CU to review grading system

CU CORRESPONDENT

The authority of the Chittagong University (CU) held an emergency meeting yesterday in the wake of movement by students demanding cancellation of the grading system in evaluating answerscripts.

The meeting asked the deans of all faculties to submit a report to the vice-chancellor within 10 days with recommendations concerning the grading system. A final decision will be taken on the basis of the report.

Vice-Chancellor Prof. AJM Nuruddin Chowdhury presided over the meeting attended by chairmen of all departments and deans.

"We are trying to reach a mutual understanding to overcome the crisis so that the student can get rid of the suffering," said Pro-VC Prof. Dr. M. Shamsuddin.

Meanwhile, the agitated students announced a four-day programme including mass contact with the teachers on Wednesday, signature collection campaign on Thursday and Saturday, and a human chain on Sunday.

Also on Sunday, the students will launch a tougher action programme, such as indefinite strike, if their demand is not met, said Mahub, a student of Suhrawardy hall.

When contacted, Dr. Andru Alak Dewary, assistant professor of journalism department, said the university introduced the grading system in 1998-99, but most teachers do not have a clear idea about it.

"Even the faculties follow the system their own way. Moreover, the teachers are still marking the answer scripts keeping in mind the previous class system, which will affect the future life of 16,000 students," he added.

JU Eng deptt orientation begins tomorrow

JU CORRESPONDENT

An orientation programme, organised jointly by the English department of Jahangirnagar University (JU) and The English Association (TEA) of the department, will begin tomorrow.

The programme begins with a session of formal welcome for the freshers of the department at the new arts faculty building at 9.30am.

On August 16, a reception will be accorded to them at the central auditorium of the university at 9.15am.

A cultural function will follow the reception.

The programme also includes a trip for the freshers around the campus and the National Memorial on August 20.

The programme will end on August 21 with a video show on the activities of the department at the new arts faculty building at 11.30am.

A fair will also be held from August 18 to 21. It will remain open for all students and teachers of the university.
