UNB, Dhaka

British High Commission in Dhaka will open new visa application centres in Dhaka on March 30 and in Sylhet in early April at customer's convenience.

A press release of the high commission yesterday said, after the opening of the Dhaka centre, all visa applications should be lodged at the centre and not at the British High Commission. The centre will operate longer and with more flexible hours, it added.

"Applicants of the Sylhet region will no longer have to travel to Dhaka to apply for the UK visa," the High Commission said. British High Commission has taken the steps to address the growing numbers of visa applications including urgent cases. The number of visa applicants to the high commission has grown by 30 per cent over the past few months.

The release said genuine visa applicants are, and always have been, welcomed by the British High Commission and requested the applicants not to gather in front of the High Commission with family and friends to lodge the applications.

During the transitional period, the British High Commission also requested all work permit holder applicants and others who have no specific deadline for visa to wait until the new centres open in Dhaka and Sylhet.
