HE Asian Art Biennale Bangladesh hosts artistic trend of the continent for the tenth time in a row here in Dhaka. It would be a proud moment for the Bangladesh Shilpakala Academy to host the forthcoming Asian art event from January 9 till February 8 next year, the first of its kind in Asia in the third millennium, revealed by Subir Chowdhury, Director of Fine Arts of the Academy. The opening ceremony is expected to take place at the Osmany Memorial Hall with the likely presence of the Prime Minister of Bangladesh. National Museum at Shahbagh has been selected as the third venue of the month long grand cultural affair. Eighteen years have gone by since the holding of the first Biennale in Bangladesh way back in the early eighties and it seemed that after each biennale episode, the prospects and potentials of Asian art have developed at a faster pace than the previous one.

The Biennale is termed as an Asian event but it has become a regular meeting site for the countries of Africa and Oceania, as well ! So far, 30 countries have confirmed their participation, some being old friends of the meet accompanied by sev-

A major endeavour of the organisers is to bring forth the entire group of participants under a single platform of Asian Sudan, Syria, United Arab and Pacific representation. Emirates, Uzbekistan and Subir believes the affair of the Asian Biennale will be a truly transcontinental one with Asia as the main location of focus. "The Biennale would personify our vision of a world where close bonds are achieved among people of diverse communal of receiving names of more background through cultural and entrants; Indonesia and artistic activities.

Subir Chowdhury feels that the congregation of artists could be a successful arena from where it would be possible to change the negative attitude of the commoners of this part of the globe against the works of the artists belonging to Islamic countries. It would be possible to reveal that artists of Islamic states also create modern art without following any orthodox ideology of various religious decrees. There was a strong fear among both the participants and organisers about the fate of the biennale in the wake of the US-Afghan conflict. But the confirmation of participation from cultural authorities of at least thirty countries from across three continents have, at last, brought an end to all kinds of doubt!

Added attractions of the event lie in the assorted status of painters and sculptures with individual participants also coming from Ministerial level of governments like the Cultural Minister of Egypt, a special guest of the Dhaka pinnacle.

Naoko MAJIMA, a Japanese artist who works with pencil on paper, is at the moment present in the city accompanied by a two-member advance team of observers. The pencil works of the female artist has some

Each and every drawing of the Japanese artist has specific theme different from the customary forms of sketch. The dense. uneven distribution of repeated etched patterns provide symbolic interpretation to the viewers, often implicating signs of life, sex, pain and morbidity. The unusual semi-realistic drawings, often in resemblance of world map, bring out the subtle subconscious elements of the human mind, much to the surprise of the viewer! A two-day Seminar on indigenous art is too, on the month long programme to explore and explain the diverse traditional cultural values of the region.
