Pollock not regretful

REUTERS, Sydney

South African cricket captain Shaun Pollock has defended his decision not to try and force a result in his team's drawn tour match against

New South Wales NSW captain Michael Bevan made a sporting declaration on Saturday when he was 17 runs short of a double-century but the South Africans failed to return the favour. "It was difficult to get a result on that wicket -- for us it was all about time in the middle," the South Africa captain explained

"I didn't declare because we've got back-to-back Test matches against Australia so we didn't want to spend too much time out in the field.'

NSW coach Steve Rixon was unimpressed by the South African attitude, saying they had no hope of ever beating Australia if they continued to use negative tactics.

"You've got to start building momentum somewhere and unfortunately I think they went about things the wrong way," Rixon said.

"I'm very disappointed actually. If I knew there was no game on, I would have batted out our last four vesterday.

experience for the boys, more than what they can learn playing in the nets in England. It will hold them in good stead in the future."

Indian captain Sourav Ganguly conceded his team did not play well after the 10-wicket romp at Mohali, but denied they had become complacent

"The main thing is that the batting was not consistent," said Ganguly, who himself has made just one halfcentury in his last 19 Test innings.

"This has been a tough year for me, but I plan to take the next few weeks off and sort out my batting worries.

Ganguly praised the visitors for fighting back strongly after losing the opening match in less than four days.

"The Englishmen came back well in the series. They played good cricket, both at Ahmedabad and here in Bangalore," Ganguly told reporters.

"I thought we played pretty well in Mohali but not at Ahmedabad and Bangalore. Our batting has to be worked on. We did not do well enouah

"But, in the last six or seven months, we have bowled pretty well. In this series Anil (Kumble), (Javagal) Srinath and Harbhajan wled wel

South Africa were held to a draw by New South Wales on Sunday in their final warm-up before the second Test against Australia starting in Melbourne on Wednesday. When stumps were drawn half an hour early on the fourth and final day at the Sydney Cricket Ground, NSW were 135 for two in their second innings, 248 short of an unlikely victory target of 383. Openers Brett Van Deinsen (61) and Greg Mail (54) both scored halfcenturies for NSW in a first-wicket stand of 101 before falling to Lance Klusener shortly before the close. Although there was little prospect of a result, South African captain Shaun Pollock declared his team's second innings at 269 for five before tea to give his fringe bowlers another chance to press for Test selection. Most interest was centred on the performance of veteran paceman Allan Donald, who was overlooked for the first Test, which Australia won by 246 runs to take a 1-0 lead in the three-games series. But Donald failed to make any inroads, conceding 27 runs from four expensive overs to finish the match without a single wicket. South Africa's batsmen also failed to make the most of their final opportunity for match practice before the Melbourne Test, adding 157 runs for the loss of four wickets to the overnight 112 for one when Pollock declared

MacGill collected three of the last four wickets, including two in the final over before lunch, as the Proteas collapsed from 190 for one, to boost his chances of being named in the Australian team for the third Test at Sydney.

South Africa began the day well enough with Gary Kirsten and Jacques Rudolph adding 78 to the overnight total of 112 for one but then things suddenly fell apart.

MacGill made the breakthrough when he dismissed opener Kirsten for 88 before Mark Higgs removed Klusener for nought, the South African all-rounder's second duck of the match

Lankan boss Olympic torch reaches White House

AFP, Washington

The Olympic torch relay arrived at the White House on Saturday where the runners who lost relatives in the September 11 terror attacks were saluted by President George W. Bush.

"I am honoured to be taking part in the torch relay for the 2002 Winter Olympics and I am proud the Olympic spirit is being welcomed in the United States this winter," the president said.

He made a point of praising those runners who have chosen to represent the victims of the attacks in Washington and New York as well as the emergency services.

"The story of each one is one of compassion and courage," added President Bush who reserved special praise for Liz Howell who lost her husband in the suicide attack on the Pentagon.

"Her participation in the relay illustrates the strength of families in the country after September 11. "Liz, our prayers are with you during this holiday season." The torch will now travel to Baltimore, Maryland, Wilmington, Delaware and Philadelphia.

The Torch Relay's turn through the northeast of the country will also include New York City, where the thousands of victims of the September 11 attacks that destroyed the World Trade Center will be remembered.

On Sunday, New York Mayor Rudolph Giuliani will carry the torch on it's final leg in New York, ending in a celebration at Rockefeller Centre. The flame is expected to reach day before the Winter Games get underway.

Wright's crowning glory came in February-March this year when India stunned world champions Australia 2-1 in a dramatic Test series at home.

But the stupendous achievement was overshadowed by India's defeats later in the year in Sri Lanka and South Africa and a 1-1 deadlock against Zimbabwe.

India may have won the latest home series against England, but critics suggested the inexperienced tourists played better than the hosts, dominating the last two Tests.
