

NOTHING STOPS THEM

THE city experienced a heavy rain yesterday just four days to the month of Ashar that seriously disrupted traffic movement, as streets were flooded with overflowing sewerage waters. A three-hour downpour with half an hour break in the capital choked up sewerage lines especially in the low-lying areas.

Rain crippled city life partially but it could not put a stop. Street children known as Tokai went out of their homes in search of throwaway bottles and papers, rickshaw pullers and CNG drivers hit the streets to make their living. The heavy rain could not confine city dwellers to their homes.
