

PHOTO: STAR

Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, the two brothers convicted in Sutrapur double murder case, being taken to jail after their death sentence (left); and parents of Mohsin, one of the murder victims, pray for justice prior to pronouncement of the verdict yesterday.

Sutrapur double murder 16 to walk the gallows

Some solace, at least

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Ripon, Moktar, Bashirul Islam alias Biddut, Nazrul, Sankar Raskhit, Mintu, Titu, Aziz alias 'Garage Aziz', Chacha Anwar alias Anu and Jahangir.

Of the convicts, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

Sixteen people, including Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, have been sentenced to death, three to life imprisonment and one to seven years in jail.

The Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division handed down the verdict, clearing Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others of charges.

Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 3

CHAITANYA CHANDRA HALDER

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN

Sixteen people have been sentenced to death, three to life term and one to seven years in prison in the Sutrapur double murder case.

The convicts include Rahid Hasan Sumon and Sajid Hasan Sujon, sons of Nasibun Ahmed, president of the city Mahila Awami League. They have been given the death penalty for murdering Mohammad Mohsin and Mohammad Saem, two local youths, on September 15, 2000.

Sumon's father Sultan Uddin Ahmed and 13 others have been acquitted of charges.

Shahed Noor Uddin, judge of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-1, Dhaka Division, gave the verdict yesterday in a crowded courtroom.

The seventeen accused, who were in custody, were brought to the dock at 1:00pm under tight security.

Munna Kasai alias Seru Miah and Sultan Uddin Ahmed, who had been on bail, were also present in a crowded courtroom.

The court found them guilty of murdering the two young men.

The court also found Anisur Rahman alias Anis, Subal Das and Moktar guilty of committing the crime and gave them life term in prison.

SEE PAGE 11 COL 4

SHAHED NOOR UDDIN