No contradiction between PM's security law and caretaker govt: Amu

BSS, Dhaka

Food Minister Amir Hossain Amu said yesterday there is no contradiction between the concept of caretaker government and the formulation of a new law to ensure security of Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina after handing over of state power.

"Sheikh Hasina's security has been threatened more in recent days as the trial proceedings of the Bangabandhu murder case are in the final stage," he said.

He said repeated attempts to kill Sheikh Hasina were foiled at home and abroad and in the recent past killers of Father of the Nation held meetings in the Netherlands to kill the Prime Minister.

"Even the conspirators tried to kill Sheikh Hasina in London," he said while addressing the publication ceremony of a book titled "Bangladesh: Rajniti, Sarker O Shasamtantrik Unnayan 1757-2000 (Bangladesh: Politics, Governance and Administrative Reform)" written by Dr Harun-or-Rashid.

Vice-chancellor of Dhaka University Prof A K Azad Chowdhury attend the ceremony as the special guest while Prof Shamsul Huda Harun chaired the function. Eminent historian Prof K M Mohsin, former pro-vice-chancellor of the National University Prof Borhanuddin Khan Zahangir, renowned journalist Santosh Gupta and author Dr Harun-or-Rashid took part in the discussion.

Addressing the function, Amir Hussain Amu said people may think that those who do not want that Sheikh Hasina remains alive have been opposing the enactment of the proposed law aimed at ensuring total security of the proud daughter of the country's founding father.

Black money, illegal arms pose threat to free, fair polls

Former CEC suggests one polling centre for 500 voters

UNB, Dhaka

Former chief election commissioner Justice Mohammad Abdur Rouf says threats of black money and illegal arms to peaceful holding of elections have increased since the fifth parliamentary polls he conducted in 1991.

But, after a meeting with Chief Election Commissioner MA Syed yesterday Rouf said he is optimistic that the coming election can be freed from arms, money and other evil influences as the system allows all concerned work independently.

Representing Bureau of Human Rights Bangladesh, the former CEC made a number of suggestions to make the election free, fair and transparent. Highlights of his recommendations were increasing polling centers and counting centrally in headquarters of a constituency.

"We have proposed for taking the polling centers close to the voters. To make the voting more free and fair, we suggested one center for every 500 voters," Justice Rouf told waiting journalists emerging from the meeting with the CEC at the latter's office.

Terming vote counting a sensitive affair, the former CEC recommended that the ballots be counted centrally in the headquarters of the constituencies. For this, he suggested completing the polling by 12 noon and said it is possible if only 500 voters cast their votes in one center.

In support of his contention of central counting, he said it will help the voters cast votes without fear. "Following it, one candidate will not know how many votes he bagged in a certain center. So he will not be able to press a community to vote in his favour."

The former CEC, in this respect, mentioned that minority people in some cases are barred by influential candidates either refraining from voting or forced them to vote for them. "The central counting system will remove their fear," he said.

Officials at the Election Commission, however, say setting up one polling center for 500 voters is not possible on security ground. His proposal means about 1.5 lakh centers for some 7.48 crore voters. But the country doesn't have adequate security men to cover the proposed centres.

The BHRB delegation also included Dr SAM Faiz, Justice Abdul Wahab, Dr Hasanuzzaman Chowdhury, Prof UAB Razia Akhter Banu, Bishop BD Mondol, Khandaker Ruhul Amin, Alhaj SMA Hossain, Mohammad Shahjahan, Nurul Islam Farrique and Abdullah Babu.

Earlier in the day, a 10-member delegation of Jatiya Samjtantrik Dal met with Chief Election Commissioner MA Syed. They made a 31-point suggestion for amending the electoral rules. The JSD leaders talked about other election matters.

JSD president and Fisheries and Livestock Minister ASM Rob led the delegation. Other members were Hasanul Haq Inu, Nur Alam Ziku, Moin Uddin Khan Badal, Zafar Sazzad, Shirin Akhter, Abdul Malek Ratan, Iqbal Hussain Khan, Ataul Karim Faruq and Nazmul Haq Prodhan.
