Something fresh from the world of Tagore and the Chakma tribe

Launching of Alpana Chakam's two CDs at the Indian Cultural Centre

FAYZA HAQ

LPANA Chakma delighted her audience with her rendering of popular Randrasangeet songs as well as those with Chakma lyrics. This was at the programme to launch her two CDs on Ranbindrasangeet and Chakma folk songs at the Indian Cultural Centre recently. Her teachers, Saadi Mohammed and Papiya Sarwar not only spoke at the occasion, with a packed and overflowing audience, but also sang themselves to lend support ,while Saadi Mohammed played the harmonium Alpana performed. Saadi as Mohammed said at the occasion that Alpana was not only a treasured pupil but a promising colleague.

Alpana said, speaking for a few minutes in between the programme, behind the stage, next to the green room," After finishing my studies in architecture, I studied at 'Sangeet Bhaban' for five years. Kalim Sharafi was my principal, while my teachers included Saadi Mohammed and Rizvana Chowdhury Bonna. I came to study under Papiya Sarwar later for four years. I have dedicated about 20 years in all to the pursuit of music.'

Asked why she went into 'Rabindrasangeet' rather than other genres like 'Nazrul Geeti", Alpana said," What lured me to this particular form of Bengali songs are the words and tunes of Tagore which are nonpareil in their soothing tunes and lyrics. I feel that Tagore songs will appeal to Bengalis of all time and generation. Even though it has a relative slow intrinsic rhythm most often yet it appeals to even the present generation with their hangups for modern music like the pop and band music.' Dwelling on whether was not influenced by western music while composing some of his songs, Alpana said "Yes, undoubtedly there are some songs by Tagore which have underlying tunes of western music, as he had lived abroad and listened to music such as church music such as 'Phulev phuley dholey dholey' and I myself rekho'. eniov such tunes but the language is Bangla of the Victorian times and this fascinate me enormously Talking about her instrumental accompaniments Alpana said." These included the harmonium which Saadi Bhai performed itself, then there was the 'behala', 'tabla', keyboard, 'mandira', and for the Chakma songs there was the flute."

Asked to mentions the words of some of the songs that she had sung that evening, Alapana said, "There were four 'Rabindrasangeet' songs which included ' Shoda thako anondey', ' Jey raatey mor duarguli bhanglo chaorey'. 'Aijey kalo matir basha' and 'Aye kothati money The Chakma tribal songs included three compositions the first being'Jimit jimit juni joley. Edeshta amar edesta tomar edesh shobar which means that the firefly is shining while the country is yours and mine. The second song 'Hillo milo bo jumot jay dey' which means that the hill tracts girl is going to the hills for 'jhum' collection (a type of tribal agricultural which is considered to be somewhat not all that good for the present environment but remains a traditional one that goes back for centuries), dancing all the way, carrying a knife in her left hand while the birds are chirping and she is thinking of the time when she will return home. My third song was 'Nochang jebar aey jagan chari'

sang 'Jummobi holmole hadibe Modhagot' Today I sang both

'Rabindrsangeet' songs and Chakma folk songs simultaneously. As for the Chakma songs, I sang them from my childhood, encouraged by my family, specially my mother, late Poritma Chakma.

Discussing the number of hours she devoted to her singing today, what other types of music she liked and if she took in pupils, Alpana said," I practice everyday in the morning for at least half an hour. I have to limit this as I have my two sons Aranab(meaning the sea) and Borshon and my husband to see to before I myself go out to work. I am attracted also to other genres of songs such as 'Lalongeeti' and love all Bangla folks songs. I do enjoy 'Nazrulgeeti' too although the messages of my own type attract me more . I'm compelled to listen to western music as the strains of these come from my children's rooms . Of course I'm acquainted with Mozart, Chopin and Beethoven and I love them as I like all types of music. As for pop music, I listen to it too although that does not grab me all that much. I believe that I should have experience and knowledge of all types of music. I did have students who are Japanese and who wished to learn Bangla songs, specially 'Rabindrasangeet' ones.

They came with JAICA, a Japanese organization, and they came for two to three years for different types of work . One was called Mami Krezawa, another Sumicko Seiko. Today I have a student, who has left for country for a month. She will return to continue learning with me." Elaborating on the CDs , Alpana said," There are a dozen 'Rabindrsangeet' songs and another 12 Chakma folk songs. They include songs like 'Bohey nirantaro ononto ananda dhara' and 'Amaro porano jaha chae', and 'Jimi jimi jumi joley'. The CDs include other songs like 'Daoire acho tumi amar ganer o pare', Asha jawar pother dharey', 'Borisho completed my college at Rangamati. For this Shujit Chakma, my elder brother was the inspiration. He himself was studying Electrical Engineering at that time. Alpana Chakma's soiree was a pure delight for music enthusiasts and her CDs should be a success specially for "Rabindrsangeet" lovers and those keen on folk music
