50 pc brand of jam, jelly has no BSTI approval

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

More than fifty per cent brand of jam and jelly available in the market is being sold without having approval from the Bangladesh Standard Testing Institution (BSTI) depriving the consumers from quality foods.

A survey, conducted by the Consumers Association of Bangladesh (CAB), revealed this recently.

These adulterated products are being sold in the market illegally and most of the brands have no label with the date of production and expiry.

The CAB collected 51 brands from different markets of Dhaka, Barishal, Gaibandha, Gafargaon in Mymensingh and Maulvibazar districts.

Of them, there were 12 foreign brands which had no quality control certificate from the BSTI for selling in the market.

According to the rules, all imported food items must be approved by the BSTI before marketing. But the importers do not follow the rules as the BSTI does not monitor the quality of the imported food items, the survey claimed.

Marketing of the food items without proper labeling is totally prohibited by the laws. The unapproved food severely threatens the public health.
