

JCD, Shibir resistance

BCL out of IU for 7 months

RAHAT AHMED, Kushtia

Despite repeated attempts, the leaders and activists of the Bangladesh Chhatra League (BCL) could not enter the Islamic University (IU) campus in the last seven months due to strong resistance by the ruling BNP-backed Jatiyatabadi Chhatra Dal (JCD) and Jamaat-supported Islami Chhatra Shibir (ICS).

The BCL workers were ousted from the university halls soon after the installation of BNP-led four-party government. Since then they tried to carry out their programmes on the campus several times but could not succeed in the face of attacking JCD and ICS activists.

Campus sources said more than 100 BCL activists were beaten up and 15 were stabbed on the campus in the last seven months.

The last incident of stabbing took place on May 14. A BCL leader, Ashique Iqbal Sagar, was stabbed by ICS when he turned up at the examination hall.

During the last caretaker government, the JCD and ICS activists tried to prevent the BCL from holding any organisational activities, resulting in fierce clashes.

The BCL leaders alleged that they could neither attend classes nor sit for the examinations in the face of joint attacks by the JCD and ICS.

The JCD and ICS beat or stab any BCL activist attending classes and appearing in examinations, they said.

"Even the tight police security could not restrain the JCD cadres," said a top BCL leader.

He said, "The local student leaders could not stay even at their residences due to torture by both the police and ruling party's student activists."

Md Didarul Islam, a BCL leader, said that their academic careers are at stake because of repression by the JCD and ICS.

"We could not attend classes for long seven months and there is no possibility to complete our courses at the IU if the situation remains the same," he added.

Meanwhile, 15 activists of the Bangladesh Chhatra Union (BCU) were injured in an attack on its meeting by the ICS on May 14.

Earlier in December, at least 25 leaders and activists of Gonotantrik Chhatra Oiyka (GCO) were critically injured when the JCD attacked their procession on the campus.

Directive for proper implementation of development projects

BSS, Moulvibazar

Minister for Finance and Planning M Saifur Rahman yesterday directed for proper implementation of the development projects in the key sectors, saying the government would not tolerate any negligence in this regard.

While reviewing progress of development activities of the district at a meeting here yesterday he said all development projects must be expedited for timely implementation in the greater national benefit.

"If we want to establish ourselves as an educated and a healthy nation, our development projects must be implemented in time keeping in view the greater national interest," the Finance Minister said while exchanging views with the government officials.

Overall progress of development works in local government, roads and highways, power supply, public health, agriculture extension and water development, sports and games came up for discussion during the meeting, an official handout said.

Saifur described the free education for girls up to class XII as an epoch making step of the present government and said all should unitedly work to implement this programme. He stressed on immediate appointment of teachers for imparting quality education to the students.

Nazrul works aimed at emancipation of downtrodden: President

3-day Nazrul birth anniversary festival begins

BSS, Trishal

President AQM Badruddoza Chowdhury yesterday said national poet Kazi Nazrul Islam dedicated his life to economic emancipation of downtrodden and oppressed people through his works.

"Nazrul's poetry, stories, drama and songs have universal appeal as the poet depicted vividly the inmost pains and helplessness of the deprived people and protested against such ills through his works," the President said.

"He arrived in and left the literary world like a comet. Nazrul's works have had strong impact on the society, literature and music of the country and no one can claim such successes in his era," the President said while inaugurating a three-day national festival on the occasion of 103rd birth anniversary of the national poet.

The Ministry of Cultural Affairs in association with the Mymensingh district administration has organised Nazrul mela, discussion and cultural function as part of the festival in Darimpur, Trishal, where the rebel poet spent his early life.

State Minister for Cultural Affairs Begum Selima Rahman presided over the function.

Prof Abul Kalam Monjur Morshed of Dhaka University delivered Nazrul memorial lecture at the function. Local lawmakers and Uma Kazi, wife of Shabyashachi, were present in the inaugural session.

The President said the rebel poet urged all to fight against all barriers, social oppression and hostility with heads high. "Nazrul emerged as the most intimate representative of the deprived people; he shared their pains and happiness and echoed their voices."

The President said Nazrul was the people's poet who had created massive awareness about social ills and injustices.

"His bold and fiery articles and poetry inspired and awakened the Muslim society. He was the lone Bengali poet who could establish symbiotic relations with the hearts of the common people."

The President said the rebel poet was popular among the readers for his youthfulness, courage and freedom-loving attitudes. Poet Nazrul did not confine himself within the ambit of literature; he also worked as social worker and political activists.

Prof Badruddoza Chowdhury said Nazrul's cordial, spiritual and cultural communication with people of Bangladesh will ever remain in the pages of history. In Trishal, the poet spent happy time of his early teens. He also maintained ties with the people of Comilla, Khulna and Dhaka, the President said.

Nazrul's poems such as 'Durgama Giri Kantar Mori' or 'Karar Oi Lauha Kopai' will never diminish from the memory of our people, the President said. Nazrul is not only our national poet, but also a unique source of our national pride and courage, he added.

The President said Nazrul inspired our nation to move forward. He was a poet who preached the messages of equality, liberty and fraternity.

Prof Chowdhury said we have to 'establish a society free from poverty and illiteracy to materialise the dream of the great poet. We have to ensure women's rights and proper nurturing of the culture of the land and its people, he said.

Plan to preserve bio-diversity of Tanguar Haor by Dec

BSS, Sunamganj

Environment and Forest Minister Shajahan Siraj has said a plan would be taken by December this year to preserve the natural beauty and bio-diversity of Tanguar Haor.

The minister said this while visiting the haor area on Friday.

State Minister of the Ministry Zafur Islam Chowdhury, local parliament member Nazir Hosain, Kalimuddin Milon, Chief Conservator of Forest Anwar Faruk and senior officials from Forest Department and Environment Directorate were present.

Siraj said the haor, a place of breathtaking natural beauty, would be turned into a site for eco-tourism what will offer local and foreign tourists a rare chance to enjoy natural beauty and watch birds.

It will also fetch a huge amount of foreign currency, he said.

The minister also said that an initiative for the preservation and scientific management of the resources of all water bodies in Sylhet region would be taken.

The 9,500-hectare haor is home to 135 species of fish, 34 species of reptile, 208 species of bird and 200 species of tree and shrub.

A few lakhs of guest birds visit the haor area in winter.

Australian Trade Commission, Dhaka, launched export market promotion activities under Australia's fresh Apple Promotion programme in the city yesterday.
