NSU hosts architectural design exhibition in the city

AZIZ AMIRUL

THE exhibition halls of North South University (NSU) at Banani in the city showcase miniature models of structural designs for a proposed non-residential campus building for the private university.

Five foreign firms from India, Pakistan, Thailand, Malaysia, four of joint-venture investment and ten of Bangladeshi management have put on their model works in the show. Top three selected works would be honoured with cash awards and crests at a formal ceremony to be held today at 5:00 p.m. at the venue of the show.

holders would be equally apportioned by the two joint first position holders.

A Jury Board formed by an international panel of judges from South Asia made their evaluation of the works. Bal Krishna Doshi, a world famous architect from India headed the panel.

Islam assisted Doshi in the selection formalities. Other members of the technical experts' panel included Shamsul Wares, Professor Sikandar Ali (BUET) and Mustaque Habib, Project Director (NSU).

chairman of the Department of Economics and Dr. Meshkat Uddin, Director of BBA, all from NSU.

The design competition was conducted by the NSU campus project department in joint collaboration with the Institute of Architects, Bangladesh (IAB).

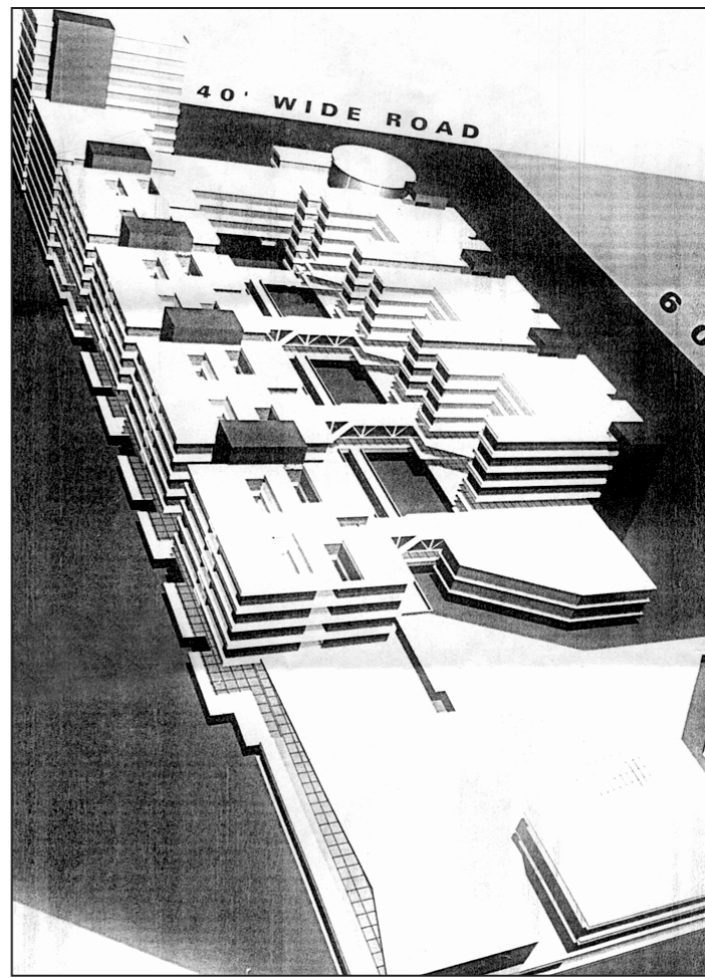

The exhibition is being held specially, upon request from the architectural and engineering community of the country, said a top official of the campus project.

North South University, a pioneer institution of private universities in the country, has, at present, a total of 4,500 students, most of who would be privileged when NSU shifts to its proposed Basundhara campus to be set up on a land of 5.5 acres.

an exhibition hall, an Olympic-sized swimming pool and a gymnasium for interested students. There would also be facility for playing indoor games like table tennis and pool tennis.

feature the most modern campus area with all advanced amenities within a limited space area. Such an exhibition of architectural designs is certainly a first of its kind for this region.

The exhibition at NSU ends today at 5:30 p.m.
