R Laarsen, Norwegian photographer-instructor with Pathshala, a school of DRIK, holds a solo exhibition of his works on 'ship breaking' at the art gallery of DRIK at Dhanmondi in the city from May 18. An inauguration ceremony will take place at 5 p.m. The forthcoming exhibition is being organised by 'DRIK Partnership' as part of the celebration of Golden Jubilee of Norwegian Development Partnership (NORAD) this year. Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs is sponsoring different events throughout the year in and outside Norway to the 50 years of NORAD.

The exhibition features various problems and issues surrounding ship breaking in Bangladesh. The photographer, through this exhibition, intends to raise questions on issues never been attended or paid attention to.

Earlier this year, during late February, an exhibition was held at Oslo Concert House at Oslo in Norway features works of international photographers, associated with DRIK Partnership from various parts of the world. The exhibition was based on a theme titled, 'Fifty years observed in support of the world's poorest communities'. DRIP photographers from Bangladesh, Shahidul Alam, Abir Abdullah and Samira Haq exhibited their works along with those from Rezaur Rahman, a staff of SORVIS, the DRIK partnership organisation based at Risor in Norway. Rezaur participated in the show as part of the exchange program of DRIK Partnership.

Hilde Frafjord Johnson, Minister for International Development, in his opening speech at the exhibition, commented, 'The exhibition is a result of a joint effort between the north and the south. One of the participants, Rezaur Rahman, who comes from Bangladesh, has been the key person behind the arrangement of this exhibition'. The minister praised the works of Rezaur and termed those as some of the most perfect photographs of brilliant standard those have come from a country formally, famous for floods and other natural disasters.

Photographers from several African and Latin American countries also exhibited their works, subjects of which included issues of education, poverty elevation, worthy governance, empowerment of women, fatal consequences of HIV/AIDS, micro-credit project.

Apart from the exhibition of photographs, a special attraction of the event was display of a Bangladeshi rickshaw. A supporting photograph exhibition also took place that depicted the life of a rickshaw-puller, Robin, who lives at Gopibagh in the city. The Crown Prince and the Prime Minister enjoyed a brief ride on the three-wheeler. The exhibition that started at the Oslo Concert House will remain open throughout the year but in different venues around the country.

DRIK partnership is a professional media development institution, jointly managed by the Norwegian group of Sorvis Kommunikasjon and the DRIK institution of Bangladesh. Partners exchange 8 to 12 young professional participants between themselves every year, in projects with duration of 3 to 5 years. It contains other organisations, namely, SAMSSO (Southern African Media Organisation), based in Zimbabwe, Business Times Group in Tanzania and Uganda Home pages in the city of Kampala. African members of the DRIK partnership are regarded, in special respect, as professional media organisations for their endurance and creativity in unsettled economical and political conditions.

The exhibition in Dhaka will be open to all from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. everyday till May 29.
