarters among her friends and relatives.

"Although apa always had a grudge against anti-Bangali conspirators, she never directly spoke against them, or indeed against any one else either. This was a great quality in her, to never indulge in criticism against people", remarked Wahidul Haq. He also said that in his mind and according to his perspective, Shamsunnahar Ahmed was an amazing symbol of universal motherhood.

Her life bore testimony to her cultural activism, as well as to her own personal quest to share her interests and passions with her children. A widow since 1956, she had been a dedicated member of "Chayanaut" since the early 60's when the organisation was tion that was unique.

Noted cultural maestro and painter, Imdad Hossain, an active associate of Shamsunnahar Ahmed and her group, related a fact that some were possibly not aware of, namely that her husband compiled the famous song on the language movement "Mrityu-key jara toochho korilo / bhasha bachabaar taurey / aajikey shoriyo tarey".

As the evening came to an end, it was obvious that the memory of Shamsunnahar Ahmed was still very much alive in the hearts and minds of many people. Those who had shared the elation and challenges of the cultural activism of the past could never forget her. And those who came later, but were brought up hearing about the early days, were always going to be impressed by the symbolism and the contribution of this eminent personality on the cultural heritage of this land.

In conclusion, another song was the grand finale. Sung by Laiza Ahmed Lisa and her group, the song "Aaguner poroshmoni chhoao praney / E jibon punno koro," brought the evening to a perfect end.

"Chayanaut", deservingly won praise from all present for arranging the evening dedicated to a person who ignored self-interest to serve the cause of humanity.
