Cooperatives Day
Fresh vow to eradicate poverty

BSS, Dhaka

The 30th National Cooperative Day was observed across the country yesterday with a fresh vow to eradicate poverty through united and integrated efforts.

The main theme of this year's observance of the day is "The role of cooperatives in the socio-economic development of Bangladesh in the perspective of the changing global economy."

In observance of the day, the directorate of cooperatives took elaborate programmes, including hoisting of cooperatives flags, holding of colourful rallies of the cooperators, discussions, symposiums and cultural functions.

In a message on this occasion, Prime Minister Khaleda Zia expressed her confidence that the cooperative movement will gain more popularity among the people following the measures undertaken for its gradual flourishing.

Khaleda Zia described cooperative movement as a great philosophy leading to economic revolution and said that this movement spearheaded in this country through concerted efforts for poverty alleviation leading to economic emancipation.

While addressing a discussion as Chief Guest, the LGRD and Cooperatives Minister Abdul Mannan Bhuiyan stressed the need to create able leadership in the country to lead the cooperative movement towards its cherished goal for achieving socio-economic emancipation of the common people.

The discussion on "The role of cooperatives in socio-economic development of Bangladesh and the challenges of the current century", was organised by the directorate of cooperatives at the BCIC auditorium here.

Minister of State for LGRD and Cooperatives Ziaul Haq, Deputy Minister of the same ministry Ruhul Quddus Talukder Dulu, BRDB Director General Karar Mahmudul Hassan and Joint Secretary (administration) of the ministry also spoke on the occasion while Registrar of the directorate Khandker Shahidul Islam presided.
