

Daily Star-Astech English debate contest begins in Ctg today

CU CORRESPONDENT

A five-day The Daily Star-Astech Inter-school English Debate Competition begins in the port city today.

Vice-Chancellor of BGC Trust University Prof. Md Sikandar Khan will inaugurate the event at the Public Administration Training Centre at 9.00am.

Nine schools will take part in the competition organised by the Drishty, a cultural and debate organisation.

The schools are William Cary Academy, Chittagong International School, Oxbridge International, Sunshine Grammar School, Bangladesh Elementary School, Cider International, Presidency International, Bay View School and James English Medium School.

Bangladesh Elementary School and Sunshine Grammar School are the co-sponsors of the competition.

Correction

The Daily Star carried a news item headlined 'Jayanti Reza murder: Order on charge-framing May 15' on the metropolitan page on May 11 which read "A Dhaka Court yesterday fixed May 15 for order on charge-framing against Azam Reza in the Jayanti Reza murder case."

In fact it should read: "A Dhaka Court, after hearing on the discharge petition by both sides, yesterday fixed May 15 to decide charge-framing in the Jayanti Reza murder case."

We regret this mistake.
