REAZ AHMAD, from Rangpur

Awami League President Sheikh Hasina yesterday said that the five-year rule of her party was a "golden era" in the history of Bangladesh.

On the second day of her three-day campaign, Sheikh Hasina spent some time at Pircganj under Rangpur-6 constituency from where she is contesting the coming election.

"My government had sanctioned crores of taka for development of Pircganj but the former MP (Mondal) misappropriated substantial amounts from the funds. He is now spending the funds for his election campaign.

"He (Mondal) is a betrayer. He assured me that he would contest from Pircganj on Awami League ticket this time. But he left Jatiya Party (Manju) to join JP (Ershad) and is now contesting with plough election symbol."

Dispute over land, earning from school led to Mister murder

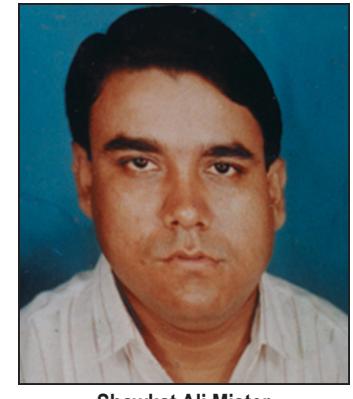

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Shawkat Ali Mister, Commissioner of DCC Ward No. 12 in Mirpur, was killed due to dispute over land and sharing of earning from a local school, Investigation Officer (IO) of the case DB Inspector Jalal Uddin told the Daily Star yesterday.

Shawkat Ali had disputes with Barkat Ali Boston over sharing earnings from the Boston International School at Mirpur-1 and with one Shah Alam in the area, the IO said. Shawkat Ali and Barkat Ali had jointly set up the school some years ago.

The IO said investigation into the murder is "almost complete" and they are "preparing to submit charge sheet" although only one of the seven FIR-named accused has been arrested in the last 25 days since the murder.

The seven accused named in the FIR filed by Shawkat's wife Runa Akhtar are Barkat Ali alias Boston, the principal accused, Shah Alam, Hafizur Rahman, DCC Commissioner of Ward no-7 in Mirpur Mohammad Hossain, Mohsin, Siddique and Sarwar.

Police so far arrested Shah Alam and two suspects Sohrab and Kanchan, a relative of Shawkat Ali. Sohrab, a teacher of Boston International School was arrested from the school and Kanchan from Kishoreganj, from where Shawkat Ali hailed.

The rest six FIR-named accused are hiding. Two of them fled to India, a police official said seeking anonymity.

The IO said that during interrogation the arrested three gave "important information" regarding the murder.

Talking to this correspondent over mobile phone, the IO said he along with a DB team is now "outside Dhaka" to nab an accused in the case. But he did not disclose where they were.

Shawkat Ali Mister, a BNP leader and nomination seeker for Kishoreganj-1 parliamentary seat, was shot dead in front of his residence at Ahmednagar Paikpara at Mirpur in the city on August 25. Some unidentified gunmen sprayed bullets on him as he boarded a taxi to go to BNP office to face interview for party nomination.

In the FIR, Shawkat's wife had also alleged that her husband wanted his due share of the earnings from the school, which led to his dispute with Barkat Ali Boston.

Police in their forward report earlier said that Shawkat had a dispute with Shah Alam for long over possession land.

Move to save 'dying' sugarcane industry

BSIDF places recommendations

REAZ AHMAD

The caretaker government is considering a check on the staggering revenue loss the country incurs due to cross-border smuggling of sugar.

Finance Advisor Hafizuddin Khan yesterday told The Daily Star that the issue was brought to his notice; and the Bangladesh Sugarcane Industry Development Forum (BSIDF) submitted a paper with recommendations to save the limping, yet prospective sugarcane industry.

"An inter-ministerial consultation is needed to address this issue of national and economic interests," Khan said.

According to an expert estimate, Bangladesh incurs a loss of Tk 350 crore in revenues a year thanks to the smuggled sugar that meets almost half of the demand.

At least half a million metric tons of smuggled sugar enters the Bangladesh market each year due to wide disparity in prices between the smuggled and the domestically produced sugar, noted experts.

The cost of production of sugar in the state-run mills stands at Tk 45 per kilogram, which is sold at Tk 27.50, which amounts to a loss of Tk 17.50 per kilogram or Tk 175 crore for the production of one lakh MT at home.

The loss is subsidised by the government from Tk 225 crore in revenues earned through import of some two and a half lakh MT of sugar from external markets.

Although the government imports sugar at a much cheaper

BTV, ETV to telecast polls results live

UNB, Dhaka

Election Commission finally decided that Bangladesh Television and Ekushey Television would jointly telecast the election results live from its Secretariat.

It was decided at a meeting of the EC with representatives of the state-owned BTV and private ETV amid differences among two major political parties on the issue.

Awami League was demanding that the private channels be allowed to directly telecast results while BNP was in favour of only BTV for what it said to avoid any confusion.

Chief Election Commissioner MA Syed presided over the meeting that, for the first time in country's history, allowed a private channel to telecast live the results from EC control room.

The meeting emphasised ensuring transparency and reliability in disseminating election results and took the decision of joint telecast by the BTV and ETV.

Three Election Commissioners, senior officials at the EC Secretariat and representatives of the BTV and ETV were present. They will meet again today to chalk out modalities of the transmission.

Briefing newsmen a spokesman at the EC Secretariat said there would be a common booth and common presenters for the two TV channels for live telecast of the election results.

Replying to a volley of queries as to why a private channel is being allowed for live telecast from the EC control room he said the decision was taken much earlier as all media should have access.

"Only change that took place is

People will bury AL thru' ballot, says Khaleda

REZAUL KARIM AND AMINUL ISLAM, from Mymensingh

BNP Chairperson Khaleda has said people of the country are now waiting to 'bury Awami League politically' through ballot in the October 1 general election.

The people will not vote for the 'corrupt, terrorist, repressive and fascist' Awami League (AL) again and will reject it in the polls, she said while addressing a mammoth election meeting at Mymensingh Circuit House ground yesterday.

Tens of thousands of people from far and near converged on the meeting venue to listen to the former prime minister. They started gathering at the venue since morning.

Amid repeated clapping and applause, the BNP chief said the four-party alliance led by her party would form the next government after the polls. No 'evil force' would be able to resist victory of 'sheaf of paddy' (BNP's election symbol) this time.

The meeting was organised in favour of BNP candidate in Mymensingh-4 (Sadar) constituency.

and phenesidyl to them to destroy the backbone of the nation.

In this context, she said if the alliance is voted to power, it would create employment opportunity for the youths and women by setting up IT village and IT institutions in each district, providing loans for self-employment and setting up industries.

"We will also take up such programmes under which youths could get good jobs abroad," she said.

The AL came to power in 1996 not through voting but by rigging polls, capturing polling centres and through administrative coup. But this time the people are highly alert and will not allow the 'evil forces' to rig polls and snatch victory of the BNP-led alliance, Khaleda said.

"If voted to power, we will put corrupt Awami League men on trial and take account of the public wealth and money looted by them while in power."

Khaleda said that instead of creating job opportunity for the youths, AL rulers had given arms

Army personnel preparing to camp at Lohajang in the trouble-torn Munshiganj district. Government on Tuesday deployed army in four districts.
