Trade Commission of the French Embassy for the first time brings Paris Spring / Summer 2002 Haute Couture collection in Dhaka in March next year

ZIAUL KARIM & AZIZ AMIRUL

HE glamour and glitz from the capital of world fashion, Paris, will be on the ramp in Dhaka in March 2002: This exciting news was disclosed at a press conference organised by the Trade Commission of the French Embassy on November 12.

The fashion spectacular, to be held on March 14, 2002 at the Ball room of Pan Pacific Sonargaon Hotel, features some of the big names in contemporary fashion mainstream such as Paco Rabanne, John Galliano, Pierre Balmain, and Jean-Paul Gaultier. The other fashion Mughals who will make the event a high profile one are Lolita Lempicka, Alexander McQueen, Montana, Thierry Mugler, Sonia Rykiel, Emanuel Ungaro and Vivienne Westwood. The ravishing event of beauty striking an intimate synergy with fashion statement is a relishing piece of news for fashion conscious people of the city and as well as for the people who are associated with the country's fledgling fashion industry.

The Dhaka-Paris catwalk will also co-feature riches of traditional and tribal Bangladeshi weaving and embroidery creating a great platform for local designers to take a leaf from their illustrious counterpart's book. The muchawaited catwalk at Sonargaon Hotel will also initiate interaction between local and guest models from Paris. The crossing of models will provide a rare opportunity for Bangladeshi models to learn the art of fashion modeling from Europe's top models.

A foretaste of the animating experience of the sights and was experienced at the press conference when a video clipping of the past event, held in New Zealand, was screened. Elisabeth Yearbury, Commercial and Administrative Attaché at France Embassy in the city, informed that the Dhaka event was basically a sequel to Parisian couture in New Commission of the Frer ed by

of the mega-fashion spectacular due in March 2002 Zealand

Literally a catalyst to the Paris Couture that visits Dhaka in March, Elisabeth Yearbury had been the initiator of the New Zealand fashion extravaganza. Like a magnet Yearbury pulls the Paris couture wherever she travels.

Posted in Dhaka early this year, Yearbury explored the opportunity that was there to be tapped and also thought of creating an interactive platform for Bangladeshi sounds of Parisian fashion world designers and models." If the Paris designer finds the traditional and tribal embroidery and weaving of Bangladesh interesting that would be the best part of the whole effort," said fashion aficionado Yearbury.

> Introducing and unveiling the ideas and motivation behind this special fashion event to the media, the press preview was also > attended by Pierre Boëdoz, French

Trade Commissioner in Dhaka, representatives of the two official sponsors Kazi Zahurul Qyyum of Emirates and Paul Kirkham of Yearbury spoke a few words of gratitude for the guests and extended her special thanks to the sponsors and the Pan Pacific

Sonargaon Hotel for hosting the mega-event in city's cultural landscape. Later on, she briefed the newsmen about different perspective of the forthcoming show that would be introducing globally renowned designers, models and their creation to the

Elisabeth Yearbury: Chief promoter

Parisian fashion outside France, Yearbury said that she was involved in bringing glamour and excitement of Paris as the Deputy Trade Commissioner in Auckland, New Zealand in 1995. Auckland watched in awe as many as a hundred variety of haute couture > collections of various tastes and designs. The event tasted a resounding success and two more similar events took place in New Zealand and Australia to captivating audience.

The Spring/Summer 2002 "Haute Couture" Fashion Show of French & European Designers

Presented by the Trade Commission of the French Embassy in Dhaka

me", said Yearbury. "I want to promote new designs and designers in every corner of the globe".

She seemed to be well aware of the cultural scenario of Bangladesh. Here modern fashion had always been able to create an impact on the fashion sensitive community of the country.

Yearbury said though Bangladesh seemed an odd destination for holding a show of such stature, it could be a rewarding experience for the people of this part of the world where numerous occasions of spectacle had brought smiles to spreading the traditional spirit of the inhabitants in the past. The French Trade Commission in holding the forthcoming Dhaka event aims to bring different designers and models of international repute under a single event. The Commission believes in European culture among the local citizens through the event. A successful completion of the Summer / Spring High Fashion show here will, expects the organisers, put Bangladesh in the world fashion and designing map.

The exotic collection is worth over a million US dollar and would present about 100 silhouettes worn by 12 or more models both Bangladeshi and French.

The visiting Spring /Summer 2002 haute couture has been termed 'fusion fashion' by the French promoter, who holds high hopes about designers and models of Bangladesh. Arrangement of another press preview, weeks before the grand event in March was hinted at by the French representatives before rounding off the press conference.
