AL to continue parliament boycott unless the situation improves: Jalil

UNB, Dhaka

Awami League may prolong its boycott of parliament if the government fails to take practical steps to create a congenial atmosphere they want in and outside the House.

"Question does not rise at all of taking part in the current session of parliament," said Awami League presidium member Abdul Jalil MP while talking to UNB.

"And if the situation does not improve, Awami League would be forced to continue its boycott of parliament," he added. Opposition Awami League MPs have been boycotting the 8th parliament since its first session to protest "massive riggings and atrocities" on party men and religious minorities.

Asked about the constitutional obligation to be present in parliament within 90 consecutive working days to retain their seats, he said, "Yes, we are aware of the 90-day factor. But we won't attend the parliament session until and unless the situation gets improved."

When asked if their seats stand vacated and by-elections are arranged, Jalil, a former commerce minister, retorted: "Let the government do that."

About AL's future programme, he said it is essential to reactivate the organisation from grassroots level and mobilise anti-establishment public sentiments on different issues like price hike of utility services and essential commodities, unabated terrorism and "repression" on the people.

"We want to give little time to Khaleda's government," he said, adding that "People may also like to see the rule of the BNP-Jamaat alliance and find a difference with Awami League."

Asked why Awami League is not in a mood of organising agitation programme at this stage, Jalil said his party has already staged street agitation against government repression, terrorist and price-hike of essentials. "At the same time, we are giving stress on reactivating the organisation for a tough agitation in future", he added.

To another query about AL plans if the government takes decision for pipeline sale of gas, he said, "The government will have to take the decision for its stay as it came to power by making prior commitment to sell it out."

However, the former commerce minister said, if the government tried to sell out the gas, people would resist.
