Queen Elizabeth honours Director of Acid Survivors Foundation in Bangladesh

BSS, Dhaka

The Queen Elizabeth II has appointed Dr. John Morrison, Executive Director of the Acid Survivors Foundation in Bangladesh, as an Officer of the Order of the British Empire (OBE) on the occasion of the "Birthday Honours" in her Golden Jubilee year, a British High Commission press release said here on Sunday.

Dr Morrison, a British citizen, has been living in Bangladesh since October 1997. He was the motive power that brought together various Bangladeshi organisations to provide help and assistance for those injured and disfigured by acid violence.

As a result of his efforts, the Acid Survivors Foundation was established three years ago as a charitable trust designed to channel medical, and social help as well as counselling to survivors of

Dr Morrison is its first executive director. The staff and trustees of the foundation, most of whom are Bangladesh nationals, have worked ceaselessly under the direction of Dr Morrison and chairman of the must Kazi Fazlur Rahman to make the trust a set sustaining major Bangladesh

It has a high domestic and international profile and was instrumental in supporting the government's actions, earlier this year, in introducing laws against acid violence and restricting the sale of acid.

Since the inception, the Acid Survivors Foundation has helped treat and rehabilitate nearly 1,000
