Promoting the flare for photography

What Drik Gallery aims at

FAYZA HAQ

DRIK Gallery began in 1996 when the World Press Photo was first brought to Bangladesh. At that time Drik was a photo-based organization and up till then there was no gallery geared to presenting photographs in particular. After that, every year, there are five major international exhibitions like Chhobi Mela, which is held at other galleries too. "At this photo festival about ten countries send from 25 to 35 entries every two years. We don't confine the exhibitions to our gallery but spread it all over Dhaka. At the same time we kept in mind that photographic exhibitions cannot be held satisfactorily in all galleries. These galleries tend to cater to paintings and handicrafts. The architect who built the gallery kept in mind that the gallery is to primarily present photos. Later the architectural design of the gallery won a prestigious Asian Award," says Rezaur Rahman, team leader of Drik Publications and Event Management Department. It was planned that every year regular exhibitions will be held and at other times the gallery is hired out to others and this is not limited to photography alone.

There is basically one large gallery which has been divided into three cubicles which are further more divided into smaller units. In the exhibitions there can be 100 to 130 displays if displayed singly. During the World Press Exhibition as many as 250 works have been accommodated. At this time there were multiple rows of display. As for hire charges, for five days the cost is Tk. 12,000. Upon selection, artists/organisers are required to make a deposit of a non-refundable amount of 30% of the hire charges for a confirmed booking. Each day following the first five days it costs Tk. 1,800 and each day following the first ten days Tk. 1,500. One art piece chosen by the artist/organiser will be kept for Drik gallery free of cost, unless the exhibition is a touring one. In the packages there are certain services that may be availed of such as providing the invitation cards, posters, support of the design and printing. There is also an arrangement for providing a documentary of the programme which may be in photo or video. The opening maybe in the terrace, or in the old café area if it is a small group of say 70 people.

The gallery is more suitable for the exhibitions of photographs than paintings.

Among the five main exhibitions held every year there is an exhibition on migrant labour done by different prestigious photo agencies. There is also "Positive Lives" that deal with the lives of those who are HIV Positive and this too is to educate our society. This exhibit is now going from Malaysia to Japan. This will be presented again at Drik next year. Again, every year there is the exhibition of photographers from Drik which is held around September. There is also the annual display of the young photographers, all under 15 years, with the banner "Out of Focus". In a year there are more than 100 exhibitions held at this gallery.

Talking about the difference between Drik and other galleries, Rezaur Rahman says, "The gallery is most suited to photography and the rooms are lit up in such a manner that the light from the glass is not reflected in the eyes of the viewer. If someone comes here to hang large paintings there might be problems. Again, at Drik, there are many services to promote photography. We also try to put the exhibition on the Internet at a minimum cost. Incidentally, our timings are from 3pm to 8pm."

The small cubicles are lit up in such a manner that the light from the glass is not reflected in the eyes of the viewer.

Commemoration

Khelaghar observes birth anniversaries of three legends

NOVERA DEEPTA

CHILDREN'S organisation Kendrio Khelaghar Ashor organised a discussion programme and a cultural show to mark the birth anniversaries of Rabindranath Tagore, Kazi Nazrul Islam and Shukanto Bhattacharya at the Biswa Shahitya Kendra Auditorium.

Chief guest of the opening ceremony, former Director General of National Museum, Shamsuz-zaman Khan said in his speech, "The practice of the works of literary personalities like Tagore, Nazrul and Shukanto in our country is a positive side of our culture."

Special guest, the granddaughter of Kazi Nazrul Islam, Khilkhil Kazi read out some of the humorous stories of the young Nazrul's life. She also said, "We are losing our cultural heritage these days. Our children know very little about our literature and culture. This is our fault. We must teach our children, give our children the proper education to learn our true culture. We must convey it to the new generation."

Among others DU teacher Dr. Shoumitra Shekhar, Mahbuba Nahid, Amol Nath, Pronoy Saha, Jibon Choudhury of Khelaghar and Nazrul singer Salauddin Ahmed spoke at the occasion.

Later a cultural programme followed in which child performers of Khelaghar took part. The little children sang Alokeri jhannadharay dhuye dao apnake and three little girls dressed in colourful dress danced. Later Biman Chandra Biswas, Khilkhil Kazi and Salauddin Ahmed sang Nazrul songs.

Around the world

A Journalist views a bas-relief during the opening of the first archaeological exhibition since the official end of the US-led war on Iraq at the Iraqi National Museum 03 July 2003 in Baghdad. "The Treasures of Nimrud" were hidden by the museum in a sewage tank for safe keeping, and were put on display for the first time in many years.

It was announced 03 July 2003 that Stone has split from her husband of five years. This file photo shows US actress Sharon Stone and her husband Phil Bronstein as they arrive at the 74th Annual Academy Awards at the Kodak Theatre in Hollywood, California 24 March 2002.
