NTENSELY colourful and intricately patterned dragons and demons of far-eastern folklores, butterflies of children's dream worlds and beautiful female faces and figures of the real world appear as subjects in art works of Tia and Nadia, two sisters, who currently hold their joint exhibition at an office balcony of Bangladesh Institute of Law and International Affairs (BILIA) at Dhanmondi (Road no. 7) in the city. The exhibition displays around two dozen works, all of which are tagged with price, sale proceedings of which will go to charity accounts created in support of children of the war-ravaged Afghanistan and in aid of a young man who A painting by Nadia lost both his arms in an accident a few years back in the city. The artists, both of whom are students, depict a wide range of subjects, and prefer to follow the paintings and sketches highlight semi abstractive themes. As Tia says, 'We have no particular themes at all in our works and we paint whatever seems to be beautiful'.

Tia's works comprise of figures like one that features Bollywood star and former Miss World Aishwarya Rai, sketched in pencil that stands a few feet high from ground, drawn on a huge piece of art paper.

A nicely decorated dining table complete with exotic dishes and bottles of drinks become an important subject of one of Tia's works that consists of bright shades and hues of all sorts. Most of Tia's paintings present shades in blue, green, yellow, gold and often black, as well as white.

A bit unlike her sister, Nadia likes to play with slightly abstract subjects. She portrays long figures of dragons; huge laced out tails and feathers of a peacock or even paints a deep yellowish golden sun surrounded by brownish clouds. Done in pastel, oil or in mixed media, a few of Nadia's works also feature serene landscape or shady mountainous surroundings across the borders of some unknown land. Light blue, turquoise and white shades in picturesque scenarios of hills and clouds reveal certain nostalgic viewpoints of the artist

The siblings try their best to entertain art connoisseurs as well work for some humanitarian cause through hosting art exhibitions. The current exhibition, being one of their routine annual or biennale events, would be successful if it only brings refreshing smile to faces of those who are fighting for survival in this difficult world.

The exhibition remains open to all from morning up to evening every day till July 26.

EVDAS, Bollywood's most expensive film ever, swept the box office across India at the weekend to break all previous records, trade analysts told AFP.

Produced at a cost of 500 million rupees (10.2 million dollars), "Devdas" a tragic love story starring superstar Shah Rukh Khan -- saw full house signs posted at all screenings in some 300 to 350 cinema halls around India, thev said.

For Bombay alone -- Bollywood's headquarters and the industry yardstick - the weekend collections from 19 cinema halls amounted to six million rupees (122,449 dollars).

The box office opening weekend record in Bombay was held by last year's multi-starred "Kabhi Khushi Kabhi Gham (Sometimes Joy, his production, producer Bharat Shah Sometimes Sorrow), which raked in plans to bring out around 200 more 3.5 million rupees on the first weekprints for the local and overseas end. markets

This was followed by mega hit "Gadar" (Uprising) and Oscar nomi-nee "Lagaan" (Tax). "Devdas has received a fabulous 100 percent opening response all over the country, breaking the previous box by a Bombay court after sitting in jail for office records," Taran Adarsh, pubmore than a year following his arrest in lisher of film magazine Trade Guide told AFP.

"However, the feedback is that it is the same everywhere.' Media reports indicate that "Devdas" has also opened to full houses in the United Kingdon, scooping more than 60,000 pounds on the opening day alone. Film analysts attributed the good showing to media hype and strong word of mouth endorsement. The media interest began long before the movie's release, especially after its screening in the noncompetitive segment at the recent Cannes festival.
