Scouting for future artists

6th Berger Young Painters Art Exhibition 2001 is now being held at Zainul Art Gallery

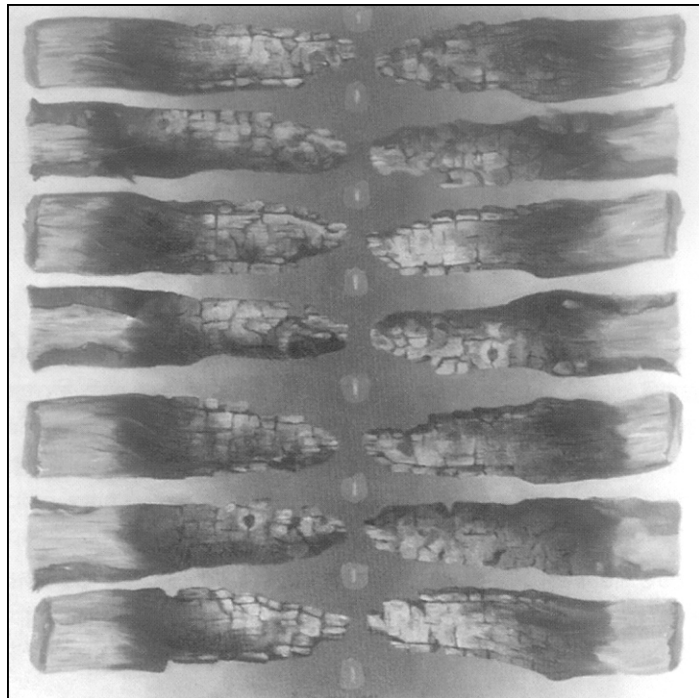

NAFID IMRAN AHMED

SINCE 1996 Berger Paints Bangladesh Limited has been organising painting competitions to encourage and promote the young painters of the country. And over the years the Berger Award has literally become a first stepping-stone for the budding artists on their path to greater success. An exhibition of selected artists, from the competition, is now going on at the Zainul Art Gallery, Institute of Fine Arts, University of Dhaka.

Then Berger in association with Institute of Fine Arts, University of Dhaka organised the painting exhibition, which began at the Zainul Gallery on November 13 and will continue till November 17.

Mohammad Salim won this year's first prize for his outstanding work titled Burnt Wood 1. Done in oil, the painting depicts a showcase of burnt woods. Mohammad Salim did his BFA (Bachelors in Fine Arts) from the Institute of Fine Arts, University of Dhaka.

Describing his work Salim said, "The whitish grey over pitch dark charcoal of firewood gives me an eye-soothing yet painful feeling. The way parched land expresses its pathetic reality in summer, I feel the same seeing the burnt firewood and use this experience as a metaphor for death and decay."

Winner of second prize Mrinal Kanty Das's painting is titled Life Around Us 1. Das has obtained his MA in Fine Arts from Chittagong University in 1996. He has participated in a number of exhibitions including 9th Asian Biennial and 13th Young Artists' Art Exhibition. While describing his own work he said, "time and again, apple appears to me as a symbol of beauty and cockroach as a symbol of ugliness. This strong conflict between beauty and ugliness occupies my subconscious."

"A poignant shapes and forms intermingling to each other in deep blue space, expresses joyful moments of human relationship", was how Suvash Kumar Dey described his award-winning work titled Image of Festival - 7. In this work he used many types of symbols and shapes to express the mood of festival.

The other two award winners Asma Sultana, for her painting Kites of Dream and Mohammad Wahiduzzaman for his outstanding work titled Experience of Mutable Time 15.

Wahiduzzaman also has a number of awards to his credit including the 1st prize at the 5th Berger Young Painters' Award 2000, 1st prize at Bangabandhu Art Competition organised by Graphic Arts, Dhaka, 3rd prize at the First Tone International Miniature Art exhibition. He has a diploma in printing technology from the Institute of Graphic Arts and a diploma in Fine Arts from BAFA.

The Song of Defiance, Monira Begum Lipe (Award Winner 3)

The exhibition also showcased the short-listed young painters of the competition. All of these works are interesting in their own way. They may not have won awards, but they all are worth looking at. Among these works Chaloman Samoy by Mohammad Ziaul Sakder, Khudha Nibarban by Zakir-us-Salam, Red Signal of Ozone Layer 9 by Uttam Kumar Roy and Storm 1 by Deepa Islam are outstanding.

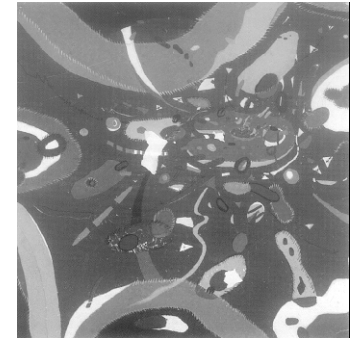

Any Bangladeshi artist aged between 18 and 35 years is eligible to take part in this competition.

This year the jury for the competition was made up of eminent artists and intellectuals of the country including Professor Hashem Khan as chairman and the other four members were Professor Abdus Shakoor Shah, Mahmudul Haque, Rafiqun Nabi and Syed Manzoorul Islam.

After the preliminary selection 40 paintings were short-listed from which 6 works were awarded through a ceremony on November 12. The awards include Tk. 25,000 for the first prize, Tk. 20,000 for the second, Tk. 15,000 for third and Tk. 10,000 each for three honourable mentions.

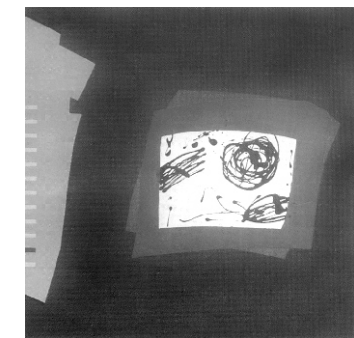

Berger did a great job in bringing all these young painters together, and on the top of it generating tremendous inspiration among the young painters and made an excellent platform available to them to express their creative self.
