

Hasina's final warning to rebel AL candidates

UNB, Dhaka

Awami League President Sheikh Hasina has sent letters cautioning for the last time the dissident AL candidates not to remain in the electoral race as independent candidates, ignoring the party parliamentary board's decision.

In the letters sent to around 30 rebels, she said Awami League must win this crucial election to save the people and the nation from the conspiracy of BNP-Jamaat axis, protect their right to vote and food and carry on AL's development programmes.

"But continuation of candidature, violation of party decision and work against the party-nominated candidates would tantamount to helping BNP-Jamaat come to power. It is also against the party constitution and discipline," she warned, barely a week before the polls.

The party chief gave final directive to them to stand aside from the contest and work for the party-

Khaleda would have been jailed if corruption cases were tried: Hasina

UNB, Natore

Former Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina has said if corruption cases against BNP leaders Khaleda Zia, Saifur Rahman and others had been tried, they would have been jailed just like Ershad.

"The High Court had stayed those cases of corruption against many BNP ministers and MPs, including Khaleda Zia and Saifur Rahman ... Had there been trial, they would have faced the fate of Ershad, jailed and declared disqualified for the election."

Hasina made the remarks addressing a about dozen scheduled and unscheduled election rallies in Natore and part of Rajshahi districts yesterday.

Terming the rule of BNP as a symbol of corruption and terrorism, she said BNP chief Khaleda Zia got two qualities how to make fortune through corruption and harbour terrorism.

Hasina alleged that BNP-Jamaat armed goons were unleashing terrorism in different areas fearing debacle in the October 1 election.

Accusing "BNP-Jamaat terrorists" of intimidating minority community voters, the AL chief urged the district administrations, including the DCs and SPs, to ensure that those voters could vote safely.

Amidst cheers and clappings, Hasina said people irrespective of caste, creed and culture are ready to vote for Awami League to send it back to power. "Inshaallah, we will form the next government with landslide victory," she told a huge election rally at Singra Court ground.

At a rally at Kanaikhal Bus Stand in Natore town, she introduced her party candidates Momtaz Uddin from Natore-1, Hanif Ali Sheikh from Natore-2, Shajahan Ali from

People do not want to see AL misrule again: Khaleda

REZAUL KARIM, From Sylhet

BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia yesterday said the people want peace and development, they do not want to see the country return to the Awami League (AL) misrule after the October 1 general election.

"The Awami League during its last five years rule had snatched away security of life and property of the people ... even it does not allow the people to sleep in peace," she said.

Addressing electoral meetings in different parts of Sylhet and Sunamganj districts, she said the patriotic people have decided to vote for sheaf of paddy because they realise that the BNP served the country much better than any other party did.

The BNP chief flew in here at 11:10am on a three-day electoral tour. She first addressed a massive gathering at Companiganj Upazila Parishad ground to campaign for four-party alliance candidate and former finance minister M Saifur Rahman who is running in the Sylhet-1 constituency.

Khaleda returned to Dhaka late Saturday night on completion of her three-day tour of the northern region. She resumed electoral campaign after an eight-hour recess.

Tens of thousands of people from far and wide converged on the venue, while hundreds of others listened to Khaleda standing on rooftops of buildings and climbing trees close by as the meeting venue was jam packed.

She said while in office the AL was busy looting property and plundering the government exchequers in the name of development.

Moreover, it unleashed a reign of terror on the opposition and on the common people, and made Bangladesh the number one corrupt country in the world.

"Bangladesh is not a corrupt country and its people are not corrupt. Awami League is a corrupt and fascist party. We have to shrug

US sanctions on India and Pakistan lifted

Move to freeze Taliban assets

REUTERS, Washington

Rewarding his allies and preparing to punish his foes, US President George W Bush waived US sanctions on Pakistan and India as more ships and warplanes headed into position for a potential strike on Afghanistan.

The lifting of sanctions, imposed on the two countries in 1998 for their nuclear tests, had been widely expected after Pakistan agreed to cooperate with the United States in its hunt for Osama bin Laden, prime suspect in last week's hijacked airliner assaults on America and believed sheltering in Afghanistan.

It was among several steps Bush took on Saturday night to confront the crisis unleashed by the Sept. 11 attacks that left more than 6,800 people dead or missing, pitched the world closer to economic recession and has triggered the US military's biggest mobilisation since the 1991 Gulf War.

US officials said Bush was also expected soon to issue an executive order designating specific groups and individuals as "terrorists" in a move designed to lock up their assets in the United States and starve them of financial support.

Afghanistan's Taliban government, which calls bin Laden a "guest", insisted again yesterday it would hand over Saudi-born bin Laden only if evidence of his involvement in the attacks was provided. Bin Laden denies he had a hand in the plot.

"There is no change in our decision. American demands are not in favour of Muslims and Afghans and we are not ready to accept this," Taliban spokesman Abdul Hai Mutamaen said, according to the Pakistan-based Afghan Islamic Press agency.

The Taliban, a hard-line Islamic movement that controls most of Afghanistan, appeared increasingly isolated after the United Arab Emirates, one of just three states to have recognised their hold on power, severed diplomatic ties.

European Union finance ministers, meeting in Liege, Belgium, agreed to speed up ratification of an existing UN resolution calling for the freezing of the Taliban's assets.

Recruiters' malpractice squeezing scope for overseas jobs

Workshop today to find remedial steps

REAZ AHMAD

The country is losing its competitive edge in international job markets primarily because of malpractice by some manpower recruiters and lack of government initiative to protect foreign wage earners' interest, sources said.

Experts and repatriated migrant labourers have been lobbying with the authorities concerned for a set of specific steps towards enhancing the country's earning from remittance by over three million Bangladeshis working abroad. According to official statistics, the remittance volume currently hovers around Tk 9000 crore per year.

The Ministry of Labour and Employment is set to organise a workshop today to discuss an entire gamut of issues arising out of numerous complaints of alleged mismanagement in this sector.

Chief Advisor Latifur Rahman will inaugurate the workshop that would dwell upon such crucial issues as recruitment process, institutional consolidation and migrants' interest. As many as four advisors of the caretaker government are also expected to participate in the programme.

When contacted the labour and employment secretary told The Daily Star that he was not in a position to say anything in advance about the workshop.

Earlier this month, a Welfare Association of Repatriated Bangladeshi Employees (WARBE) delegation met Rokia Afzal Rahman, advisor in charge of labour and employment, to apprise her of the Bangladeshi workers' problems and suggested some remedial measures.

The WARBE delegation highlighted random flouting of government rules by recruitment agencies, which charge employment seekers exorbitant fees for overseas jobs with very poor pay.

It also demanded that the immigration department at the Zia
