Seminar on higher edn in UK

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Queens Park College (QPC) of London yesterday held a seminar in the city with a view to opening up opportunities of higher education in the UK for prospective students from Bangladesh.

As part of its South Asia tour, the QPC made spot assessment of the students who sought admission from Dhaka at the seminar held at a city hotel.

Representatives of the college counselled the students on study opportunities at the QPC. In addition, the team also provided advice on entry requirements, visa regulations and other inquiries by both students and guardians.

Chaired by Eric R Forbes, principal of the college, the seminar was attended by QPC Consultant Faisal Rahim and local representatives Shahnaz Rahman and Reazur Rahman.

The QPC offers a wide range of disciplines from computer science to business studies. The other courses include travel and tourism, hospitality studies and law. The college also offers the PhD programme.

presented in the symposium by Dr Canadian High Commissioner Rahmatullah, a policy specialist. A galaxy of experts from Railways, Road Transport Authority and World Bank took part in the discussion on the paper.

The organisers said an annual symposium where the government and the donors, along with key actors in the transport sector, could meet to discuss the main issues of mutual interest and concern would help each organisation to plan its activities in a more effective way.

The communications minister said his ministry would take steps to close down in phases, some manufacturing units of rickshaws in the Dhaka city which is mainly responsible for the traffic jam. He said the government was also thinking to lease out some railway routes to the private sector in the future if they are profitable.'

Huda said traffic police on the road would have to be accountable for safety of transports.

He thanked the donor countries and agencies for extending help and assistance to build a desh. He urged them to come forward to help upgrade the road network and improve the transport sector.
