Madonna set to make a tell all movie

Pop diva Madonna will have a bevy of beauties playing the roles of supermodels Naomi Campbell, Linda Evangelista, Cindy Crawford and Christy Turlington in her new movie. The enterprising singer's labels Maverick Films has bought the film rights of Michael Gross's book Model, which revealed the behind-the-curtains life of the fashion world. The movie is slated for a 2005 release.

A 'dare bare' performance

Kareena Kapoor's kiss in Dev has raised many eyebrows and the most prominent one was from Mallika Sherawat. The verbal spat between the two arose when, vindicating her dare bare performance, Mallika took refuge in Raj Kapoor's way of movie making, which oozed sexuality. She's reportedly said that as Raj Kapoor films oozed only sexuality and the heroine dared to bare, Bebo was keeping the RK banner flying. Bebo was not amused and said that while she found Mallika's performance in Murder commendable 'there was too much over-exposure. 'Mallika doesn't realise what she is talking about. Raj Kapoor always presented a woman gracefully and tastefully. She is talking about a legend. By saying such things, she has made a laughing stock of herself,' said Kareena. Post Dev, Mallika is up in arms again and raising questions on Kareena's double standards on exposure. But Bebo, as we know her, is hardly interested in lending any ear to Mallika's hue and cry.

From Milan to Berlin

Alpana's painting exhibits travel afar

CULTURAL CORRESPONDENT

MURSHIDA Arzu Alpana, the well-acclaimed and internationally renowned Bangladeshi artist, held two painting exhibitions in Italy and Germany recently. The exhibition, titled 'InterKultur Art' at Gallery Bianca Maria Rizzi, in Milan, Italy, began from June 17 and will run till July 6. A total of Alpana's 20 paintings are on display. Furthermore, the solo exhibition of her eight paintings, titled 'All Nations Festival Forum' at the Bangladesh Embassy in Berlin, Germany was inaugurated on June 19 along with her Classical Music Concert at 'Potsdamer Platz Arkaden' which is the most important venue in Berlin for great Italian multifaceted artist Giorgio Gaber). In addition, another exhibition of Alpana has been running in Milan since May 13. Under the title Giorgio Gaber (drawn from the multicultural happenings. About 28 Embassies of various countries took part in the programme. In addition, another exhibition of Alpana has been running in Milan since May 13. Under the title Giorgio Gaber (drawn from the Her painting, Sisters World of Music, received the best international artist award for the best work in oil by Royal Overseas League Arts (ROSL Arts) of London in 1992 and Roderick Lakin, director of the ROSL Arts, praised her 'strong sense of movement and colour'. This comment was drawn during her 'Digital Heads' exhibition. She took part in several national and international exhibitions in many famous galleries. She got the honour of being the first Bangladeshi artist to display her paintings in the gallery of Parliament in Berlin in 2003. Even her paintings have been exhibited with some of the living celebrity artists like Günther Förg, Nan Goldin, Karl Lagafeld, George Baselitz, AR Penk and many others. Her paintings have been collected by Bangladesh National Museum, ROSL House of London, Herbert kind Gallery & Museum of UK, Schering Art Association Berlin and GTZ Eschborn. 'Alpana's decision to live in Germany has encouraged her to develop a highly idiosyncratic blend of Asian and European influences,' says one art critic. And in this fascinating mixture, lies Alpana's contribution to the world of art. Her involvement with classical music add extra nuance to her painting and operate on both sensual and intellectual levels.

REVIEW

Shadhucharan: A satire on societal follies

AS part of the drama festival arranged by BGT, Pratikand, a theatrical group staged its popular play Shadhucharan on June 23 at the Experimental Theatre Stage. Playwright Chandan Sen in his tragedy Shadhucharan takes a satirical look at the follies of the upper class. The protagonist of his play, Shadhucharan, is a thief who lives in a slum. His wife Behula is a call girl. Through the story of the couple, the playwright seeks to uncover the evil tendencies of the people of the upper class. At a certain stage in the play, Shadhucharan gets a chance to bargain with the policemen when they seek help from him to find some illegal documents of a bureaucrat. In exchange of those documents, the thief demands a reception from the police in front of public. However, the policemen agree with the deal. At the reception, Shadhucharan cheats the police by withholding the documents. Chanan Sen has used the dialect of the downtrodden people of Kolkata in Shadhucharan. This dialect does not go with the places mentioned in the play like Dhanmandi, Kamapur or other parts of Dhaka. That is the major flaw of the play. Director Ratan Saha has successfully created the atmosphere of the slum people through his realistic approach. However, the reception scene needed more work. Asit Das has tried to make a realistic slum on the stage. Yet there is room for improvement in the set design. Shabuj Bhuiyan's light design is simple. His symbolic colour effect is appreciable in the scene when Shadhucharan narrates his sufferings to his wife Behula. Mojibur as Thakur Da performed well. Other performers need to improve their histrionic ability.

'The play Hat Hadai has an epic quality' --Selim Al Deen

ONE of the leading playwrights of the country, Selim Al Deen is the dramatist of the play Hat Hadai, which is to be staged today at the Experimental Theatre Stage. Selim said, 'The popular play Hat Hadai is the pen picture of the inhabitants of the alluvial land situated in the southern part of the country. The protagonist of the play Anar Bhandari is widely travelled. In fact, I have tried to portray Anar Bhandari as an ocean while all the other characters of the play are the waves related to his life. The play has an epic quality.' 'I think it represents the strength of Bangla theatre. The original script of the play is written to be staged for a five to six hour play. As the audience of Bangladesh is habituated to enjoy plays less than three hours, we have edited the play to suit the audience. Nasiruddin Yousuff, the director of the play, has successfully done the editing with my help,' Selim added. Selim further said, 'In Bangladesh, I think only Dhaka Theatre has the potential to stage a play having so many characters to represent a community.'
