Exibition Drawing in bold strokes

The 16th solo painting exhibition of Kanak Chanpa Chakma, at Divine Art Gallery at Sonargaon Hotel, is a bold narrative on life in hill tracts

FAYZA HAQ AND SAIFUL ISLAM

ANAK Chanpa Chakma's solo exhibition, now being held at the Divine Art Gallery, will be remembered by the gallery-goers for its vibrant colours and deft strokes.

Kanak Chanpa said, " This exhibition is different from earlier ones in the sense that earlier ones had only featured paintings while the current show mostly include sketches. I wanted to express my liking and longings in a manner that took a different path from my expositions before. The play of colours and strokes have gone through a metamorphosis. There is therefore a new vision in my work where black and grey lines are faintly touched with a few colours .I wanted to bring in something nouveau in my latest display so that the viewers would get a taste of something varied and thought-provoking. I don't want the art lovers to think that I have fallen into a rut and do the same type of work again and again. Every viewer wants something fresh in every new exhibit and that is why I have chosen this new path.

Kanak is true to her hill tract background and to her womanhood. And it will not be a mistake if we trace the traces of a Chakma woman in the drawings of Kanak. A Chakma woman is present in, so to say, every painting of Kanak. Well, there are works where we do not see them as a character, but it seems that their essence dominate every bit of the sky and the landscape painted on the canvas, an essence which always purvey the very scent of the hilly Chittagong. In some images the Chakma woman is waiting, perhaps for the return of her companion; waiting, perhaps for the moon to come out of the veil of cloud in its full glow; waiting, perhaps to be painted by an artist who is endowed with a similar heart, a heart which can share the pathos and the mirth as well. Kanak bores in her that heart. that eve of an artist that can trace the shades and colors of the feelings in the hilly people. Through her paintings the artist gives this very personal mood a universal stature. Her drawings always come with a fresh look and a new style, but with always a familiar landscape and universal appeal.

Dwelling on the objective of her work, Kanak Chanpa says, "As before there is landscape combined with tribal figures. I want to keep to my original themes with different presentation each time. The simplification is the new mode of expression in this present exhibition. Since I am born and brought up in the Chittagong Hill Tracts it is the images and impressions from home that attract and done on this theme by other paint-with this theme again and again. inspire me and egg me on to work. I You can well envisage the reason feel committed to present my behind my attraction for this origin to viewers so that they too theme of the untouched beauty of the tribal life with their dancing, will grow to be familiar with it and cultivation of 'jhum chash', fishing enjoy it as much as I do. I hope that viewers 50 to 100 years later will and taking pleasure in everyday take pleasure from it and learn life.

The subject of her works is varied and indigenous. Concentrated upon the surface culture and day to day life of the hilly people. Her brush covers common sights; from Mru music to festive woman sipping wine; from the pathos of Kata Pahar to the mirth of friendship; from the silence of night to the amber golden optimism of sun; from the whisper of the leaves to the babble of the brook The use of colour in her works reflect another part of the artist's being. Though a lot of abstraction is present the evocative bright colours in bold deep strokes point toward her optimistic self.

In Drawing-1 we see tall blue tree trunks, touched with black, with the turquoise sky seen between the trunks and a touch of yellow for its clumps of leaves on top. The sides have been left bare and the pathway in between the trees is a pale blue. The strokes are deft and subtle as also are the tones of shades in acrylic.

More trees are brought in Drawing-2, acrylic, where a tree trunk is done in yellow, red, green and orange, with a green bird nesting atop. The slopes of the hills are brought in the backdrop as also thatched houses in sketches of gray and black. The bold contrasting colours are something new in Kanak Chanpa's repertoire

Kanak Chanpa got the 2001 Best Prize , Women of the XX1 Century, Latin American Art Museum, Miami, USA. In 1993 she got Mid American Art Alliance Fellowship Award, USA, and in 1992 she won the 2nd prize in the International Miniature Art competition, Florida, USA. She has taken part in 97 group exhibitions, including in places like Bonn, Florida, the Hague, New York and Paris.

A day to treasure

A day-long colourful Korea Bazaar, organised as part of the ongoing Korea Week, has been a great crowd-puller fair of Korean apparel and food items was held at the L residence of the Korean Ambassador in Dhaka yesterday.

Korea Bazaar, sponsored by the expatriate Korean community here in Dhaka, has been a regular a regular event for some time now. This year coinciding with the celebration of the Korea Week, the Bazaar had assumed added colour and offered a rich variety of items to the liking of the enthusiasts and shoppers

The chief host of the event Hyoock Jung, wife of the Ambassador inaugurated the Bazaar at 11 in the morning.

"Korean stalls feature regularly in the WVA meena bazars in Dhaka since long and we have had a close link with the voluntary association's fund-raising programme. The proceeds from the sale at the stalls both at the WVA fair and Korea bazaar have always been donated to various charitable funds of Bangladeshi schools, hospitals and particularly to that of the Womens' Voluntary Association", said Jung.

Jackets were available at a rather cheap rate

Sixteen stalls were erected on the lush green lawn of the Ambassador's residence where various kinds of garment items including pull over, jacket, shirt and caps, for both men and women, besides for children, were put on for sale. D.S. Chung, Head of Chancery, who was in charge of the public relation matters, explained various features of the day-long affair to the distinguished guests.

Food and soft-drink stalls at the Korea bazaar introduced some unique dishes of Korean origin. Preparations of shrimp, vegetable community to have a taste of Bevim-BOB which too, featured a mixed preparation of vegetable and rice with an assortment of exotic spices.

Kkim-BOB, a favourite dish in Korea, was a relishing item in the bazar and rice garnished with oriental spice had been a relishing experience for the visitors. Shrimp like Kkakddo-Ki and the garden was seen displaying attractive key holders and tiny magnetic accessories with Korean national emblem Mohammad Shata Jarob, Ambassador of Palestine in Bangladesh, who was shopping around, observed that this kind of arrangement seemed to be excellent and perfect to project ones' cultural heritage in a foreign land.

Ziauddin Ahmed, a business executive, felt that strengthening of bilateral friendship could be achieved very easily through holding of such bazaars. As an expert in the trading sector, Ziauddin, like most other visitors, seemed content with the price range of the items

The Korea Bazaar, in all account, was the cynosure of the Dhaka's shoppers and enthusiasts. The memories of great food and nice outing would be treasured by all who paid a visit to the fair.

Organised by the Korean Embassy in Dhaka and co-sponsored by the Ministry of ultural Affairs, Ministry of Information and The Daily Star, the Bazaar was held as part of the ongoing Korea Week.
