Ganguly's new identity

AFP, Calcutta

Indian cricket captain Saurav Ganguly has been signed as a brand ambassador by the information technology industry in his home state of West Bengal, a top official announced here.

"Ganguly has agreed to the proposal of becoming our brand ambassador," said G.D. Gautam, principal secretary of the IT indus-try in the Marxist-ruled eastern

"He was very much impressed with our recent achievements. We are planning to involve him in told AFP on Friday.

"We believe that his dynamic outlook and robust image as a successful captain of the national cricket team will help West Bengal's IT industry surge ahead, Ganguly confirmed he had agreed to the proposal from the West Bengal government.

"Yes, you can say I am the brand ambassador of West Bengal's IT industry. I would be happy if I could help the industry.

Marsh saddened

AFP, Sydney

Zimbabwe coach Geoff Marsh said here Friday he was disappointed at the country's agreement to postpone their remaining four cricket Tests this year.

"It's disappointing to get to a situation like that," Marsh said from his home state of Western Australia, where he is on holiday for the next month.

Zimbabwe Cricket Union (ZCU) officials agreed during talks with the International Cricket Council in Dubai this week to postpone two Test in Pakistan in October and two at home to England in November.

The agreement was made so that Zimbabwe could focus on getting their game back into shape after damage caused by a players' dispute which saw 15 senior players go on strike after the sacking of captain Heath Streak.

Streak had objected to the selection policies of the ZCU which he claimed were compromising the success of the national team.

Marsh, whose contract expires at the end of September, said: "I understand the reasons why the ZCU has agreed to it and it's probably in the best interests of everyone involved, but the best way to improve the standard is to keep playing at that level."

The ZCU decided to scrap the two home Tests against Australia last month because of fears its national team would be thrashed by the world champions so badly that Test cricket's integrity would

By taking a similar approach to the series against Pakistan and England, Zimbabwe will only play one-day matches for the remainder of this year.

March's last the ZCU is to take his young side to the Champions Trophy tournament in England in September for which he has few goals other than to have his side be competitive.

WHiZZKID-212

correctanswers

1. Who won the GP Corporate Cricket League Platetitle? Ans:GaziTank

2. Who lifted the United Insurance IM chesscrown?

Ans:Zia 3. What was result of the Bangladesh-WestIndiesODIseries?

Ans:3-0 4. Who will host the 2010 FIFA World Cup?

37 Furniture

38 Ram

40 While

Ans:SouthAfrica 5. Who clinched the UEFA Cuptitle?

Ans:Valancia

CROSSWORD

ACROSS

car

1 Imported

5 Freeway

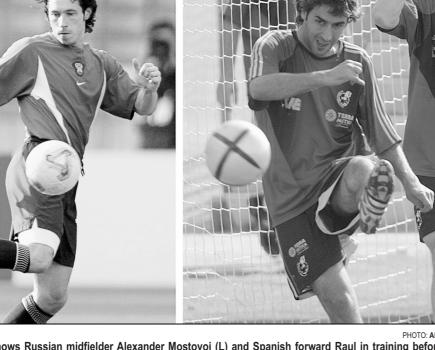

Spain's only moment of glory came when they beat the Soviet Union to win the European

Since the group stage was introduced at the finals in 1980, they have only once managed to win their opening game, against Denmark in 1988, and the players are anxious to shrug off their repu-

most difficult," fullback Carles Puyol said from the team's base in northern Portugal, close to the Spanish border. "We need to do well this time.

epeat of Euro 2000, when they lost their opening game against Norway and were lucky to sneak through with wins over Slovenia and Yugoslavia.

After taking on Russia, Spain face tricky games against Greece,

A combo photo shows Russian midfielder Alexander Mostovoi (L) and Spanish forward Raul in training before today's match in the Euro 2004 in Faro.

PREVIEW: SPAIN v RUSSIA

Battle of unpredictables

REUTERS, Faro

Spain need victory from their Euro 2004 debut against Russia in Group A on Saturday to avoid unwanted complications and make a convincing case for a first major title Championship in 1964.

tation as slow starters "The first game is always the

Spain certainly cannot afford a who beat them during qualifying for the tournament, and Portugal.

The last thing the players want is to go into the Portuguese game in Lisbon with a place in the quarterfinals still in doubt.

"That would be very difficult," striker Fernando Morientes warned. "It's not just because of their quality but also because as the host nation they have every incen-

"It would be better to resolve matters in the first two matches."

The return to form of Morientes since his loan move to Monaco should lift a Spanish side otherwise

Live on ESPN at 12.40 am (Sunday).

PROBABLE TEAMS

SPAIN: 23-Iker Casillas; 5-Carles Puyol, 3-Carlos Marchena, 6-Ivan Helguera, 15-Raul Bravo; 17-Joseba Etxeberria, 4-David Albelda, 8-Ruben Baraja, 14-Vicente; 10-Fernando Morientes, 7-

RUSSIA: 1-Sergei Ovchinnikov; 16-Vadim Yevseyev, 4-Alexei Smertin, 13-Roman Sharonov, 17-Dmitry Sennikov; 22-Yevgeny Aldonin, 15-Dmitry Alenichev, 10-Alexander Mostovoi, 7-Marat Izmailov or 5-Andrei Karvaka: 3-Dmitry Sychev, 9-Dmitry Bulykin.

Top scorer Raul has had a terrible season at Real Madrid, while the 20-year-old Fernando Torres, exciting prospect though he is, has yet to look convincing at this level.

Spain have at least remained free of serious injuries since Michel Salgado was forced to pull out, with just slight niggles for David Albelda and Ivan Helguera.

Russia, who as the Soviet Union won the first European Championship in 1960 and reached three more finals, have more to worry about after injury accounted for first-choice central defenders Viktor Onopko and Sergei Ignashevich. Left back Dmitry Sennikov has a pulled thigh muscle but is expected to start, while playmaker Dmitry Loskov is nursing a leg Russia will also be without

Yegor Titov who failed a drugs test

after the first leg of the playoff against Wales and coach Georgy

Yartsev is aware of the task his patched-up side face. "We're facing a very confident and powerful team," Yartsev said. "Raul and Morientes are known worldwide and their midfielders are very good with the ball.

'We only have a chance if we play disciplined and highly organised

England recover

FROM PAGE 13

First he took a juggling catch at third man off Stephen Harmison to get rid of McCullum, who made 21. Hoggard then had his 100th Test wicket when the luckless Mills was caught behind for a four-ball duck.

He finished the innings when Martin (two) was caught by Vaughan at short backward square leg, another juggling take.

New Zealand started the day on 295 for four but ended up well short of the 500 target set by their captain Stephen Fleming, who made 117

Styris, 68 not out overnight, saw a four off Andrew Flintoff take him to a chanceless hundred, his first Test century against England and the fourth of his career, in 161 balls But a misjudgement against left-arm spinner Ashley Giles saw him give substitute fielder Bilal him give substitute fielder E Shafayat an easy catch at cover. England had already won the three-match series following a seven-wicket victory at Lord's and Mills c Jones b Hoggard Monday's nine-wicket win at Headingley.

New Zealand needed to win this Test in order to avoid the fate of their 1978 predecessors who lost 3-0 in England - the last time England whitewashed a side in a major Test

SCOREBOARD

Scoreboard at tea on the second day of the third Test between England and New Zealand at Trent Bridge on Friday:

NEW ZEALAND: First innings (overnight 295-4) Richardson c Vaughan b Giles 73 Fleming c Thorpe b Flintoff 117 Styris c sub b Giles 108 Astle b Harmison 15 McMillan lbw b Harmison 0 Oram c Strauss b Saggers 14 Cairns c Thorpe b Saggers 12

McCullum c Hoggard b Harmison

Franklin not out

Martin c Vaughan b Hoggard Extras: (b-2, lb-14, nb-2) 18 Total: (All out in 121 overs) Fall of wickets: 1-163, 2-225, 3-272, 4-272, 5-308, 6-331, 7-366, 8-377, 9-

382, 10-384	,	,	,	,
Bowler Hoggard	0 25	M 6	R 85	W
Harmison	32	9	80	3
Flintoff	14	2	48	1
Saggers	22	5	80	2
Giles	27	6	70	2
Vaughan	1	0	5	0
ENGLAND: First innings
Freecothick not out

Trescothick not out Strauss c McCullum b Cairns Butcher c Styris b Franklin Vaughan not out Extras: (lb-1, nb-4)

Fall of wkts: 1-1, 2-18

Bowler Martin	0 1.5	M 0	R 1	V
Cairns	5	2	15
Franklin	5.1	0	26
Mills	5	1	31	(
Oram	5	0	17	(
Styris	1	0	8	(
Toss: New Zealand

Morientes staying at Real

next term

Real Madrid," he told Telemadrid "I have spoke on the telephone to (new coach) Jose Antonio Camacho and we have reached an agreement and I am staying.

Morientes, who went to France when he couldn't be guaranteed a first-team place, is prepared to fight for a spot in the starting lineup alongside Brazilian World Cup winner Ronaldo and national team skipper Raul.

Rating chess

SPORTS REPORTER

International Master Abdullah Al Rakib took solo lead with five points in the Open FIDE Rating Chess tournament after the end of the fifth round games at the federation hall room yesterday.

He won the board against Said Uddin Lavlu.

FIDE Master Abu Sufian Shakil. Shawkat Hossain Pallab, Syed Mahfuzur Rahman Emon and Abdul followed the leader with 4.5

In other matches, Maleq beat sub-junior champion Imran Ali, Pallab beat Kazi Taherul Islam, Emon beat Mohammad Ali, FM Sheikh Nasir Ahmed beat Sohel Chowdhury, FM Khondokar Aminul Islam beat Obaidul Islam Debaraj Chatterjee beat Aminul Islam and Mohammed Javed beat

Haynes worries for WI

CRICINFO, undated

Desmond Haynes, one half of one of the greatest opening combinations Test cricket has ever seen, has expressed concerns about the West Indian team's readiness for English conditions, and said that unfamiliarity with the moving ball could hamper the players.

The Barbados Daily Nation reported Haynes' doubts about the possibility of West Indian success in England -- a far cry from the confidence his team exuded while touring in the past.

"We are going to England in a couple of weeks' time and there is no preparation in place where the guys can go into an indoor facility somewhere in the Caribbean to start playing against the moving

"I am not too sure of our preparation for that tour and that is why l have a little problem with how well we will do in England," he said. Because we just came off two tracks that were very, very flat. There was no sideway movement, playing against Bangladesh. That preparation, to me, is not adequate at this level.

Haynes, who played 116 Tests, most of them in concert with his fellow Barbadian opening partner Gordon Greenidge, pointed out that few players had experienced English conditions, unlike in the past, when many West Indian team members (including Haynes himself, in a prolific career with Middlesex) were fixtures on the county circuit. Of the one-day squad picked for the tour, only four players -- Brian Lara, Ramnaresh Sarwan, Shivnarine Chanderpaul and Ridley Jacobs have significant experience in England.

"It is harder on these players now than it was with us because there were about nine guys in the West Indies team that would have in England for a county or something like that," said Haynes.

"We were strong back in the 1980s because we had the opportunity to play county cricket.'

Portugal

FROM PAGE 13

Portugal because of the finals, with traffic at Lisbon's international airport expected to double on Sunday from normal levels because of the match between England and France.

Portugal has invested heavily in security to ensure only match results make the headlines, spending 17 million euros on new equipment, including the nation's first water cannon vehicles

A total of 20,000 police officers, supported by the military, will patrol the streets during the tournament, with roughly 1,000 officers dispatched to the interior of stadiums during matches.

Navy warships will guard the coast while F-16 fighter jets will help patrol the no-fly zone which will be imposed on match days over the 10 grounds which will host Euro 2004 games. NATO meanwhile has agreed to supply Portugal with AWACS surveillance planes which can detect low-flying aircraft at a distance of over 400 kilometres (250 miles). The aim is to protect the Euro 2004 finals against unruly fans as well as possible terror attacks, a risk which became more real following atmosphere is as laid-back as at a the train bombings in neighbouring Spain which killed 191 people in March. But despite the security measures, many shopkeepers in cities which are hosting matches confirstroundgames the tournament and are taking precautions. Shops in Cascais, a beach resort some 30 kilometres west of Lisbon are boarding up their windows while a number of bars in the Portuguese capital have said they

"We are going to watch and pray that our private security will be able to handle any problem that might arise," Lisbon shop owner Sofia Ventura told daily newspaper

Coaches for France

If a straw poll of Euro 2004 coaches is anything to go by France are set

Of the 16, fully 14 make France their favourites, given the possibility to pick more than one championship candidate, eight said hosts Portugal have a good chance. Seven said the same of Italy, while Holland and Germany received six mentions each. France coach Jacques Santini was flattered but cautious.

"Many teams can have a decent shot at the title with Italy, England and the Netherlands coming into this category. "But I am thinking especially about Portugal. Playing at home is a big advantage, and for players Fernando Couto it's their last chance. We have also come here to win," Santini told reporters. England's Sven-Goran Eriksson said he had two favourites.

"France have a fantastic team but for me there is another favourite: Germany. Germany always fight like crazy for the title.

Rudi Voeller, for the Germans,

England's direction. "My top favourites are the French, then Italy and Holland.

did not return the compliment in

Then there are six or seven other sides who have a high level. We are one of them," said Voeller.

Italy's Giovanni Trapattoni says

he sees the outcome as very open. "France, England, Holland, Spain, the Czech Republic and Germany have strong teams.

"The Germans have a few problems but I know their players. In championships they never give up. And with 23 first choice players we are right up there. It's a tough choice to know who to select," said

Luiz Felipe Scolari, Portugal's coach who won the 2002 World Cup with Brazil, said he saw any one team from ten coming through. "There are ten teams who can win the event. Maybe France, Spain, Italy or Germany. We respect our rivals but don't fear Dick Advocaat of Holland sat on the fence, saying only "it's hard to say who will win it. I hope we play such as Luis Figo, Rui Costa and well and win the trophy. Aleksandrs Starkovs of Latvia. playing in their first ever finals, saw a wide palette of possibilities. "Our first-round opponents Holland, the Czechs and Germany are all possible winners. That also goes for France, Italy and Spain. Spain's Inaki Saez saw several sides as having an equal chance.

"Some sides theoretically have a better chance than others -Portugal as the hosts, for example, France as holders. Then you have the usual suspects such as Germany, England and Italy."

Otto Rehhagel, Greece's German coach, said: "Aside from Portugal, France, the Czechs and the Dutch, Germany are also among my favourites. Plamen Markov of Bulgaria was in little doubt. "The French are my favourites -

I don't think they will be as weak as they were at the 2002 World Cup." Morten Olsen of Denmark

"I think France have the best team. They play football as I like to see it and it would be good for the game if they win.

Otto Baric of Croatia went along with that, saying that "France are the favourites. But I thing the Spaniards will go a long way.

Georgij Jarzev of Russia noted that "European Championships are closer run affairs than World Cups and anything can happen." Switzerland's Koebi Kuhn said that "France are normally a step up on most of the rest but Portugal are also a title candidate. It's more open than ever.

Karel Bruckner of the Czech Republic was wary of sticking his

"I wouldn't plump for a favourite but France, Italy and Portugal have a good chance.

Sweden's joint coaches of Lars Lagerback and Tommy Soderberg were both in solid agreement, however, in chorusing simply:

EURO 2004 BRIEFS

Eriksson has said he would be

REUTERS, Santo Tirso

France defender Lilian Thuram may play the role he has always wanted as he looks forward to winning his 100th cap on Sunday against England. "We don't know anything yet.

But my idea is that I'm going to play in central defence," Thuram said 'It's good. The Juventus player, who was first asked to play right back by France coach Aime Jacquet and kept there by Roger Lemerre, has recently played in the sweeper position he has long coveted. "I've been asking for it for about ten years," said the 32-year-old.

"And I was heard eventually. The central defence has always been my favourite position on the field. "But I never complained about

play at the international level for so TERRYALL BUT OUT anything. I consider myself lucky to still be here, to have been able to John Terry's chances of playing for England in the Euro 2004 opener against France on Sunday appeared to have disappeared on Friday after the Chelsea centreback missed a deadline to return to full training. Terry, 23, only took part in the first 20 minutes of England's hourlong workout before leaving his teammates to continue rehabilitation work on his injured hamstring. England coach Sven Goran Eriksson said he would be highly unlikely to pick Terry unless he was back in full training on Friday 48 hours ahead of the match in the Stadium of Light. reluctant to risk Terry aggravating the injury and missing the other two group games against Switzerland and Croatia. His place is likely to go to Jamie

Carragher or Ledley King

CROATIATO MISS PLETIKOSA

REUTERS, Zagreb

Croatian first choice goalkeeper Stipe Pletikosa will miss the Euro 2004 games against Switzerland and France due to a leg muscle injury, Croatian media reported on

STIPE PLETIKOSA

Friday

Pletikosa underwent a medical check-up in a Lisbon hospital on Thursday evening which showed that he suffered a muscle rupture in his right leg during a training session. The injury may lead to his missing the whole tournament.

"A muscle is not strained, it is a rupture," the Croatian team spokesman Goran Rotim told the lutarnji list daily.

Tomislav Butina is Pletikosa's most likely replacement.

VAN DER SAR DOUBTFUL

AFP, Albufeira

Dutch goalkeeper Edwin van der Sar is a doubt for the Netherlands opening Euro 2004 match against Germany on Tuesday after injuring his finger in training.

Fulham custodian Van der Sar, 33, was forced to pull out of training here Friday after damaging a finger in his right hand.

Better news for the 1988 champions came in the form of AC Milan midfielder Clarence Seedorf who participated in training for the first ime since sustaining a thigh injury.

ABLOW FOR GROENKJAER AND DENMARK

AFP, Copenhagen

Denmark's Euro 2004 preparations have been badly hit with the news that the mother of Chelsea star Jesper Groenkjaer has died of can-

The 26-year-old winger had stayed behind in Denmark to be at her side as she fought the illness, but she died on Thursday according to the Danish press. Team manager Morten Olsen had been fully supportive of Gronkjaer's decision not to travel Portugal ahead of their opening game against Italy on Monday in iuimaraes. The player's immediate plans for the rest of the tournament were not known, but he was not expected to

with the rest of the Danish squad to be named in the side to take on the "There are things more important in life than football, especially ## the family," Olsen said.

Life in the Swedish lane

REUTERS, Estoril

When Freddie Ljungberg is with Arsenal, he travels first class and stays in the best hotels When the 27-year-old joins up back-packers in economy. This dip in status does not bother Ljungberg. One reason may be his patriotism, another could be that when Sweden are on tour he can enjoy the easy-going lifestyle for which his nation is world famous.

At Sweden's Euro 2004 training camp in the resort town of Estoril the with Sweden, he receives a minimal match fee and travels among the barbecue back home with fans and players mingling. Wives and girlfriends of the 23man squad are being allowed to stay with their men for a week during the

At dinner on Wednesday evening, tinue to fear fan violence will mar the team had something to celebrate when defender Erik Wahlstedt rang from Sweden to announce the birth of his daughter. He had been allowed to stay at home to enjoy the thrill of fatherhood first hand. "We let them do what they want because they are experienced professional sportsmen and we trust them, of course," said the squad's media officer Jonas Nystedt. "It is the Swedishway.'

> Twice this year, at squad gatherings for warm-up games, the players held open discussions with the management to decide how they would prepare for this tournament. "Yes, it is a kind of democracy in to discuss the schedule, the organisation, the planning and everything. It isveryopen. Unusually Sweden has two coaches -- Lars Lagerback and Tommy Soderberg who have been together since 1998. Lagerbeck will action." Nystedt said. "They wanted take sole charge when his partner retires after the tournament. "But it is not really a democracy here - we don't hold elections and there is no voting. And the final decisions on team selections are always taken by the coaching staff, Lagerbacksaid.

In the centenary year of the Swedish Football Association, the coaching duo hope to reach the final and mark their 90th international match in charge in style. Third place at the 1994 World the Euro 1992 finals, remain the landmarks to beat. However, even if they achieve their goal, they will not be paid anything extra. "We are on set salaries so we don't Sweden's players will receive bonus payments but he did not know how big they were. "They are keeping that among themselves," he said.

The budget for Sweden's campaign at Euro 2004, bonuses included, is calculated at 36,000

euros per day. This pays for all travel

Swedish football, from youth teams through the clubs to the national team, is effectively bank-rolled by the country's biggest sports sponsor, the national lottery Svenska Spel which contributes about eight illion euros annually Nystedt said 75 per cent of this goes to the clubs and only 15 per cent to the national team. "It is more expensive here than it was in Japan," he said. The Swedes base is a five-star golf resort hotel.

Johansson not

European football chief Lennart

Johansson refused to be drawn

Friday on just how badly English fans would need to behave to get

England expelled from Euro 2004.

effectively on a yellow card after trouble at previous tournaments and in the run up to Portugal.

Sven-Goran Eriksson's team are Sweden's success in qualifying for Euro 2004 resulted in the payment of a bonus of 100,000 Swedish crowns (about 9,000 Euros) for the entire worried

AFP, Oporto

Cup, and a semifinal appearance at get any bonus payments," said Lagerback. "But, of course, we want to be successful and to win. That is why we have planned ahead and made our bookings all the way through to July. "The final is on July 4.

> "I had to take the initiative that if anything happened like before when it got so serious we were afraid it might be life threatening the England team would have to go home," the UEFA boss said on the eve of the competition.

access 41 "Tues 9 Prune 12 Scandi-Morrie" navian author 13 Medley 14 A matte of pride 15 Where make a deposit 18 Midsize sofa 19 Aromatic compound 21 The guy 22 Ersatz chocolate 24 Liza's mom 27 McBride of "Boston 28 Movie about a pig standstill

33 Bottom

squad

36 Work with

34 Shea

Mitch 4 Like the Cheshire cable connec-Cat's grin tions 5 Judicia 47 Actress Thompson 6 In the 48 It takes a style of lot of fraction change 35 "No 51 Lavatory 8 Texas Hold 'em 52 Buffalo's 9 Artsy water 53 The King's region on followers? the Seine 54 Send out 10 Leer 11 Serve tea invitations 16 Scottish 20 Weep part Solution time: 25 mins. 45 Oďds 32 Blazed a mates 46 Revue trail days With 2 Land in purpose the water truck 3 Oodles 26 Collection mation 27 Movie seats' (Abbr.) 37 Weather 39 Drive 42 Bottom of the barrel? 43 Shake septet 44 Bohr or Borge,

By Eugene Sheffer

22 Spassky's

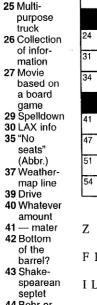

game 23 Staffer

24 Predica

56 Take a

DOWN

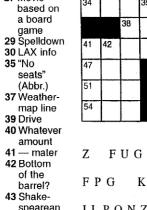

1 Passes

segmen player's

50 Card-

KZII-YSPMBLUM ILPQNZFM, LZNNUM NPLR FUII KBUFIQUS Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHEN YOU TAKE A LONG WALK THROUGH MUDDY TERRAIN, YOU

MIGHT SAY IT'S A DIRTY TREK Today's Cryptoquip Clue: F equals N The Cryptoguip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

IRZSY LRUUIU

0 44 5 Total: (For 2 wkts in 23 overs) 99

To bat: Thorpe, Flintoff, Jones, Giles, Hoggard, Harmison, reach the Champions League final last season, said on Thursday that he will be staying with Real Madrid "From July 16, I will be back at

Spanish international striker Fernando Morientes, who went on loan to Monaco and helped them will close early on match days.