Touching the sky

A two-day musical extravaganza featuring three rising stars of contemporary Indian Classical music firmament begins November 12 in city

HE great Indian singer Kumar Gandharva said that Indian classical music is like a code. It's a complex code, but once you crack it, you have unfolding before you a whole vista of things wondrous, joyous and indescribably beautiful." Music lovers of the city will have before them a wondrous world unfolding as three performers -- Mallar Ghosh, Shantanu Bhattacharyya, and Purbayan Chatterjee -- of classical Indian music takes them in a world of transcendental purity.

The two-day rendezvous of classical Indian music begins with the tabla recital of Mallar Ghosh. son of legendary musician Dr. Jana Prakas Ghosh, followed by a vocal recital by Shantanu Bhattacharyya, a brilliant exponent of Patiala-Kasur gharana and direct disciple of Ustad Bade Ghulam Ali Khan at National Museum Auditorium at 7 in the evening.

The second day of the two-day musical tour, Purbayan Chatterjee gives a sitar recital presenting and elaborating the nuances of Senai Maihar Gharana, one of the great schools of Indian classical music.

Mallar Ghosh, to be accompanied by Siddheswar Bhowmik in harmonium, is one of the finest tabla players in contemporary Indian musical scene. His illustrious father Padmabhushan Dr. Jana Prakash Ghosh initiated him into

Learning and realising the innermost message of tabla in its entirety has always been Mallar's passion. For the last 25 years, Mallar has spent long hours in the practice cultivation and development of this great percussion art.

Mallar is an 'A' Grade tablaperformer of the All India Radio. He has participated in all the major music festivals of India and toured extensively all over the world including Europe, USA and Japan. Apart from his solo performances, Mallar has accompanied on tabla a number of great classical vocalists and instrumentalists of India.

Mallar has innumerable audiodiscs to his credit. Recently, Mallar has founded the Jana Prakash Ghosh Tabla Foundation, an institution of tabla of which he is the Founder-Secretary. Besides,

Mallar Ghosh

Mallar is the head of the Department of Tabla of the Sur Nandan Bharaty, Calcutta. He is a professor of tabla and a member of the Executive Committee of the Sarba Bharatiya Sangeet-O-Sanskriti Parishad, Calcutta. He is also the head of the Department of the Music-Faculty of The Uttar Banga Charukala Kendra, West

Shantanu Bhattacharyya whose singing depicts a wonderful mosaic of delicate imagination, exquisite creativity and the best of "talim", was groomed in music by his mother in his childhood. In 1984, at the age of fifteen, Shantanu came under the guidance of Pandit Prasun Banerjee and Shrimati Meera Banerjee, the great exponents of the Patiala-Kasur style and direct disciples of Ustad Bade Ghulam Ali Khan. His endeavour to appreciate and learn the greatness and majesticity of this 'gayaki' grew stronger when, selected as a scholar at the Sangeet Research Academy, at Calcutta in 1994, he chose to be a disciple of Pandit Ajoy Chakrabarty, the celebrated maestro. Shantanu's music shows that he is being comprehensively nurtured in all aspects of the Khayal style- he lacks nothing, has an inborn flair for everything, tanally well-fed, sumptuous swara, an unfaltering sense of rhythm with npay sargams and tans making a lively sport with it and music as a whole, from one end to another, never relaxing its grip over the

An 'A' graded artiste of AIR and Doordarshan, Shantanu was awarded the prestigious AIR Gold Medal for winning first prizes in Khayal and Thumri, at AİR music competition in 1989. He top ranked the Dover Lane Music Conference's competition, the West Bengal State Music Academy's competition and that of the Bharatiya Sanskriti Samsad in 1986, 1987, 1988 and 1996 respectively, for Khayal and Thumri.

Now at thirty-two, he has already performed at almost all the major music conferences in India. He has also toured USA, UK France, Germany, Switzerland, Kuwait and Bangladesh for concerts, recordings and lecture demonstration sessions. He has several cassettes of Khayal, Thumri, Bhajan and his own composed music to his credit.

Purbayan Chatterjee is already one of the brightest stars shining on the horizon of Indian Classical Music. Belonging to the Senia Maihar Gharana founded by Baba Alauddin Khan, Purbayan has the responsibility of bearing on his young shoulders the rich legacy of Pandit Nikhil Banerjee and Ustad Ali Akar Khan. Purbayana's first guru was his father Sri Parthapratim Chatterjee, a senior disciple of Pt. Nikhil Banerjee and Ustad Ali Akbar Khan and himself an internationally acclaimed sitarist. After years of relentless practice, Purbayan was fortunate enough to be accepted by Ustad Ali Akbar Khan as his pupil and he is currently receiving 'talim' from the Purbayan made his maiden appearance in the "Salt Lake Music Conference" in Calcutta. Since then his concerts have taken him to all the corners of India and beyond national frontiers into the farthest corners of the globe. He has per formed in all the major music "conferences" in different cities in India as in many major music festivals internationally (Such as the International Music Festival in Bath England and International Music Symposium in Germany) He has extensively toured the United States, Canada, UK, Germany, Switzerland, Holland, Indonesia and Singapore. In the year 1993 Purbayan was conferred the President's Gold Medal for having secured the position of "Best Instrumentalist of the Year" in the "All India Radio Sangeet Competition." Purbayan has further been able to enrich his style of playing by receiving musical advice from Ajay Chakrabarty and Anindo Chatterjee. Today Purbayan is acclaimed by the topmost maestros in India as well as connoisseurs of music worldwise as one of the best young instrumentalist of India. His style of playing of which Pt. Nikhil Banerjee was the exponent is the most esthetically satisfying combination of the best facets of "Dhrupad" and "Khayal". The depth discipline and richness of the "Dhrupad" form are interspersed with the exuberance and lyricism of "Khayal." In a unique display of maturity Purbayan is able to combine technical brilliance and virtuosity of the highest level with depth and serenity. He will be accompanied by Ashish Paul in tabla.

Feeling the emotions and nuances of classical Indian music is said to be touching the sky. Dhaka's music lovers eagerly wait that experience to happen on November 12-13 at National Museum auditorium.

CULTURE

HE three Korian films being shown at the BRAC centre INN auditorium are characteristically similar in nature, focusing on the rare moments of everyday life, which has universal

In fact, all of them have been able to extract a sigh from the audience. It is noticeable that the films suffused with currents of emotion are not unfamiliar to the Bangladeshi audience, at least the values are familiar, and as the people of both the countries belong to the same continent, the geographical feature of imbuing a soft heart is a natural feature.

Stairways of Heaven, Oseam Hermitage, and The Day a Pig Fell into a Well are the three films shown in different schedules on 6,7, and 9 November at the BRAC centre Inn Auditorium (75 Mohakhali, Dhaka). The film festival was organized by Embassy of the Korea Republic and was sponsored by Ministry of Information, Bangladesh and The Daily Star. Stairways of Heaven was produced by Lee Wu-seok and was directed by Bae Chang-ho. Written by Choi In-ho it garbed several awards: Prize of new actress (Lee A Ro), Special prize at 30th Dae Jong Award/Prize of Film, Director, New Actres at 28th Baek Sang Art Award, Special Deed (Lee Kwon-seok) at 12th Film Critics Award, Playing at 13th Golden Photograph/Good Film of 1991. Based on the ups and downs of a city woman the film justifies its end with a message, a return to the bucolic world. Hands away from the glamour and grandeur of the ostentatious and greedy city world where life seems to be a jigsaw puzzle, a never-ending labyrinth. Lee A-ro here gives a class perfor-performance in the climactic scene of an emotionally charged womanhood facing the question-arrows by the press just after the death of her daughter, her only hope, is unforgettable. Oseam Hermitage produced by Lee Tae-Won was written by Jeaon Chae-bong. Park Cheolsu directed this Religious Drama. Kim Hye-su, Shim Jaerim, Seo Ye-jin, Cho Sagn-Keon, Choi Jong-won, Kim Yong-rim, Nam Po-dong, Song Ok-suk, Cheon Ho-jin starred the film. It was awarded with the Good Film of 1990. The story goes Kil-son and Gam-yi are brother and sister who were brought up in an orphanage run by Catholic Institute. They give up the well-conditioned adoption because they can't forget their memory and home and above all they do not want to be separated from each other. Giving the orphanage adieu they start afresh. But tribulations and danger await them as their native town is waterlogged. Meanwhile little Gam-yi is raped. Monk Haeng wun turns up and helps them with shelter. Another disaster takes place when the Monk goes out for alms, snow blokes the way to the hermitage. Sister Angela Barley arrives at this situation, but it is too late. The little couplet rests at their last

The Day a Pig Fell into a Well was directed by Hong Sang-su. Koo Hyo-seo produced this Lee Eung-Kyeong, Kim Yui-seong and Park Jin-seong starred melodrama. The story is about a frustrated novelist's life who sticks in producing the so called bad books one after another.
